$7-MILLION VOTE

Special Election On School Bond Issue Is Tuesday

Ouachita Parish property owners will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a $7 million bond issue for improvements and expansion of Parish school facilities.

If the issue passes, improvements are scheduled in all 10 wards on both white and Negro schools

In a joint statement issued yesterday urging passage of the bond issue, parish board president C. G. Wall Jr. and chairman of the building committee, George Rorex, noted that growth in the schools has been rapid — from 500 to 750 more students each year, averaging 600 new students in the past 5 years.

"This is equivalent to one large elementary school each year," they said.

"With the rapid growth of the parish the School Board records indicate that we have been growing on a basis from 500 to 750 students each year with an average of 600 students per year within the past 5 years. This is equivalent to one large elementary school each year. The Board has known for some time that our facilities are inadequate and at the first meeting of the Board in January two committees were appointed. The building committee consisting of 8 members and the ground and driveways committee consisting of 6 members. These two committees immediately started to visit each school in the Ouachita Parish System and study the needs of each based on the enrollment and present conditions and tried to project the growth of the immediate needs for the future. It was found that our system at the present time was over crowded in many areas and out of 35 schools only 3 had any available space for expansion.

"The State Board of Education regulations are that a school can not be approved if they have an enrollment of more than 40 students in an elementary classroom. In some cases this was exceeded.

"After the study had been made by the local board consisting of

Milk Trucks Defy Union In New York

Angry Teamster Says Strike May Widen In Scope

NEW YORK (AP) — Trucks driven by upstate dairy farmers rolled into this milk-starved city Saturday and raised a threat that a milk strike here would spread through the state.

The president of the state Teamsters Council criticized the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative for sending four trucks with 15,000 packaged quarts to Staten Island for public sale.

ISSUES WARNING

"If they (Eastern) keep inciting trouble, they may have the whole State of New York tied up," the council president, Rocco DePerno, said in Utica.

No incidents were reported, however.

There was no protest concerning wholesale shipment of milk to a Bronx plant for processing and distribution solely to hospitals, schools and other institutions.

Sixty employes at the plant began the pasteurization and bottling process under a special agreement between Mayor Robert F. Wagner and negotiators for striking Teamsters Union locals.

The 12-day strike has cut off the normal daily supply of eight million quarts to 10 million residents of New York City and Long Island.

Negotiations toward a settlement were stalemated on the question of overtime pay. The union seeks time clocks for its drivers. The management objects on the ground this would lead to slowdowns and excessive overtime

U.N. Session Is Asked On Congo Strife

Security Council Meeting Likely To Be Scheduled

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Strife in the Congo became the first big issue for the United Nations' new acting secretary-general, U Thant of Burma, Saturday as the case was carried to the Security Council.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, president of the council this month, called on U Thant to discuss a new request he had for a council meeting on the Congo situation. They talked for half an hour in the secretary-general's 38th-floor office.

MEET EXPECTED

The request reached Zorin late Friday night in a letter from Ethiopian, Nigerian and Sudanese delegates. They asked him to convene the 11-nation council "to consider the situation prevailing in the province of Katanga, Republic of Congo (Leopoldville), caused by the lawless acts of mercenaries." He was expected to call a meeting for Monday or Tuesday.

Ambassadors Tesfaye Gebre-Egzy of Ethiopia, Muhammad Ngileruma of Nigeria and Omar Abdel Hamid Adeel of Sudan did not say, in their letter to Zorin, what kind of resolution they wanted the council to pass.

But Emperor Haile Selassie had laid down Ethiopia's position in a cable he sent Wednesday to Mongi Slim of Tunisia, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

The emperor said Congolese central government forces "and the Katanga mercenaries have clashed in combat." He called the situation highly critical.

The Security Council, he said, must act promptly to end hostilities and "to ensure the integration of Katanga into the Congolese nation."

"Clear and unequivocal directives must be given" to the U.N. force in the Congo, he added, and the council must call for U.N. pressure on "those colonialist na-

Congolese Retreating In Katanga

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo's central government conceded Saturday its invading forces had been beaten in northern Katanga and were in full retreat after suffering heavy losses near the frontier.

A government spokesman said the setback in the drive to bring secessionist Katanga under the rule of Leopoldville came Friday at the town of Kaniama, 20 miles inside the province. He insisted, however, the troops were pulling back only to await reinforcements.

He pictured Gen. Joseph Mobutu's troops as withdrawing toward neighboring Kasai Province. But press reports from Kaniama said the government soldiers already had been driven entirely from Katanga.

The Katanga government, reporting the victory, also claimed it had inflicted heavy casualties on the invaders in severe fighting. But diplomats versed in Congo affairs doubted if the fighting actually amounted to much.

Storm Inga Building In Gulf Area

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tropical storm Inga, brewing in the southwest Gulf of Mexico, started moving its 55 m.p.h. winds slowly to the north-northwest Saturday night.

The New Orleans weather bureau said the small windstorm was currently not an immediate threat to any land area. At present, conditions were not favorable for the storm to grow in intensification.

The bureau said little information had been received since reconnaissance aircraft flew into it late Saturday afternoon.

At 10 p.m. the center was estimated near latitude 20.8 and longitude 94.6 or about 170 miles northeast of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Highest winds were estimated at 55 m.p.h. near the eye and gales extended about 75 miles from the center, the weather bureau said.

The bureau said indications were Inga should continue sweeping north northwest at a very slow rate for the next 12 to 24 hours.

The next advisory was to be issued at 4 a.m. Sunday.

EXCEEDS PREDICTIONS

New U.S. Carrier Is Speediest Ever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy officials disclosed Saturday the huge nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise reached destroyer speed in her first sea trials.

Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, said the 85,000-ton Enterprise, powered by eight atomic reactor engines, "exceeded by far" the predictions of the ship's designers.

"The ship has gone faster than any other carrier; it's gone in excess of 40 miles an hour in trial conditions," the admiral added in response to questions by a newsman.

Anderson has received detailed reports from Vice Adm. Hyman C. Rickover, the nuclear propulsion expert, Rear Adm. Ralph K. James, chief of the Bureau of Ships, and others who rode the Enterprise during trials of the world's first atomic carrier.

Navy officials were delighted with the demonstration, although Rickover would go no further than to say the ship exceeded designed power specifications.

Anderson said every indication is that the designers and builders of this ship had "hit the jackpot."

He noted that in addition to her atomic propulsion system, the Enterprise has a quantity of other new equipment and it is possible that adjustments of this gear might bring some early "teething troubles," encountered in most new ships as they go through the shakedown phase.

The estimated cost of the Enterprise is $444 million. The cost of a conventional carrier, under present conditions, is about $100 million less than for a nuclear-engined ship.

TEXAS GOP CONCEDES

Gonzalez Wins Congress Race

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Liberal Democrat Henry B. Gonzalez, backed by President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, defeated a conservative Republican in San Antonio's congressional election Saturday night.

The polls closed at 7 p.m.

The final vote, with all 170 precincts complete, gave Gonzalez 52,836 to 42,486 for Goode.

Goode conceded the race half an hour after veteran GOP State Committeeman Joe Sheldon said that Gonzalez had won.

Vice President Johnson spent the past three days here campaigning for Gonzalez, who was endorsed by President Kennedy by letter last month.

Former President Eisenhower also entered the campaign. He arrived Sunday and spent Monday touring the city in behalf of Goode.

Gonzalez, 45, moved into the lead as soon as returns began coming in from the precincts. The absentee vote went to Goode, 38, by a 2,727-1,327 margin.

Girl Slain In Mistake By Hunter

POWNAL, Maine (AP) — A hunter who thought 10-year-old Brenda G. Broad of Portland was being kidnaped by two men fired a shotgun blast at their car Saturday, killing the girl, police said.

Authorities said Harold K. Lapierre Jr., 25, of Freeport, told them he was returning from a hunting trip when he saw the men with the child. The two men with Brenda were Paul D. Levesque of Pownal and his father, William with whom the girl, a state ward, was boarding.

Lapierre gave this account of the shooting to police: "I thought they were trying to kidnap her or attack her. The man was dragging her into the car. She was screaming and yelling and fighting.

"I drove in front of the parked car, got out and yelled at the man. I asked him what he was doing. Then the car backed up and drove around my car which was blocking the road.

"I ran over, took out my shotgun, loaded one shot and fired at the car as it was driving away. I tried to aim for the tires, but I guess I aimed to high."

The shotgun blast blew out the rear window and struck the girl in the head, police said.

Troops War On Looters In Honduras

British Soldiers Receive 'Shoot To Kill' Orders

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP)—British soldiers patrolled this storm-struck city Saturday with orders to shoot to kill to prevent the looting of food. The death toll from Hurricane Hattie climbed to 204.

WARNS LOOTERS

The post office opened on a partial basis, but all business places were out of operation. The waters that swamped this capital city under the force of Hattie's powerful winds still stood in many streets. Other streets were seas of mud.

The looting that followed Hattie's devastation appeared under control. But Gov. Sir Colin Thornley announced that "anyone who attempts to take food illegally will be shot dead" by the British soldiers brought in from Jamaica to enforce martial law.

The death toll was boosted by the discovery of 36 bodies in the smashed British colonial adminis-

SALVATION ARMY

Cornerstone Slated For New Building

Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new $115,000 Salvation Army building will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the new facility adjoining old quarters on Harrison Street, according to Capt. W. E. Grantham, commander of the local unit.

Col. Ernest Pickering, field secretary, will lay the corner stone assisted by Brigadier Harry Ward, divisional commander for Arkansas and Louisiana. Vernon McCoy, chairman of the local Salvation Army advisory board will preside over the event.

Completion of the new building is expected sometime before the end of this year. Dedication of the building is tentatively scheduled for December 16.

Contractor for the building is C. C. Bassett general contractor. His bid on the job was accepted over eight other bidders. The original bid was for a cost of $91,233, tied to a 150 calender days completion stipulation.

Building funds for the Salvation Army installation were collected over a period of three years. During this time both cash funds and pledges were solicited by various divisions of the drive.

Architects for the project are Johns and Neel.

Funds were collected during the spring of this year. Mrs. Hattie Strauss served as the chairman of the women's gift division, while John Rudisill acted as chairman for the advance memorial gifts division; the special gifts division was headed by F. C. McConnell and Don Weil was chairman of the general gifts division.

Local advisory board members, leaders of the local Salvation Army, as well as some from higher divisions, and the general public are invited to attend the ceremonies Sunday.

A special attraction of the event will be a tour of the incompleted facilities of the new building. This is to be held, according to Salvation Army officials, in order to allow the public to inspect the progress being made.

former President Harry S. Truman and other well-known persons and had attempted to influence the voting of his troops and their families in the 1950 congressional elections.

The Army received Walker's formal resignation Friday. After a routine check to make sure the general's record met all the requirements for resignation, it issued a terse statement.

"The Department of the Army announced today that the resignation of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has been accepted Nov. 4."

A spokesman said Walker had asked that his resignation become effective "as soon as possible."

By resigning, Walker gave up more than $12,000 yearly which he would have been entitled to if he had retired. He also gave up such benefits as Army medical care and commissary privileges.

In a statement he sent to a Senate armed services subcommittee, he said he could not accept retirement with its pay and other benefits because "to do so would be a compromise with my principle."

Walker is expected to be a witness at hearings starting later this month on charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and others that there has been a pattern of muzzling of military men who seek to speak out against communism.

Walker voiced the same complaint in his statement to the subcommittee and said he will "find other means of serving my country in the time of her great need."

Walker, 51, is a native of Texas and has been visiting his mother in San Antonio. Prior to his resignation, he had been assigned to a staff position at Army headquarters in the Pacific, but had not yet reported there.

Nasser Plans Broad Changes In Government

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser Saturday night outlined plans for broad changes in his government, including elected local councils and a national congress to rewrite the constitution.

The move obviously was taken to head off criticism stemming from last summer's sweeping measures of nationalization—Nasser calls it "Arab socialism"—and September's Syrian revolt in which Egypt lost its partner in the United Arab Republic.

Nasser laid down a complex timetable for the new electoral system. He said a preparatory committee will meet in a month to lay the groundwork for an elected "national congress of popular forces" to meet in January.

This would be followed by elections for the local assemblies that would form the base for a constitutional congress later.

Nasser's statement followed a week of Cabinet sessions devoted to his goal of reorganizing government machinery and purging reactionary elements.

Nasser said he would present to the opening session of Congress a report presenting the goals "in the light of experiences and revolutionary aims."

tions which continue to support the Katanga secession."

U Thant would be responsible for interpreting and carrying out any new resolution the council might adopt.

The present U.N. position, as laid down in past resolutions, is in favor of a unified Congo — in other words, against Katanga's secession. But there is no special directive authorizing the U.N. force to use arms to end the secession.

The official explanation of the inconclusive military action the force took against Katanga in September was that it aimed to rid the province of foreign mercenaries and stop propaganda inciting to civil war.

A Security Council resolution of last Feb. 21 urges that measures be taken to prevent civil war in the Congo and to get all foreign mercenaries and political advisers out of that country.

The Congolese central government sent troops into Katanga last week in a police action to end the secession. But a Leopoldville government spokesman conceded Saturday they had been driven back, and military sources inside Katanga said the Katangan air force had "won this war."

A U.N. report from the Congo published Friday said that unless Katanga grounded its European-piloted military planes, the U.N. force would shoot them down.

In the report, Sture Linner of Sweden, chief of U.N. Congo operations, also warned that the force might act again to oust the mercenaries from Katanga. He tabbed Belgium and France as uncooperative in getting rid of Katanga mercenaries from those countries.

Zorin was U Thant's first caller as the new acting secretary-general spent his first day in his office. The Burmese career diplomat, 52, was chosen by unanimous vote of the Security Council and the 103-nation General Assembly Friday to serve till April 10, 1963, in the unexpired term of the late Dag Hammarskjold.

Stann's Creek, a city of 7,000, and Belize were hardest hit by the hurricane.

the Building Committee and the Grounds and Driveways Committee the board was not entirely satisfied with the findings so they requested a committee from the State Department of Education consisting of the following: Mr. C. E. Holly, Director of School Housing, Mr. C. B. Coney, Director of School Transportation, Mr. J. B. Robertson, Assistant Superintendent in charge of the Division of Elementary and Secondary Education, Mr. L. L. Kilgore, Director of Negro Education and Mr. Curtis Jacobs, Assistant Director of School Facilities Survey. This committee visited each of our 35 schools and made a study of the enrollment of each school for the past 5 years and projected the enrollment for the next 5 years and surveyed the growth of the community in which the schools are located and made their final report and recommendations.

After studying the report of the State Committee and reviewing the findings of the board on their inspections and its study of the immediate needs to bring our system to a position as it should be today and the projected growth for the next five years we would need $7,000,000.00.

After due consideration and study by the Building Committee it was their thinking that the parish system could not spend $7,000,000.00 immediately to bring our system up to the required standards. That if we decided to do so we would be overloading the local contractors to the point that we would not be in a position to obtain the most satisfactory bids. Therefore, it was decided that based on previous inspections and survey reports that we would endeavor to correct the most critical needs first. Based on this we made estimates of the critical needs of each school and new schools that would be necessary to construct to elevate the over crowded conditions and bring our system into a position to where it should be now to meet standard requirements. In doing this we arrived at the figure of $4,000,000.00 which amount if the voters approve the issue Tuesday, November 7, we propose to sell the early part of 1962. This in our opinion would be approximately 5 mills based on the present assessed valuation and experience of past issues.

"If this bond issue is approved by the voters then the millage would be placed on the assessment rolls for that portion of the issue that is sold. Based on the present assessed valuation in the parish and if the parish continues to grow in the next 5 years as it has in the past 5 years and the retirement of old issues there should be a reduction of the millage rate of approximately 1 mill each year.

Under the present bond issues that are outstanding, the present millage rate is 12 mills and it has been determined by the board that this will be reduced by 1 mill in 1962 with an additional 5 mills for the new bonds that are intended to be sold. This would make a total of 16 mills to retire the indebtedness of the school board.

"Although the school system has needs in practically all of our schools the most critical needs are in our negro schools. We have always in the past enjoyed a favorable relationship with the negroes and it is the thinking of the Board that we should take immediate steps to keep this favorable position by providing adequate facilities for these children. We feel that in not doing this we would be neglecting our duty as school board members.

"The West Monroe High School was constructed to accommodate 1500 students and the present enrollment is over 1600 and the Ouachita Parish High School was constructed to accommodate 1200 students and the present enrollment exceeds 1200 students. Based on these figures it is obvious with the junior high school enrollments which are already over crowded, will place the high schools in an intolerable position within the next 3 years.

"In the 1951-52 school session the Ouachita Parish High School served the entire parish with the exception of Calhoun. The enrollment of the Ouachita Parish High School then located on South Grand Street was approximately 1600 students. The enrollment of the West Monroe High School and Ouachita Parish High School now exceeds 2800 students.

"The School Board did have an operating deficit for the 1960-61 session and some of the causes for this was the necessity of employing additional teachers, additional teaching materials, the increased enrollment and opening of the new Sterlington High School this year. The State formula so works that in many cases the local board must carry all these expenses for the first year of operation. However, they get reimbursement from the State the following year. Other causes of the deficit is the cut back of State funds which had previously been allocated to the Parish School Boards. The main cause of the operating deficit is the increasing enrollment.

"The School Board realized that we operated on a deficit during the past year and we are not happy about it and are taking steps to correct this. The school board is instructing all school officials to economize in all phases of school operations and in many instances the board itself has taken steps to economize.

"If the bond issue is approved by the voters the thinking of the board is that the first phase of priority projects would be completed in 1962-63-64 and the remaining $3,000,000.00 would not be sold before 1965 or 1966. The Board feels that this is the most economical way of giving the tax payers the most for their tax dollars.

"It has been the thinking of the Board that we should acquaint the people with the needs that exist but not try to sell the people anything. Following this line of thought our school officials have met with PTA groups, civic groups and statements have been made to the news media endeavoring to acquaint the people of the urgent need for this progress.

"The Ouachita Parish School Board consists of 18 elected school board members representing all 10 wards in Ouachita Parish. These members represent a cross section of the population and economy of this parish. These members are elected for a term of 6 years and 1-3 elected every 2 years which always leaves at least 2-3 of the members with school board experience. Due to the legal organization of the board the over all thinking of the board would not change within the next 6 years.

"We hope that this explains to the voters the thinking and the plans of the Board. We sincerely urge the support of all the qualified voters of Ouachita Parish School District No. 1."

the metropolitan area, struck Oct. 24. Two other locals, 602 and 607, joined in the walkout the next day. Local 680, covering northern New Jersey, has stayed on the job on a day-to-day basis during the negotiations.

Police radio cars and motorcycle units were posted at the city's northern line as a precaution for the milk arriving for the Bronx plant but the police did not find it necessary to provide actual escorts for the trucks.

An unknown quanity of milk was arriving at stores, which made their own arrangements for bringing it in from dairy areas.

Wagner said Friday that for this purpose the city Board of Health had approved milk processed at 22 plants in the five-state area of upstate New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland. He offered to supply police protection if needed to bring the milk in.

The Teamsters sought a $7-a-week across the board pay increase. The industry has offered an $9.10 package, spread over two years.

French Join In Checking Berlin Cars

BERLIN (AP) — "Checkpoint Charlie," the Friedrichstrasse crossing point for foreign cars, Saturday took on more of the air of an international frontier post on the Little Iron Curtain between East and West Berlin.

French gendarmes made their first appearance at the checkpoint. They will back up American troops and West Berlin police for several hours a day, a U.S. spokesman said. One gendarme said he was there to help French personnel — not to stop anyone going across.

West Berlin police Saturday began checking the identity of all civilian passengers in cars with foreign license plates coming from East Berlin. They began stopping East Berlin and East German cars with diplomatic license plates, often used by Soviet citizens in civlian clothes, last Wednesday.

Only uniformed soldiers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union can cross without showing some identification.

On the Communist side of the line, green-uniformed people's police also insist on checking everyone in civilian clothes.

This regulation started trouble at Friedrichstrasse two weeks ago. U.S. civilian officials refused to have anything to do with the Vopos, as Berliners call them, and armed U.S. escorts were used—backed by tanks. Soviet tanks then were called up and the tanks confronted each other for 16 tense hours.

Since Soviet tanks withdrew a week ago, there has been little sign of Soviet troops on the border, but the tanks still are stationed in the ruins of an East Berlin palace, a few hundred yards from the Friedrichstrasse. American tanks also were camped near the checkpoint.

Industry Hit Severe Blow By Hurricane

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP) — Hurricane Hattie dealt British Honduras industry a knockout blow. It will take many years to recover.

The hardwood industry, for which the country is widely known, is reeling. An aerial survey indicated that 70 per cent of the remaining maghogany trees were blown over. The supply had been depleted in recent years. And it takes a century to grow a mahogany.

The promising citrus industry is ruined. The blow came in the middle of the first paying crop harvest under a program begun five years ago.

A grapefruit juice plant recently opened was wrecked by Hattie. Before the blow came, the factory had shipped 100,000 cases of juice to the United States.

The citrus groves were leveled. It doesn't take too much to uproot a five-year-old tree, and Hattie had power to spare.

The sugar crop was ruined, but next year there can be another. The sugar mill was not badly damaged.

An experimental cotton industry was unaffected. Cotton is being grown in an area 65 miles north of Belize, outside the hurricane death belt.

A newly developed shrimp industry may be revived and even expanded soon. A frozen shrimp plant was badly damaged, but can be repaired. The week before Hattie struck, the plant sent 80 tons of shrimp to Miami in two boatloads.

Oil rigs drilling in exploratory fields were damaged, and it will be at least three months before they can resume.

PLANS U.S. VISIT

Adenauer Slated For Re-Election

BONN, Germany (AP) — The re-election of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 85, was virtually assured Saturday and he announced plans to visit Washington as soon as he forms a new government.

The iron - willed chancellor's election to a fourth term became all but certain when his Christian Democrats in Parliament voted to accept a compromise agreement with Erich Mende's Free Democrats to form a coalition government. The smaller party, like its senior partner, is conservative.

The call was provisional because Gerstenmaier had not yet received a letter from President Heinrich Luebke nominating Adenauer. But this formality was expected by Monday.

Political observers felt sure Adenauer, West Germany's only chancellor in its 12-year history, would be chosen over the opposition of the Social Democrats and perhaps a few delegates from the new coalition partners.

The Christian Democrat-Free Democrat coalition command 309 votes in the Bundestag, or lower house, while the Social Democrats hold 190. The Christian Democrats have 242 seats.

Adenauer told newsmen he will go to Washington this month for talks with President Kennedy on the German and Berlin situation as soon as he has discussed international policy with his new Cabinet. He said it would take another eight days to complete the government.

Foreign Office officials said they believed Kennedy's invitation already was in the hands of U. S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling and would be handed over to Adenauer as soon as he is elected.

Adenauer had been quietly pressured by his allies to settle the coalition problem so West Germany could join in consultations on the next move in the Berlin crisis.

The acceptance by the Christian Democrats of the compromise ended a seven-week struggle. Adenauer's battle for his political life began Sept. 17 when his party lost its parliamentary majority in general elections. He had to seek outside help to stay in power.

The Free Democrats first refused to serve in a government under him. They backed down when he threatened to seek a coalition with the Socialist Democrats.

In the bargaining that followed, Adenauer promised he would not serve out the full four year term if elected. He told his party he would resign in time to give his successor a chance to familiarize himself with the office before the 1965 election. Neither the resignation date nor the name of a successor was mentioned.

Adenauer also apparently made other sizable concessions, mostly on domestic policy involving social and financial legislation.

He sacrificed Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano. Von Brentano resigned after the Free Democrats demanded his removal because they said he was an "incurable yes-man." Agreement was reported reached on putting Gerhard Schroeder, 51, present interior minister, into the job.

The Free Democrats will have five Cabinet posts, the Christian Democrats 17.

Laryngitis Hits Judy Garland

NEW YORK (AP) — An acute attack of laryngitis has forced Judy Garland to cancel a possible sell-out performance that was scheduled Saturday night in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium, Miss Garland's public relations representative said Saturday.

The public relations man, Arthur Jacobs, said the first signs of the illness appeared Thursday night. Friday morning a physician told Miss Garland she could not present the concert and advised her to remain in her Scarsdale, N.Y., home.

"She was very upset," he said, but "she can hardly talk."

He said Miss Garland, who sang in San Francisco seven weeks ago to a sell-out audience of 8,700, would reschedule the concert sometime in December.

Record Vote Expected In New Jersey

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's electorate goes to the polls Tuesday to elect a new governor with the nation looking over its shoulder.

It will be Democrat Richard J. Hughes and Republican James P. Mitchell on the ballot, trying for the executive chair held by Gov. Robert B. Meyner since his upset victory over the Republicans in 1953.

But behind Hughes and Mitchell is a campaign that found bigger and bigger national guns being used, until finally President Kennedy and former President Harry S. Truman came in to help Hughes in the last week.

Earlier, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had campaigned for Mitchell, who was secretary of labor in his Cabinet. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York also lent a hand for Mitchell. Several of Kennedy's Cabinet members campaigned for Hughes. U.S. senators and congressmen spoke for both candidates. Ted Kennedy appealed for Hughes and Henry Cabot Lodge aided Mitchell.

Mitchell's national reputation and Eisenhower associations gave him a big lead at the start, even the Democrats concede. Hughes, a former state judge, was relatively unknown.

But Hughes has staged a long campaign at a terrific daily pace. The Democratic pros say they have never seen a mark work so hard. Hughes' headquarters now contends he has overcome Mitchell's lead.

Mitchell's aides predict victory by 125,000 votes or more.

WALL ST. TO CAPE

Theory Of Re-Entry Tested With Flight

NEW YORK (UPI)—When the "Skyscraper" moon rocket Saturn was making its recent maiden test flight from Cape Canaveral, a manned space vehicle was theoretically making re-entry into the earth's atmosphere up on 91st Street in New York.

At Canaveral, where Saturn lifted its 460-ton weight 100 miles from the earth's surface, there was noise and fire.

On East 91st Street, the noise was about that of the average office and the fire came from an occasional cigarette in the hands of one or more of the 20 or so persons, most of them highly-trained mathematicians, technicians and scientists, who gather here daily.

This is the home of Project Cyclone which, according to its developers, the Reeves Instrument Corp., subsidiary of Dynamics Corp. of America, was the first analog computer laboratory.

After about 15 years' operation under a contract issued by the U.S. Navy, and work exclusively on problems offered by the armed forces and their contractors, the project was opened for commercial use last spring.

It was in pursuit of the answers sought by a major industrial company, which hopes to make a presentation to the National Aeronautics and Space Agency on a proposed moon flight, that the "re-entry" data was sought at Project Cyclone.

Use of the analog computer by science and industry is an oft-told story. Rather than merely recording, or producing mathematical information as do most of the commonly-used computers, the analog computer can measure.

A "model" of a missile can be fed into an analog computer by use of a series of mathematical equations in computer language. Other equations representing the forces, stresses, strains which the "model" would meet in operation, or the movements through which the prototype might go in use, likewise can be fed into the machine (or more properly, machines) and a performance score may be recorded.

R. F. Kelley, board chairman and president of DCA, emphasized the economic aspect of the analog computer system as used in Project Cyclone.

"It has served all branches of the armed services," he said, "and has saved U.S. taxpayers untold millions of dollars by 'pre-testing' missiles, gun-fire control systems, aircraft and other materiel before a penny has been spent on making prototypes and testing them, to say nothing of actual production."

Burglary Cleared With Arrests By Parish Sheriff

The burglary of a West Monroe business firm that involved better than $200 worth of goods and cash was cleared by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department Saturday with the arrest of three youths.

Sheriff Bailey Grant said Phillip Maxville Kerry, 20, of 122 Thomas Dr., West Monroe, is being held on a burglary count in the parish jail while two 16-year-old companions have been placed in the parish detention home in connection with the case.

The three gave statements admitting the Oct. 31 burglary of Monroe Sand and Gravel Company, Inc. on the Downings Pine Road in West Monroe. A cigarette machine valued at $125 was taken in the raid along with about $75 in cash which was in the machine and cigarettes in an unknown amount.

Deputies recovered a large amount of the cigarettes but the machine had been torn apart.

Kerry is being held without bond and the other two will be handled through juvenile court.

2 Negroes Hurt In Separate Friday Incidents

Two Negroes suffered injuries in a separate cutting and shooting Friday night in Monroe.

Police arrested and booked James Perry Wesley, Negro of 1810 Short Morton St., for aggravated battery with knife in connection with the incident.

Another Negro, William Perry Ramsey, 47 of 1004 Oak St., suffered gun shot wounds in the leg, hip and back in a shooting that took place shortly after 10 p.m. Friday at 1004 Oak St.

He told officers he was shot by his girl friend, Ophelia Johnson, Negro, 39, of 1004 Oak St. She was booked by Monroe police for aggravated battery with a gun, and discharging a firearm in the city limits.

Ramsey was treated for his wounds at E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital. Officers said he had been shot with a .12 gauge, Browning shotgun at a distance of about 60 feet.

POPULATION SHOWS GAIN

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The population of Australia exceeds 10.5 million, latest census figures show. The 1954 census counted 9 million.

CONGRESS CAMPAIGNS

GOP Will Seek Gains In South

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Republican strategits plan to make full use of President Kennedy's liberal policies as a weapon during the 1962 congressional campaigns in the South.

Lee Potter, commander-in-chief of "Operation Dixie," said Saturday the Republicans intend to saddle every Democratic candidate in the South with liberal policies of the President.

"Mr. Kennedy hasn't hurt our chances any," Potter said. "He has boosted our opportunites considerably."

Potter said that for many years Republican candidates were stymied during the campaign because they could not find any issues against the conservative-voting Democratic congressmen.

"The only thing they could do," Potter said, "was to tell the people 'I agree with my opponent but I can do it better.'"

"Now," Potter added, "the Democrats are talking conservatism but when they come here they vote different."

"Operation Dixie" encompasses the 11 states of the old Confederacy plus Kentucky. In the 1960 elections, the Republicans held on to their eight seats but made no gains.

The biggest gain since then was the election of Sen. John G. Tower in a special Texas senatorial election. This victory has imbued the Republicans with new-found optimism.

"The point is," Potter said, "that a year ago if I had said we would win a Senate seat from Texas I would have been laughed out of Washington."

Potter said the Republicans do not expect to blanket the South with candidates in 1962 but will use what he called the "rifle approach."

He said the Republicans will try to establish a beachhead in each southern state where no Republican has a House seat. The list is formidable—it includes such solid Democratic states as South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas.

In states where the Republicans already have a congressman, the GOP will attempt to establish an additional beachhead. These states are Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Texas and Tennessee.

Man Is Booked On Driving Charge

One man was booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages late Friday night in Monroe.

Chief James C. Kelly Jr. identified him as Sammie C. Baker, 24 of 4008 Halsell St., Monroe, who was booked for DWI and reckless driving. Baker was taken into custody at 11:45 p.m. in the 300 block of Renwick Street and released under a $435 bond.

Budget Slated For Approval At Baptist Meeting

Convention highlights include approval of a $2,655,000 budget for 1962 and approval of plans for celebrating the 150th anniversary of the founding of the first Baptist church in the state — the Calvary Baptist Church near Bayou Chicot.

Although the church near Bayou Chicot — formed Nov. 12, 1812 — is recognized as the oldest in the state, Louisiana Baptists had their beginning with the Half Moon Bluff Church in Washington Parish near the Bogue Chitto River on Oct. 12, 1812. However, it no longer exists.

School Bond Issue

TOO MUCH TOO SOON?

Next Tuesday, November 7, eligible voters will be asked to authorize a bond issue of $7,000,000 for new schools and equipment for the Ouachita Parish School System.

We agree with the school board that the parish should have adequate educational facilities, but we disagree with the procedure for the proposed plan.

As responsible community citizens, we have talked to a cross section of voters about the proposed school board issue and find there is a serious lack of knowledge about this important matter.

We understand that the school board itself sees a need for and plans to use only about half of the requested amount over the next three to five years. The remaining half would be used over a much longer period. Conditions beyond the school boards control, or foresight, could substantially change the needs presently contemplated for the future.

We therefore propose two major questions for the consideration of eligible voters.

1. DO YOU HAVE ENOUGH INFORMATION TO VOTE ON THE PROPOSED BOND ISSUE?

. . . What are the specific plans, and what is their impact?

. . . How are these determined?

. . . How does this long-range program compare with the latest thinking by experts in this specialized field of educational planning?

2. IS THE REQUEST FOR $7,000,000 JUSTIFIED?

. . . Is the amount requested more than is presently needed?

. . . Would approval of the present bond issue give a blank check to future members of the board who are not now a party to the present proposal?

. . . How can the parish afford to maintain a group of new schools during the next few years when the school system now has an operating deficit?

All of us are interested in providing adequate educational facilities for the use of our community. Any proposal in this direction, therefore, merits full information and understanding to be sure that the plan proposed meets best the future needs of our children.

The proposed bond issue represents the largest that has been presented to the voters in Ouachita Parish. Since there is such a general lack of information and understanding of this important issue, it seems logical that the eligible voters give consideration to deferring action on this matter by voting "No" on Tuesday. Then, after the whole situation has been thoroughly aired and studied by everyone concerned, a revised program could be presented to the voters at a later date.

We hope that the questions raised in this presentation will help you make a decision in the best interests of your children and community.

DEPRESSED AREA AID

Over 29 Million Put On U.S. List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite this year's record prosperity, one out of every six Americans lives in an area officially designated as depressed.

An Associated Press tabulation, based on 1960 census figures, showed Saturday that 16.4 per cent of the population lives in communities eligible for special federal aid because of low income levels or chronic and persistent unemployment.

This represents 29.5 million people in 47 states and more than 900 counties, out of a population of 179.3 million. The only states which have no designated depressed areas are Delaware, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Redevelopment areas, as they are known officially, are designated in line with criteria set forth in the May 1 law setting up the aid program. The designations are made by the Area Redevelopment Administration, an arm of the Commerce Department, in consultation with the Labor and Agriculture departments.

Congress has authorized more than $375 million in loans and grants to communities covered by the program. The funds are to finance the attraction of new job-creating businesses. The law requires that local areas more than match the federal funds.

Some businessmen and others in certain designated areas, notably in Texas and Colorado, have argued that their sections are not depressed and need no aid.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges told a recent news conference that "psychologically it is bad to be called a depressed area." Hodges added he believes many of the designated areas, particularly those in rural sections, could handle their economic problems without federal aid. He said he would like to see a lot of these pull out of the program.

Later, in a Chicago speech, Hodges said that "In many areas the existence of this program will mean the difference between success and failure of local efforts to provide critically needed, permanent job opportunities."

Originally, the aid program was to cover urban areas primarily. The legislation was amended to include more rural sections in an evident move to line up congressional votes.

The redevelopment agency has some latitude in designating areas eligible for aid, though the law is quite specific in covering most situations. Agency officials contend they have designated fewer areas than the law would allow.

According to measurements based on population, West Virginia is the most economically depressed state with 88.2 per cent of its citizens in designated communities. Rhode Island ranks next with 86.2 per cent, followed by: Alaska, 77.5 per cent; Michigan, 65; Mississippi 50.5; Kentucky, 45.5; Pennsylvania, 43.9; New Mexico, 37.1; North Carolina, 32.6, and South Carolina, 31.9.

More than one million people in each of seven states live in designated areas. These states are: Michigan 5.1 million; Pennsylvania, 5 million; West Virginia, 1.6 million; North Carolina, 1.5 million; Kentucky, 1.4 million, and Mississippi, 1.1 million.

Chamber Gives Nod To Phone Company Plans

A "Metropolitan-tie-in" facility in conjunction with Monroe, West Monroe, Bastrop, Sterlington and Mer Rouge telephone services has been planned by the Southern Bell Telephone Company and unanimously adopted by the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, according to Garland D. Shell, president of the chamber.

Under the proposed tie-in plan the telephone company would inaugurate a flat rate both-way service between these cities, instead of the present toll service.

"Our chamber directors," Shell said, "recognize that toll charges between communities within the immediate trade area and Monroe-West Monroe actually adds a tremendous cost factor in transacting business and commerce, and the proposal offered by Southern Bell would offer immediate relief to a number of business and industrial firms."

PRAYS FOR PEACE

Ceremonies Honor Pope On Birthday

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, in the spotlight of ceremonies Saturday honoring him on his 80th birthday and third anniversary of his coronation, prayed God to grant men and nations "a solid and lasting peace."

Speaking to extraordinary missions of 68 nations sent here for the double observance, the Pope said: "To such a peace aspire the peoples that you represent, and—it can be affirmed without fear—all the peoples of the earth. They are concerned at the menaces that weigh over them and ask insistently to be spared from them."

"We supplicate the Almighty, with great fervor, that He illuminate spirits and protect your nations and all mankind, uniting it always more in concord and peace."

The pontiff spoke in the consistorial hall of the Vatican Palace.

Before that the Pope announced to 35,000 people in St. Peter's basilica that he planned to issue an encyclical honoring Pope Leo I, known as The Great, who halted Attila the Hun in the fifth century and prevented him from attacking and pluddering Rome.

Pope John did not mention communism by name. However, Vatican sources interpreted his action recalling the life and work of Pope Leo I as a call for stronger action against the threat of atheistic communism.

Atilla was known as "The Scourge of God." After Atilla devastated northern Italy, Leo went to meet him in 452 at Mincio, near Mantua, and prevailed upon him to give up his plan of marching on Rome.

Pope Leo was noted also for his work in sustaining the unity of the church.

The extraordinary missions and diplomatic corps, 52 cardinals, hundreds of bishops and archbishops and thousands of priests and members of religious orders, listened intently to the Pope's words.

Nurse Jokes With Rayburn

BONHAM, Tex (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn, wasted by incurable cancer, managed to laugh Saturday at a joke his nurse told him.

"He seemed in real good spirits," she said. Rayburn, 79, ate toast, jelly and a poached egg with his breakfast milk.

A morning bulletin from Dr. Joe Risser, who is attending Rayburn at the 15-room hospital in his north Texas home town, said: "Although the speaker slept little last night, he is alert and seems stronger. Appetite is improving. Basic condition unchanged."

Nehru Says Berlin Crisis Now Easing

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru of India discussed world affairs with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Saturday after declaring the Berlin crisis seemed to be easing.

Here for 24 hours before making an official visit to the United States, Nehru told newsmen he saw the outline of an East-West agreement already in being over Berlin. He listed three features:

1. Acceptance of East and West German regimes as normally functioning states.

2. Preservation of West Berlin's ties—and access routes—with the West.

3. Recognition of Germany's postwar frontiers—including the Oder-Neisse river line in the east.

Nehru and Macmillan discussed the 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow where Khrushchev assailed Stalin and won endorsement for his professed policy of peaceful coexistence.

Nehru by all accounts appeared to believe there was little significance in everyday international terms in Khrushchev's congress triumph. He was said to have told Macmillan that Khrushchev, in his view, always was and always will be ready for serious negotiations.

Macmillan, on the other hand, put the view of his advisers that Khrushchev, because of his congress successes, might be more difficult to deal with in the immediate problems ahead, notably on Germany. But in the long run Macmillan felt Khrushchev's emergence as undisputed Soviet leader may well be a good thing in the sense that he will be able more confidently to look for an honorable accommodation with the West.

Reno Ministers Indict Gambling In Statement

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Ministers in this divorce capital Saturday issued a blanket indictment against gambling in all forms, declaring, "It corrupts everything it touches." They added that prostitution and narcotics are "tied in with the cards and wheels."

The staement was made public after it was unanimously approved by the Washoe County Ministerial Association.

The declaration was prepared last June and submitted to the Regional Planning Commission when the board was considering expanding the narrow Reno gambling zone.

"INDIGNATION" MEET

Senate Candidate Blast Kennedy

OMAHA, Neb. (Special) — "As long as we give foreign aid 'without strings attached' to friends and neutrals alike, and only slightly less to foes, we cannot be respected."

Phil A. St. Amant of Baton Rouge, candidate for the U. S. Senate post from Louisiana held by Russell Long, made this charge as he addressed the National Indignation Convention held at the Music Hall here.

The meeting was aimed at the United States' Foreign Aid program and, specifically, against the training of Yugoslav pilots at Perrin Air Force aBse in Texas.

St. Amant recently gave a similar address in Houston, Tex.

The speaker aimed a direct blast at Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, 'for allowing the directive to be issued discrediting military officers of the nation speakng on politics or foreign aid.'

"If Senator Fulbright had completely prevailed, there would have been no indignation meeting because Major Knickerbocker also would have been muzzled, and in our happy ignorance we might never have known that planes of war and pilot training were being furnished in Texas to our 'neutral' Communist enemies," he declared.

St. Amant questioned the constitutional legality of taxing the people to finance foreign aid, emphasizing that "without constitutional provision, the foreign aid laws and appropriation which do not contribute to the defense of the United States should be found invalid."

"Foreign Aid has now become a catch-all for every kind of boondoggle from counterpart funds spent on Congresional junkets to military arms and supplies — and pilot training for the em- forces of Communist nations," he emphasized.

In regard to America's position in the United Nations, he declared that "the theory behind the U.N. is excellent, but the practice of that theory has been a disgrace to our nation."

"The United States has, for a generation, loaded its State Department with fuzzy - thinking persons of the calibre of Adlai Stevenson, who is an apropriate representative of the leadership that we have received from Kennedy," St. Amant charged.

"The removal of air - covers from the recent Cuban fiasco was an expression of this timidity," he pointed out. 'And the appointment of G. Menon Wiliams, who contributed to the bankruptcy of the State of Michigan, as the 'expert' on African Affairs was indefensible. He has done nothing to the credit of the American Republic on that Dark Continent, and is persona non grata in several of the states or territories there. His alleged 'expertness' on African affairs could only have grown out of the race riots in Detroit."

St. Amant also touched on the "missile shooting business" in regard to the United States and Russia.

"I am inclined to believe that Russia's success in this field are no better than ours . . . and that ours are not yet good enough to dispense with our manned bombers," he said.

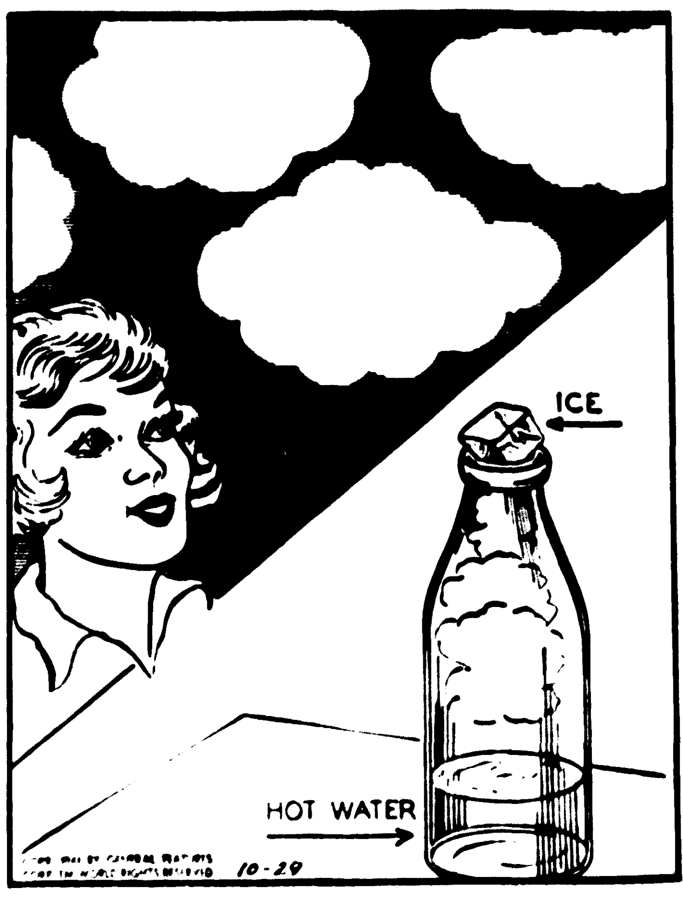
Science For You

By BOB BROWN



PROBLEM: What holds up the clouds?

DO THIS: Put hot water into the bottle and place the ice cube over the mouth. Small clouds will be seen to form inside the bottle. What holds them up?

ANSWER: Actually, if left still and not disturbed by air currents, all clouds would eventually fall in air at a constant temperature. But the droplets of water in clouds are so small and light, they do not fall rapidly because of the air resistance. The slightest air current can blow them along. If they join together and become heavier they fall faster, usually as rain.

Rising currents of warm air give an upward push to the tiny droplets and the clouds move up or down according to the amount of the upward-moving air. Watch fog carefully and you can see it fall.

Udall Eager To Conquer Japan Peak

MT. FUJI, Japan (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall waited impatiently Saturday night to start his climb of Mt. Fuji's 12,397-foot snow-capped peak—a climb "I just have to make."

"It's going to be a great day for climbing," Udall declared after checking the weather outside the log hut at Station No. 5, 5,000 feet up Fuji's slope.

Ignoring a stiff westerly wind that rattled the hut and dropped the temperature to 30 degrees Fahrenheit, Udall announced the climb would start at 5 a.m. Sunday as scheduled.

Udall's almost boyish enthusiasm at the idea of standing on top Japan's sacred mountain impressed veteran Japanese climbers assigned to guide him.

Yuko Maki, who led Japanese mountaineers in conquering the Himalayas' 26,750-foot Mt. Manaslu in 1956, listened to President Kennedy's 41-year-old Cabinet member rattle off questions about Fuji and observed: "He will make it to the top and I will take him."

Nodding at the Alpinists sitting around him, Udall joked: "Looking at these hardy men, I wonder if I'm man enough to keep up with them."

He said the last climbing he did was in Wyoming in August with his family "and my 10-year-old girl was first to the top."

Thirteen persons have died scaling Fuji since 1959. Most were caught in sudden snowstorms after the usual climbing season, which ends in August.

But one of the expert climbers, Saburo Matsukata, vice chairman of the Japan Alpinist Association, said that despite the time of the year Udall's climb is not expected to be dangerous.

Lomax Name Magic One In Folk Music

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alan Lomax is one of those rare persons who refuse to remain in a rut even though it may be lined with gold.

The name of Lomax is a magic one to the ever-growing tradition of folk music. Alan's father, John Alan Lomax, pioneered the recording of authentic folk music in the field. Alan joined him in this sometimes hazardous endeavor at the age of 16. Together they discovered the almost legendary leadbelly and Alan had introduced such famed folk singers as Josh White and the Golden Gate Quartet.

Thousands of yards of recordings made by Alan Lomax in his lifetime search for true folk music rest in bookcases and on shelves in his walk-up apartment in the heart of New York's Greenwich Village.

Yet Alan feels his work has just begun.

"I want to go into documentary films because this is one of the most neglected mediums of communication," he said. "I'm not tired of collecting folk songs for records but I'm ready to take a step forward."

Currently Lomax is working on a project that may have vast sociological impact.

With the help of the Rockefeller Foundation, he hopes to find through mathematics the effect that music may have on the culture of mankind.

He displayed one of the charts he is using to map the pattern of music in various nations and continents. This particular chart gave a "profile" of African music.

"I've charted enough of African music to draw this pattern and it is generally consistent," Lomax said. "Even the music that was exported from Africa and changed still will show a profile along these lines."

Lomax's problem in mapping the "profiles" of music will be tied in with "profiles" of the countries or continents political and cultural mores. He believes he may eventually arrive at a startling conclusion.

Now 45, Lomax has the energy of a teenager and the wisdom of an elder statesman.

Education Week Observance Set

Throughout the week, November 5-11, students, parents, teachers and citizens are expected to take part in observance of American Education Week. In the Twin Cities and state the observance is to be termed Louisiana Education Week.

Many schools in the area and state have planned programs scheduled to illustrate the theme of "Your Schools: Time For A Progress Report."

Most of the schools in the Twin Cities that are participating in this event are holding an open house during the week to allow parents of the students to meet the teachers and become familiar with operational procedures of the schools.

West Monroe Junior High School will hold open house Monday, November 6, beginning at 7 p.m. through 8:30 p.m. During the program in the gymnasium, Sharon Weston, president of the student council will welcome the parents and guests attending.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Ouachita Parish Superintendent of Schools, W. W. Ward.

Strengthening Moral and Spiritual Values," and "Encouraging Loyalty and Patriotism" are titles of two speeches to be presented by students at Ouachita Parish High School open house.

The OPHS open house is slated for Thursday, November 9 beginning at 7 p.m. The school's entertainment program includes selections by the choir and renditions by the band. Refreshments will also be served during the hours of reception.

Also on Monday night, West Monroe High School will hold an open house to welcome parents and visitors. Registration of visitors will be in the lobby of the school. Festivities will begin at 7 p.m., sponsored by the school's chapter of the Future Teachers of America club. Refreshments for the occasion will be furnished by the home economics department.

Several of the city schools in Monroe are also planning events for observance of American and Louisiana Education Week.

Parents Teachers Association members of the Clara Hall school will have a chance to watch children demonstrate their knowledge of art methods at a P. T. A. meeting Nov. 9.

Barkdull Faulk School will also observe Louisiana Education Week at its November P. T. A. meeting, Nov. 16. Parents will visit the rooms and have a chance to listen to discussions concerning plans for the coming year.

At Georgia Tucker School, each teacher will invite parents by a note to attend a classroom activity on a specific day. This will give the parents a chance to observe education at work.

Traffic Resumes On Railway Bridge

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—After a brief interruption, traffic resumed Saturday over the long Southern Railway bridge at the eastern end of Lake Pontchartrain. The bridge was damaged by a tugboat or its barge.

A railway spokesman said the bridge was bumped near the south shore, or the New Orleans side.

One passenger train, the Pelican, was rerouted over L&N lines. But the route was re-opened after an inspection showed damage was minor and repairs were made, said the spokesman.

Americans Urged To Learn Russian

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A teacher executive said Saturday one way to crack the Iron Curtain is to teach more american youth to speak Russian.

If more Americans could speak Russian, said N. B. Hackett, veteran executive secretary of the Louisiana Teachers Association, they might win the hearts of a people who want war no more than we do.

The soft-spoken Hackett, for years a leader in Louisiana teacher affairs, was one of 18 American educators sent on a month-long tour of the Soviet Union.

While the chill of Soviet nuclear fallout griped the world, Hackett and his group, which included school Supt Gordon Webb of Ascension Parish, toured Russia unaware of the megaton diplomacy.

The tour was sponsored by the American Association of School Administrators, National Education Association and state educational groups. Hackett was a school teacher for 24 years in Cameron and Tangipahoa parishes.

They entered Leningrad Oct 5, journeyed on to Moscow, came back through Warsaw, Poland, and settled down at the East Berlin airport Oct. 27, crossing to West Berlin on a bus.

"The Russian people, the educators we talked to, students, the man on the street—all dread the thought of another war," Hackett said.

"We ought to send more people over there who can speak Russian. Those Soviet citizens are people just like us. They're different in their beliefs.

"Communism to them is the best thing they know. We've got to do a better job of communicating. We must show them there's something greater than communnism in this world."

"We attempted to pick up the Voice of America broadcasts while over there, but they always were jammed. I don't believe the average Soviet citizen is aware of the way his government blocks him from the outside world.

"The average Russian doesn't sneer at us about capitalism. They wanted to know about our families, how we lived, whether we owned a car, what our homes looked like.

"I believe the best thing we could do is step up the teaching of schools. In every Soviet town we always could find those who spoke English. I doubt that you could find many in our towns and cities who speak Russian fluently.

"And we found much more English being taught in Soviet schools, compared with the amount of Russian taught over here."

TO SOUTH VIET NAM

JFK To Decide On Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is expected to make basic decisions this week on expanding U. S. military assistance to South Viet Nam in an intensified effort to prevent Communist guerrilla forces from taking over the country.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's military adviser who is just back from a first hand study of the Southeast Asian country, worked with State and Defense Department and White House officials Saturday to get a program of detailed recommendations on paper.

While Taylor and his aides worked in secret, informed officials said Kennedy would very likely order an increase in the 685-man U. S. Military Advisory assistance group.

Taylor indicated on arrival Friday that he was against sending U. S. combat forces into South Viet Nam, saying the Vietnamese have plenty of manpower. This, however, would not rule out an expanded training program.

Kennedy's decision may be influenced by various factors arising from the whole cold war.

1. Further signs of a possible Moscow switch in tactics to try to ease tensions might influence the President to approach new U. S. action in Southeast Asia more cautiously.

2. Views expressed by Indian Prime Minister Nehru could have some influence on Kennedy's thinking. Conversely, Kennedy has an opportunity in talks with Nehru next week to urge Nehru's understanding and support of U. S. policies in Southeast Asia.

The President's State Department advisers are studying the possibility that a change in Soviet tactics from the tough, belligerent line of the past month may be developing now that the Communist party congress has ended. The congress was characterized by a display of internal strife within the Soviet system and within the Sino-Soviet bloc.

U. S. experts are not at all sure what this signifies but they do think it may have had some bearing on the timing of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's building up of the Berlin crisis beginning last June.

Friday he was quoted by an Italian parliamentary leader who visited him as emphasizing hopes for a compromise agreement to end the Berlin crisis peacefully. Even if he relaxed the pressures on Berlin Khrushchev might follow a quite different and tougher line in Southeast Asia, but there is some speculation here that he may now switch to a more peaceful tack.

Taylor reported to Kennedy privately late Friday. The President then apparently instructed him to produce precise recommendations.

The United States, apart from the normal diplomatic staff, has close to 1,000 military officers and men and civilian economic officials in Viet Nam. One of the tasks of the U. S. Military group is to train Viet Nam forces in guerilla warfare. The United States has been helping Viet Nam expand its army to 170,000 troops. Another expansion might very well be ordered as a result of the Taylor survey. That would require additional military equipment on a large scale.

Soviets Fire 31st Nuclear Bomb In Air

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia exploded another nuclear device in the atmosphere Saturday the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

The AEC said the bomb was exploded in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya, in the Arctic, and had a yield of "several megatons."

The explosion was the 31st announced by the AEC in the current Russian series.

It was the fifth nuclear device fired by the Russians since they detonated a 50-megaton-plus superbomb on Oct. 30.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had announced earlier that the current Russian tests would be concluded with the explosion of a 50-megaton device.

There has been speculation among some U. S. scientists that the Russians made an unexpected discovery during the current series and the subsequent tests have been aimed at developing this discovery.

Since the superbomb explosion, the Russians detonated two devices Tuesday and two on Thursday, all in the atmosphere in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya.

One of the two exploded Tuesday had a yield of several megatons and the other was in the intermediate to high yield range, probably one megaton.

Both of those exploded Thursday were in the low to intermediate range, meaning less than a megaton.

IN HONDURAS CAPITAL

Homeless Refugees Fill Luxury Hotel

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP) — Belize's luxury hotel is filled, every nook and cranny of it—with homeless hurricane refugees.

There are a few paying customers too in rooms still habitable after a savage lashing by Hattie's winds and waves. But floors of the elegant hostelry now are covered with water, and water trapped in the top floor is dripping down.

Dining room, halls and corners are crowded at night with men, women and children who have no other place to sleep.

"Hear those children crying?" asked Mrs. Arthur M. Ehler, formerly of Miami, who with her husband has been managing the seaside Fort George Hotel since June.

It also opened its doors on Monday night, when Hattie gushed in, to anyone seeking shelter. About 300 showed up, many of them rounded up by the hotel station wagon.

"I kept covering babies with curtains, linens, anything I could find—and everything was soaking wet—during the hurricane," Mrs. Ehler related.

Others, too, were busy helping hurricane victims.

On "Hattie Day," Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Swift of San Diego, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Ferguson of Miami opened a soup kitchen on what was a tennis court at a club.

"We served nearly 7,000 persons. Among them were a mother and her nine children."

Their prospering small car and tractor factory "is sitting in the middle of a street now," Swift said grimly."

IN LARGE CITIES

Cabinet To Begin JFK Road Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Front-rank administration leaders will take off Tuesday on a two-week series of big city clinics to find out whether President Kennedy's economic medicine is curing domestic ills.

The administration road show, featuring half a dozen Cabinet members and a group of lesser officials, is billed as nonpartisan. But by design or chance it will produce an inventory of area needs useful in pointing up Kennedy arguments to Congress next year for additional legislation.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, has charged the administration tour is aimed at trying to whip up interest in Kennedy domestic proposals that Dirksen said "just aren't clicking with the people."

Kennedy lieutenants dispute this while acknowledging that one object is to boost measures already passed and generate support for those still stuck in the congressional mill.

Several thousand invitations have been issued to each of the 12 White House regional conferences to hear about economic aid measures already cleared through Congress and how they can be applied to solve local problems. Bids to attend went to all members of Congress.

"It is equally important," Kennedy said in outlining aims of the meetings, "that federal officials seek the views of state and local officials, as well as those of interested individuals, in making plans for future developments."

"It is my hope that these conferences will contribute to the future welfare of all our citizens."

Kennedy won't participate personally in the conferences. But he has scheduled three West Coast speeches at Seattle, Phoenix, Airz., and Los Angeles in mid-November at about the time the Cabinet caravan swings to the West Coast.

The Cabinet tour will start out with simultaneous two-day sessions next Tuesday and Wednesday at Chicago and St. Louis. From there it will move on to Nashville Nov. 9-10. Meetings the following week are due Nov. 13 at Madison, Wis.; Nov. 14 at Denver; Nov. 14-15 at Detroit and Cleveland; and Nov. 16-17 at New York and Philadelphia.

The next week will see a one-day stand at Seattle Nov. 20 and two-day affairs at San Francisco and Los Angeles Nov. 20-21.

Practically every Cabinet member and agency head primarily concerned with domestic problems will participate somewhere on the tour. These include Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall, and Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

The big-name cast will also include top administration economists and experts in such problem areas as juvenile delinquency, area redevelopment, urban renewal, mass transportation, housing, education, physical fitness, recreation and many others.

Rusk Assures South Koreans Of U.S. Help

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, highest ranking U. S. official to visit South Korea since the military coup last spring, Saturday assured Koreans of continued American economic and military support against the threat of communism.

Rusk flew here from Japan where he headed the U. S. delegation to a three-day economic meeting with the Japanese. During his one-day visit, he will meet top South Korean officials, including military junta strongman Gen. Park Chung Hee, Prime Minister Song Yo Chan and President Posun Yun.

Park, who led the coup which overthrew the government of President John M. Chang last May, was promoted to full general by Song Saturday. The promotion apparently was designed to increase his stature during his visit to the United States later this month.

Rusk was met at the Kimpso Air Base by Song, Foreign Minister Choi Duk Shin and Defense Minister Bak Byung Kown. Maj. Gen. Yoo Sang Soo, chairman of the military junta foreign affairs and defense committee, Gen. Guy S. Meloy, United Nations commander and U. S. Ambassador Samuel Berger also were present.

Brown Advisers Fear Nixon Race

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON UPI — Things political in California are not so black as they have been printed for Richard M. Nixon. They are black enough, but edged at least in white.

For example: California has abandoned its cross-filing election system. Therefore, in next year's primary, Republican primary ballots will be restricted to genuine Republican candidates.

This will deprive former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of some votes in the Republican primary. He is Nixon's No. 1 opponent for the Republican nomination for governor.

Under the abandoned system of cross-filing, Democrats could have come into the Republican primary by the tens of thousands and Knight would have welcomed that. Knight now is seeking to persuade registered Democrats to reregister as "Republicans-for-a-day." That would be primary day when they would be expected to vote against Nixon. m

TROUBLES IN PARTY

Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown presumably will be renominated without difficulty. But there is turmoil within the Democratic party in California. The factional fight is between the so-called pros headed by national committeeman Stanley Mosk and the more-or-less amateurs comprising and supporting California's statewide Democratic Council.

Friction between these groups is believed by some persons to have been responsible for Nixon's presidential election victory last year in California despite a Democratic registration bulge of about one million in the state. The electorate numbers 6.5 million.

Such advantages as outlined for Nixon easily could be offset by the nature of the primary campaign which confronts him. Knight's challenge to Nixon is touched with the bitterness of Hatfield-McCoy.

'Privately some of Gov. Brown's advisers fear a race against Nixon in the general election. They figure the former vice president still bears the image of a strong, tough-minded man-of-action, whereas the governor presents the picture of a somewhat vacillating administrator, well-meaning but weak.

"So they (Brown's advisers) are basing their hopes of a Republican primary in which the Republicans will finish each other off like Kilkenny cats."

If the GOP primary is, indeed a Kilkenny cat fight and if—a big if—Nixon survives, he will emerge with a much stronger image. He might tie that with two years of super-good administration as governor of California—so good that the Republicans would draft him in 1964 for the presidential nomination.

No, that just couldn't happen. There is no such thing as a draft of that kind and probably never will be.

NEVILLE HIGH School's football stadium got a new scoreboard last night at their homecoming game. The new equipment was donated to the school by Ouachita Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Monroe. West Point's Missing Cadet Returns Home

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Paul M. Weaver II, 18, a first-year cadet missing from West Point since Aug. 30, returned to his home in Portsmouth Saturday morning.

Weaver was last seen at the military academy in his barracks the morning of Aug. 30. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Weaver were notified the next day but were requested not to make the information public on the hope he would return on his own.

The first public announcement Weaver was missing came about seven weeks later, on Oct. 19, after authorities decided their earlier strategy had failed.

Mrs. Weaver said her son is physically all right but he's nervous and upset. She said she didn't question him much about where he had been but she did say he had been travelling around the country.

He was questioned by the FBI in its local office and is to be taken to Ft. Hayes in Columbus. The FBI got into the case when Weaver was declared a deserter from the Army.

REFUGEES FROM VOLCANO

Army Camp Haven For Sad Islanders

REDHILL, England (AP)—The entire population of lonely Tristan da Cunha Island—262 men, women and children—moved Friday into an army camp 6,500 miles from the bit of land in the South Atlantic Ocean they may never see again.

The sad and bewildered islanders set up housekeeping in 20 whitewashed brick huts formerly used by the Army Territorial service—British equivalent of the U.S. National Guard—as a training site.

While 200 members of the Women's Voluntary Service, an organization of unpaid British social workers, ministered to their needs, the refugees from volcano-ruined Tristan da Cunha wandered around inspecting their new temporary home.

Many clustered in front of a television set in the camp lounge showing crowds at Clarence House in London where Princess Margaret had just given birth to her first baby. None had ever seen a TV broadcast before.

Later, all trooped into the camp mess hall for a luncheon of fish pie, mashed potatoes, cauliflower and stewed applies with custard.

Then the children were escorted to their communal playroom, decorated with clusters of multi-colored balloons. Shelves were laden with dolls and other toys donated by schoolchildren of Redhill and nearby Reigate.

The islanders soon met some old friends. One was Rhoda Downer, who used to be the Tristan da Cunha schoolteacher and now lives in Bristol. Then came the island's former doctor, Dr. Stanley Gooch, and his wife, who now live in Worcester. All three knew virtually every islander by name. As they made the rounds the unhappy islanders visibly relaxed.

A Colonial Office spokesman said the army camp would be declared out of bounds for all except social workers and islanders for a week beginning Saturday. The idea is to give the refugees a chance to settle down.

There will be official discussions on where the refugees should live in the future. It has been suggested they might be happy on one of the small islands off the Scottish coast, where they could carry on their normal routine of fishing and raising potatoes.

"We do not mind where we live," said Peter Repetto, 59, chief of the islanders, "on the mainland or on an island. But we want to keep on farming and fishing, and we want to stay together."

The Tristan da Cunhans arrived here after a 50-mile bus trip from Southampton, where they debarked earlier in the day from the liner Stirling Castle. The liner carried them to Britain from Cape Town, first mainland stop after their flight from the tiny speck of land where they lived until the volcano erupted.

British Celebrate Birth Of New Heir

LONDON (AP)—Britain celebrated Saturday the birth of Princess Margaret's son with bonfires and champagne.

Jubilation increased after word came from Clarence House, where the 6 pound, 4 ounce baby was born Friday, that all is well with mother and child.

The bonfires would have gleamed in any event from hilltops and on the vacant lots of cities to commemorate the exploits of Guy Fawkes, one of the conspirators who tried to blow up the houses of Parliament with gunpowder in the year 1605.

But the fuel was piled higher as loyal citizens, particularly the youngsters, made the night an occasion for celebrating the birth of a boy who is fifth in the succession to the British throne.

AT HOMECOMING

Game Activities Add To Encounter

Claude Fuller, instructor in speech, was master of ceremonies during the program which opened with music by the Delta State Band.

Then came a surprise feature, the announcement of the morning's parade entries and campus houses which won awards. Jack Masur, president of the Boosters Club, and Truett Thorn, vice president of the student body, made the presentations. Prize winning floats were headed by Delta Demeter, national professional agricultural fraternity. Capturing second and third places, respectively, were the Baptist Student Union and Beta Sigma Biological Society. The winning car was entered by Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Society.

PRIZE WINNERS

Prizes for the most attractively decorated campus houses were captured in the following order, Phi Delta Chi Pharmaceutical Fraternity, Breard Hall and Madison Hall.

Following the presentation of awards, the National Anthem was played by the Northeast State Band, directed by Joe Barry Mullins, associate professor of music. Adding significance to the occasion was a flag raising ceremony in which the Veterans Club, Scabbard and Blade and Pershing Rifles, national honorary military societies, participated.

Dr. Ernest D. Holloway, former dean of men at the college, gave the invocation.

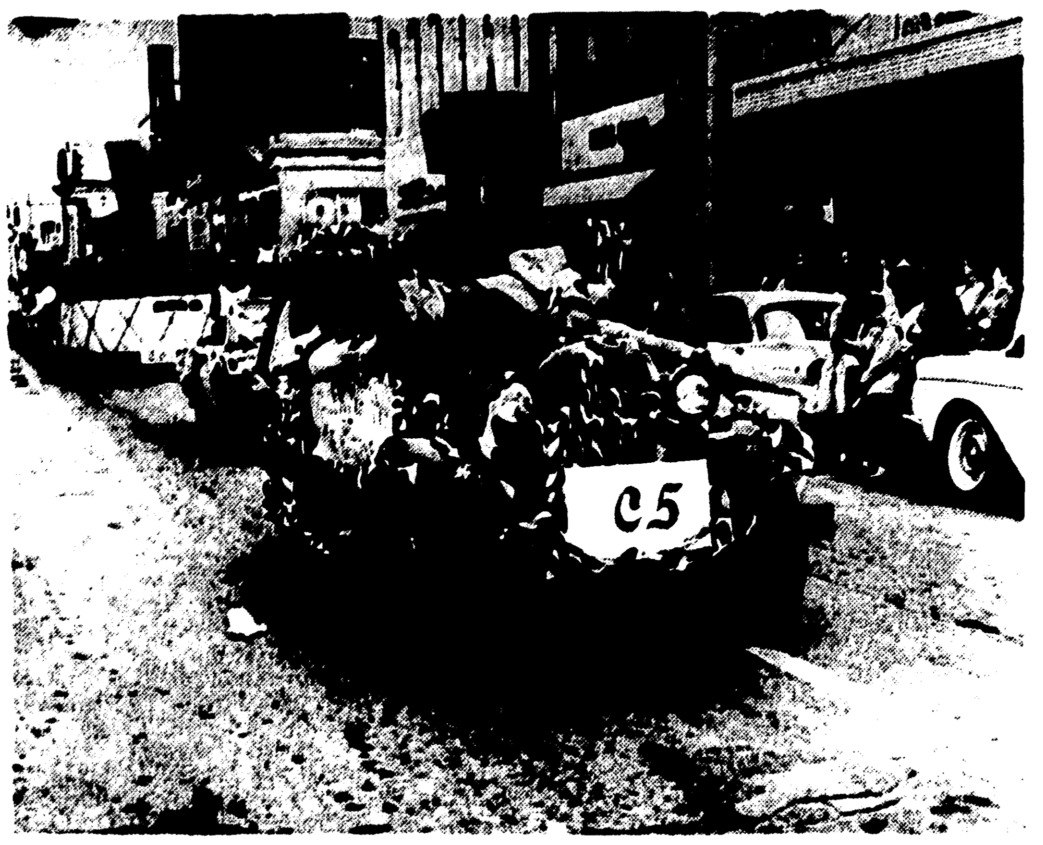
Half-time ceremonies were opened by President George T. Walker, who welcomed the stadium-filled enthusiasts. Responding to the greeting was Alumni President Roland Carter, who announced the alumni officers elected at the pre-game business session of the organization.

Then came the dramatic event, the presentation of the homecoming court. Entrance of royalty was colorfully staged by musicians and marching units. While the college band played, members of the precision drill and dance team, twirlers and Pershing Rifles went into formation on either side of the center of the field. Then the Scabbard and Blade unit moved in to form an arch of sabres under which the homecoming court walked with their escorts to the decorated royal pavilion near the stadium.

The maids were wearing tailored suits with small hats and corsages of yellow mums. The group and their escorts comprised Miss Sonya Bowden of Tallulah and her father, Jack Bowden, Miss Sylvia Hayden of West Monroe and her father, J. L. Hayden, Miss Linda Land of Delhi and her father, Pat Lane, Miss Judy Reagan of Monroe and her grandfather, A. C. Alford of Rayville, and Miss Tommie Stockstill of St. Joseph and her father, Louis C. Stockstill. As the group approached the platform, they created an aisle for the entrance of maid of honor, Miss Kirby Mooney of Centralia, Ill., and her grandfather, Homer Hanson of Monroe. She was wearing a black tailleur with white fur trim and small hat, and was presented an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

A salute from the Pershing Rifles heralded the appraoch of Queen Pansy Riser, dressed in a green tailleur and small hat, and escorted by her father, Lloyd Duchesne of Columbia. Her majesty was crowned Northeast Homecoming Queen of 1961 by President Walker and presented an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The band played the Alma Mater, composed by Dean Harry M. Lemert, as twirlers and dancers gave impressive performances to close the half-time ceremonies.



A DEAD STATESMAN, in mimicry, is shown on the hood of this decorated jalopy in the Northeast State parade held in downtown Monroe and West Monroe on Saturday morning as the Northeast Indians continued homecoming activities prior to meeting the Delta State Statesmen in the annual grid classic Saturday night. Two Are Found Fatally Shot

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Henry D. McNamara of New Orleans, division chief with the Army Engineers, and his wife were found shot to death in their summer home near here Saturday.

Chief Deputy Charles Duvoisin of the St. Tammany Parish sheriff's department said robbery apparently was the motive for the shootings. He said a small wall safe was open and the couple's wallets were found on the floor.

The bodies were found after Eldridge Obleton, a yardman who was working at the house, reported to Michael Connick that he had not received his lunch.

British, Reds Deadlocked On Viet Nam

LONDON (AP) — Britain and the Soviet Union reached a deadlock Saturday on moves to arrest the grave situation in pro-Western South Viet Nam.

A British note to Moscow called on the Soviet government to join in ordering Communist North Viet Nam to cease trying to subvert South Viet Nam, where President Ngo Dinh Diem's government is hard-pressed by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. The note was made public Saturday.

The note was London's rejection of a recent Moscow proposal for a joint British-Soviet demand that the United States keep hands off South Viet Nam.

Britain and the Soviet Union, as cochairmen of the 1954 Indochinese peace conference at Geneva, share the responsibility for maintaining peace in the area.

The British note said the North Vietnamese are waging a "campaign of intimidation, terror and subversion" against South Viet Nam in what was called "grave violations of the Geneva cease-fire agreement and a serious threat to peace and stability of Southeast Asia."

Rejecting the Soviet proposal for a joint appeal to Washington Britain proposed instead that Britain and the Soviet Union instruct North Viet Nam "to desist forthwith from their subversive activities in South Viet Nam."

London believes the Communists are stepping up pressure in South Viet Nam in hope of gaining the kind of new peace conference that has been arranged for Laos.

Loan Examiner For SBA Slates Trip To Monroe

Justin Green, manager of the small business administration in New Orleans, has announced that William G. Troescher, loan examiner, will be in Monroe on Wednesday all day, and the morning of Thursday, in Room 302, U. S. Post Office and Federal Court Building, for the purpose of conferring with anyone interested in the services of this government agency.

This is a continuance of the policy of Small Business Administration to make its services more convenient to the small businessman and banks in the Monroe area.

It is contemplated that a representative of Small Business Administration will visit Monroe monthly after due notice.

MAY LOSE PASSPORTS

Brussels, Belgium (AP) — The government has announced it will withdraw the passports of Belgians serving with the armed forces of the Congo's breakaway Katanga Province. Observers said the step should help the U.N. Command in the Congo in its efforts to rid Katanga's army of white mercenaries.

Ghana City Rocked By Bombings

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Bombs exploded in this capital Saturday in an apparent demonstration against the strong man rule of Presdient Kwame Nkrumah. The government blamed terrorists and implicated the opposition United party.

One explosion damaged a big bronze statue of Nkrumah that stands before Parliament. Another caused little damage to Independence Arch, a war memorial in nearby Black Star Square.

The second blast injured a night watchman who said he was praying at the time and did not see the bomb planted.

At the time of the predawn explosions Nkrumah was at his residence, Flagstaff House, guarded as usual by troops and police. He was "not unduly concerned by the explosions," a spokesman said.

Unconfirmed reports said two bombs also were planted in Christiansborg Castle, where Britain's Queen Elizabeth II is scheduled to stay during her 11-day visit to Ghana beginning next Thursday. Police said they had nothing to confirm this.

There was no official word in London or from the British High Commission in Ghana on whether the bombings would affect the queen's visit. But there was speculation the British Cabinet might cancel her visit at the last minute.

Interior Minister Kwaku Boateng had the queen's visit in mind in implicating the United party, which has fought Nkrumah's program of turning Ghana into a virtual dictatorship.

Research Funds Cut Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, said Saturday that despite a reduction in spending by his department "not one dollar now being used for cancer research or research on any other disease will be cut."

Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-R.I., said Friday that Ribicoff, responding to pleas from President Kennedy, was planning a $102-million cut in his department's budget for this fiscal year.

Fogarty, chairman of the house subcommittee on health, education and welfare appropriations, said $60 million of this would come out of health funds, including a $15-million or $16-million cut in cancer research money.

Ribicoff, in a telegram to Fogarty Saturday, said, "Let me emphasize that in no sense is there to be any reduction in current research funds."

"Actually, the $196 million spent by the Cancer Institute in 1961 will be substantially increased in 1962, in the amount of $21 million, thereby making possible not only the support of all current research but, in addition, the support of a substantial volume of new research projects as well," he added.

"The sole consequence of the decision that has been made is that increased spending above the 1961 level will be made at a reduced rate."

Ribicoff said his department had been given appropriations of $658 million more than the amount available in 1961. He said he had determined that about $100 million of the added funds would not be used.

The spending reduction, Ribicoff said, was to meet extensive defense needs, to avoid inflation and try to achieve a balanced government budget in fiscal 1963.

MEET ON YOUTH

Salvation Army Conference Opens

The Salvation Army, an organization which specializes in christian service to those in need, opened a two-day youth conference here yesterday.

Some 200 officers and youths from Louisiana and Arkansas were in attendance at opening sessions aimed at training future leaders for the organization.

Col. Ernest Pickering, Atlanta, Ga., field secretary for the southern territory which includes 15 states, the District of Columbia, and Mexico, made some observations yesterday on purposes of the conference:

"It is part of the training in fighting the war, which is visitation with local Salvation Army officers to jails, street service and service for the Salvation Army given as part of their expression to the Lord Jesus Christ for the privilege of being his ambassadors.

"The conference is set to challenge them (the youths) to accept full time christian service. The Salvation Army believes implicitly this Bible quotation:

'Not by might nor power, but by my spirit saith the Lord.' This is our answer to communism."

Salvation Army officials lauded Twin Cities citizens for their support of the organization's work here, and their assistance in raising funds for new facilities. They also praised the work of the United Givers organization.

On the role of the churches in the community, Col. Pickering said:

"We believe the citizens should be appreciative of the churches of the Living God, for they are one of the mediums that God has used for the salvation of the world.

"As do all ministers of the gospel, we endeavor to teach our youth about the calling for which they can best serve, which is as ambassadors of Jesus Christ. This will be the goal to which we will direct our efforts during the youth conference."

At a banquet last night, featured speakers included Col. and Mrs. Pickering, and Brig. and Mrs. C. Wm. Jaynes.

Brig. Jaynes is in charge of youth work in 15 southern states, the District of Columbia, and Mexico.

Group session work at the conference which will close today at noon is under the direction of specially chosen officers and Brig. Harry Ward of New Orleans, division commander for Louisiana and Arkansas.

Capt. and Mrs. W. E. Grantham, in charge of the local Salvation Army unit, are conference hosts.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

American labor-union leader Eugene V. Debs was born on this day in 1855.

On this day in history

In 1929, the British House of Commons approved the resumption of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

In 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was re-elected for his third term in office—the first president ever to be chosen for a third term.

In 1955, Austria formally opened the reconstructed Vienna State Opera House celebrating at the same time her liberation from 17 years of occupation by foreign troops.

A thought for today: Eugene Debs said: "While there is a lower class I am in it, while there is a criminal element I am of it; while there is a soul in prison, I am not free."

Church Bazaar Next Saturday

A church bazaar is scheduled to be held Saturday, November 11 at St. Patrick's Episcopal Church, 1510 North Third Street in West Monroe.

Vicar, the Rev. W. Allan King, has issued a welcome to the general public to attend the bazaar which will feature homemade cakes, cookies, pies, candies and preserves.

Barbiero To Head March Of Dimes

Bennie Barbiero of Monroe has been appointed Campaign Director for the 1962 New March of Dimes in Ouachita Parish, Mrs. Dorothy A. Hodges, chairman of the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the National Foundation, announced today.

"Through their March of Dimes contributions, the people of Ouachita Parish and the nation made control of paralytic polio possible. We are confident that their dimes will do it again in the fight against birth defects and arthritis, where the need is even greater," Mrs. Hodges stated.

In accepting the appointment, Barbiero emphasized the effectiveness of The National Foundation programs of direct aid to patients, extensive research to find preventives and cures, and professional education to train scientists, doctors and allied medical personnel.

"Almost 700 babies are born each day with significant birth defects in the U. S. alone," Barbiero said. "Arthritis disables more people than any other chronic disease. AAnd we must also remember that until universal vaccination is an accomplished fact, paralytic polio is still a threat. Every contribution to the March of Dimes in January helps fight these cripplers."

Barbiero was active in the March of Dimes campaign last January, and in addition to his activities with the Ouachita Parish Chapter of The National Foundation, is chairman of the board, Progressive Men's Club and a member of the Monroe Council, Knights of Columbus. He is employed by the State of Louisiana, as Voting Machines Technician.

Khrushchev Strengthens Soviet Grip

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has run into fresh troubles abroad but has strengthened his grip on the Communist party and is comfortably in the saddle at home.

This is the widely held view of Moscow's diplomatic colony, assessing events connected with the 22nd Soviet party congress that closed last week.

The angry wave of world indignation at Russia's superbomb tests has rolled up to the shores of the Soviet Union and put it on the defensive. Strict censorship and heavy jamming of foreign radio broadcasts has prevented this criticism from getting behind the Iron Curtain.

Khrushchev also appears to have been placed somewhat on the defensive by the Communist wall in Berlin. On the opening day of the party congress, Khrushchev withdrew his Dec. 31 deadline for a German-Berlin settlement. He also took a milder tone in talking of negotiations.

But he kept up pressure on the West, calling on Finland for consultations about mutual defense against West Germany. The move is designed to put heat on neutral Sweden and two northern North Atlantic Treaty Organization members, Norway and Denmark. All were accused of helping West German militarists prepare for war.

Khrushchev also aggravated the split with Red China by his attack on the Communists of Albania. Red China has taken Albania under its wing, and Premier Chou En-lai scolded Khrushchev for bringing the quarrel into the open.

Khrushchev's criticism of Albania was simply a reflection of basic conflicts with Peiping over ideology. The Chinese fundamentally are Stalinist in ideology — which means adherence to his tendency to isolation, restrictions on relations with non-Communist states, and constant preparation for the military showdown with capitalism that old Stalinists believed inevitable.

The Khrushchev policy — now the official policy of most Communist parties—is for broader contacts with other natoins, particularly states emerging into independence. His idea is that a snowballing economic and industrial growth eventually will overwhelm the capitalist world without war.

On the home front, Khrushchev has had to deal with a residue of Stalinist influence remaining in the Soviet party ever since 1957 when he shoved ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and his group into obscurity.

Four Persons Die As Trains Collide

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Four persons were killed and 26 injured in the head-on collision of a passenger train and freight train Friday near La Piedad, about 200 miles west of Mexico City, officials said Saturday.

Officials of the National Railroads said the freight train was ahead of schedule when it collided with the passenger train from Guadalajara.

Pilot Closes Out 42 Years Of Flying

The pilot who flew the first air mail out of Shreveport [illegible] 1919, retired from flying last week after 42 years.

He is 65-year-old Gardner Nagle who started his flying career in Shreveport, and closed it out in Monroe, after 15,000 hours in the air and several hundred thousand miles of travel.

It was a career that took him around the United States, to Canada and into Latin America. His aircraft ranged from the [illegible] biplane to [illegible]

Deadly Odyssey Of Crime Traced To Many Parts Nation

Editors note: How many killers are loose in the land? That's a question often asked impossible to answer. But here is the story of a man who according to his own signed confessions, was a killer who roamed the country in a deadly odyssey of sexual crime for almost two years. He is Hugh Bion Morse, of Kansas City, Mo., now awaiting trial at St. Paul, Minn. His confessions tell of the deaths of four women and countless attacks on other women and children. The story of Hugh Morse is not a pretty one. But it casts some light on a nationwide problem.

Old Auto Hideways

Automobile graveyards along principal highways still exist in considerable numbers. Evidence of this was ample on a recent vacation trip in which portions of the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and Texas were visited. Generally, however, the scenic situation is much improved over that of some years back.

One thing of which can feel fairly well assured is that most of the auto graveyards which are such highway eyesores are those that have been in existence for a number of years. Most cities and parishes or counties now have regulations against starting new car-wrecking places in plain sight along highways. In most counties, it is now required that any new place of this kind must be situated far enough away from a highway so that they cannot be seen and that, additionally, a fence of some sort through which the wreckage cannot be seen must be provided.

This is a good provision, because there is no real need for having wrecking places in prominent spots. They are in no way in the same category as service stations and motels, which must have highway locations in order to carry on their business. It is likely that more than 95 per cent of the sales of used parts are made to professional mechanics or garages which employ such mechanics. The number of persons who repair their own automobiles these days is extremely small and the sale of used parts to these persons is small.

Garages and professional mechanics usually know the locations of all the dealers in used parts. They know their phone numbers and the first thing they do when they need a used part is to call to find out whether such a part is available. Regardless of whether the part is picked up by the mechanic or the garage or is delivered by the used parts man, it makes little difference whether the used parts place is on a highway or a few hundred yards off the road, because they are familiar with the location.

As far as the superhighways, such as the new Interstate 20, are concerned, unsightly businesses and signs will be a thing of the past. Federal and state regulations specify that all businesses must be back some distance from the highway, which means that all traffic must get away from the highway for any kind of servicing. Auto graveyards, even if located the required distance from the highways, would be at a disadvantage, as it would be harder for the average mechanic or garage to reach them there than in some location out in the woods or fenced in a field.

Not only is there great improvement in the general beauty along highways but the highways themselves are far better than they were a decade or so ago. Road construction is going on continuously and practically all of the new highways are wider and better.

Another thing that greatly helps the motorist is that most new highways are built along new highway strips and not on the ground occupied by the old highway. In the earlier days of road replacements the roads were simply closed and the motorist might have to go 25, 50 or possibly 100 miles out of the way to find a highway on which he could travel.

In the last 20 years, the change in farm buildings along highways has been outstanding. Formerly, in the southern states, there were hundreds of shacks that were occupied as residences and other hundreds of old farm buildings that were falling down. Now nearly all of these old buildings, both residences and barns, have disappeared. In their places are newer and more "respectable" looking buildings. Most people now demolish buildings which are no longer usable. Not only have the highways been greatly improved, but the scenery is far more cheering and refreshing.

The tendency is now to make everything beautiful. In many places, the natural beauties of nature not only have been preserved but nature has been improved upon to make things even more beautiful.

We can truly say that the United States is becoming a more beautiful place in which to live.

Backs Moon Flight

Two reasons have been given by James E. Hebb, director of the national aeronautics and space administration as prime justifications for this country's multi-billion-dollar moon program.

Citing one of the major justifications in an address before the Aero club in Washington, the space chief said:

"Having no atmosphere, winds or rains, the moon offers scientists a chance to study very early matter in the solar system in practically the form of which it existed billions of years ago."

The surface of the earth, by contrast, has been so eroded by water and wind that it bears little resemblance, fortunately, to the earth of eons past.

Webb also said this country must master space flight to keep from falling behind the Russians in technology.

Most Americans would rate the latter justification ahead of the first given by the space chief. They feel right now that anything we can do to keep Russia from gaining supremacy is of more importance than a study of early matter in the solar system.

There can be little doubt that if any nation gains control of space it will find the subjugation of all the other nations of the earth an easy matter. The nation controlling space would be able to launch attacks beyond any dreamed of until recent years and the other nations would have no defense against them and no possibility of counter-attack. Thus, if we are to stand up to Russia, in scientific advancement, it would seem that space development is essential.

To most people, the fact that the moon has no atmosphere, no wind and no rain and, consequently, no sound, is a discouraging, rather than an encouraging factor. Most of us would far rather find the moon to be a productive, luxurious plant, with air and livable temperatures, than to find it merely a mass of matter practically unchanged from the time of its creation (or fragmentation) billions of years ago.

One encouraging phase of space exploration, however, is the belief that there are other planets comparable to the earth. The moon is merely the nearest planet. Once it has been reached and explored, the exploration of other planets will be comparatively easy for, by that time, we will have solved many of the secrets of conquering radiation and friction as found in the belts before outer space is reached.

Of course, the matter of how many billions are to be spent on space development is debatable but there can be little question that this development is vitally important to the future of this country.

All the cosmic rays bombarding the earth in a year would weigh only an ounce or two. Only their energy makes them important.

In Australian slang, "fair cow" is an expression used for anything that does not meet with one's unqualified approval.

Some insects live unscathed on insect-eating plants. Certain small moths, for example, lay their eggs only on pitcher plants and the larvae feed on the plant tissues.

Opposes Double Taxes

Monroe, La.

To the Editor

The people of Ouachita Parish are being called upon to approve the issuance of bonds in the amount of $7,000,000.00 to meet the needs of additional pupils for the next 10 years.

I admit that additional schools are needed to take care of the anticipated growth and approve any action to prepare for it. Nevertheless there is apprehension on my part caused by the present attitude of the Ouachita Parish school Board in not endeavoring to explain and justify the proposed projects which were listed in a recent issue of your paper.

I note the following proposals on that list.

1. "Improve site" appears twenty (20) times. This means what?

Some of the sites which are to be improved are for schools built since 1955, others have been in existence for years.

2. "Renovate," "Repair," "Repaint," and "Redecorate," appears eighteen (18) times.

There is at present a 10 mills tax for maintenance of schools, which amount may be raised next year to 12 mills. Why is it necessary to place this in a bond issue payable over 20 years?

3. A cinder track is proposed for Sterlington High School. How many students are now in this school? How many are anticipated? Why is this necessary?

4. A cinder track is proposed for Lakeshore Elementary School. Why?

5. Four new schools are to be built in areas immediately adjacent to the City of Monroe. Two of them are "on Chauvin site owned by board to serve subdivisions of Edgewater Gardens and areas north of DeSiard Road." Are these schools intended to serve students living inside the City limits of Monroe? Two are on the Nutland Road. The latter are extremely close to the site now owned by the Monroe City School Board and an elementary school is presently under construction.

Why must there be competition betweem the school boards at the expense of the public?

When a subdivision is annexed by the City of Monroe the residents thereof find themselves paying two sets of school taxes for years. It is possible for new residential subdivisions to be paying 50 mills for the two sets of schools in the neft few years.

Before we get too deep in debt, wouldn't it be a good idea for the two school boards to clear the atmosphere and adopt a joint long range plan which would take into consideraton the two systems?

I also note that the school board does not intend to issue the full amount of bonds immediately. I suspect that this indicates a disagreement among the members of the board as to the uses to which the money is to be put.

Incidentally, although I live in the City of Monroe, I own property located in the parish and I will be glad to pay all necessary taxes but I would like to know that they are necessary before I have to pay them.

Propaganda Tricks

Jena, La.

To The Editor:

Objectors to the Black River-below - Jonesville site for lock No. 2 of the Ouachita River navigation project are adept in the use of two propaganda tricks to control the thinking of the unwary and the uninformed. They are (1) omitting facts pertinent to a discussion when such disprove their arguments and (2) the use of the "big lie".

They state the fact that 213,000 barrels of oil field brine enter Catahoula Lake's 2,872 - square mile watershed daily, which is 13.6 cubic feet per second. But a fact that they omit is that, based on a 65-year average, 11,800 cubic feet of rain water per second fall on this same watershed. This gives a ratio of fresh water to oil field brine of 868 to 1, which is a harmless trace.

Too, they say that Catahoula Lake spills over into the Larto-Saline lakes area and the maze of bayous in that section which together make one of the most productive fishing grounds in the state. But they omit the fact that Catahoula Lake ceases to overflow into that area when it recedes to a depth of 11½ feet, and at that time, Catahoula Lake is filled with fresh water either from Black or Red river, or both. This last fact, the omitted one, makes it crystal clear that oil field brine can never even remotely affect the Larto-Saline lakes section.

Then the objectors tell an unsuspecting public that 150,000 bales of hay on an average are harvested from Catahoula Lake annually, when, as a matter of fact no hay whatever has been harvested from the lake since 1954, and only a few truck loads then.

They also state that 17,500 head of hogs range on the lake, when, according to the animal census, less than 4,000 hogs are in La-salle Parish where 93 per cent of the lake lies. And range hogs are rapidly diminishing for the reason that they are outlawed in the hill sections and are rapidly giving way to "blooded" hogs, which net the farmer more money.

Those who make the statements above cannot expect anybody who is acquainted with the facts to believe anything else they say, and that is why they have lost their fight.

Another astonishing omission they make is that the water pool behind the Black River dock will make Tensas and Little rivers navigable, will triple the game and commercial fishing area of whole northeast section of the state, and provide a strong incentive for industry to enter an area that is losing population because the people there have no jobs.

With the lock in Black River, boating enthusiasts of Monroe, Columbia, and other towns on Ouachita and Tensas rivers will be able to make cruises to historic Catahoula Lake on week-ends or up the Tensas as far as New Light. This water pool behind the lock in Black River will rival that of the Toledo Bend project in magnitude and can be expected to exceed anything in the South as a fishing ground, as well as to rejuvenate the economy of a great section of northeast Louisiana.

It is urgent upon every businessman, farmer and sportsman to join the fast - growing ranks of those who think realistically and advise the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at Vicksburg, in the name of progress and prosperity, to locate Lock No. 2 in Black River below Jonesville. This gigantic potential will cost, not three million dollars as will the D'Arbonne project, not sixty million dollars as will the Toldeo Bend project — it will cost nothing! Never has anything like this been offered before, and it will never be offered again! Write, telephone, or wire the engineers, and do it today!

E. W. PLUMMER,
Secy.-Mgr., Jena Chamber of Commerce; Sec.-Treas. Catahoula Lake Fish and Game Commission; Past President La Salle Parish Wildlife Association.

Criticizes Article

JONESVILLE, La.

To the Editor:

There appears in today's Monroe Morning World Page 9-A an article by Rick Bryan, World Sports Editor headlined, "Catahoula ducks get one year's lease."

There are so many mistatements in this article that its hard to know where to start calling some of them to your attention.

Mr. Rick Bryan quotes Mr. John D. Culpepper of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries for this article.

In the first paragraph Mr. Culpepper makes the statement that three feet of water held on Catahoula lake would ruin the food crop (Chufa and Wild Millet) at this point let me make this clear to Mr. Culpepper again as we have so many many times before at other joint meetings that we both have had the privilege to attend. No one, not a single advocate of the south of Jonesville location wants, has asked for and will not accept, three feet of water on Catahoula lake. But if Mr. Culpepper will pay a visit to Catahoula lake this week he will find less than three feet of water on the lake and yet it is not dry and there is not any of the famous Chufa or Millet growing on the main part of the lake, yet there are ducks on the lake and have been ducks on the lake even before the water fell below the three feet level. So I am going to remind Mr. Culpepper that as long as there is water on the lake (and it is not dry; there will be ducks on Catahoula lake, but again I remind Mr. Culpepper that we, the advocates of the south of Jonesville location, are asking for and want at least seven feet of water on the main part of the lake and we know from past experience that we will have ducks on Catahoula lake with seven feet of water on the lake. I would like to remind Mr. Culpepper of the food test run on ducks killed on Catahoula lake. When 100 ducks were taken from hunters bags and cut open 97 of the 100 ducks were filled with pin oak acorns and only three had a trace of some kind of grass seed and not a single duck had a Chufa in their craws. We contend that the ducks are not feeding on Chufa from this test. Our argument is as Mr. Culpepper says Catahoula lake is a holding area in the flyways and we say not a feeding grounds.

Now for the pasture lands. I was on Catahoula lake Sunday October 21st in the stock landing area and even though it was dry and his famous Chufa was growing right in with the tremendous luxurious growth of cockle burrs not a single cow was to be seen anywhere on the lake grazing, yet after leaving the lake bottom and driving along the highway back there was about 100 cows feeding on Burmeda grass. On the lake bottom I took pictures showing at least 15 hogs that looked half starved rooting out the Chufa nuts that would not bring five cents per pound on the market.

On numerous occasions we have answered Mr. Culpepper's claims that 629 small stock raisers would be damaged by flooding the lake 12 months in the year. I would like to defy Mr. Culpepper to show the names of 629 small stock raisers that use Catahoula lake. There are hardly that many stock raisers in the whole of La S alle Parish & Catahoula Parish. When you consider that almost 97 per cent of Catahoula Lake is in LaSalle Parish you know that his figures of 629 stock raisers are utterly fantastic, a real blue sky figure.

I have yet to find a commercial fisherman that will agree with Mr. Culpepper's statement that "it would not hurt the spawn, but would reduce the fish per acre."

(Salt sediment trapped in the lake) does not Mr. Culpepper realize that there is a flow into and out of Catahoula the entire year so where would he get the salt impoundment? I can show him pictures taken at the mouth of the Little River (that drains Catahoula lake if Mr. Culpepper does not know this) of thousands and thousands of dead fish, and these pictures were taken this summer when there was less than two feet of water left in the lake. No one has ever seen a first dead fish coming down Catahoula lake when the stage was seven or more feet of water on the lake. These fish were not necessarily killed by salt water because the same amount of water (pollution, salt brine) flows into Catahoula lake almost every day in the year, yet dead fish come down Little River from the lake only after the water falls below three feet deep on the lake.

Is this alone not proof enough to convince the average man that seven feet of water should be held on the lake the year round?

Now for Mr. Culpepper's greatest error. He states he has talked to the people of the Jonesville area at the grass roots level. At least 80 per cent of the little men are against the south of Jonesville location at this time."

I would like to wager a little bet with Mr. Culpepper. He cannot find in the Jonesville area 80 people (not 80 per cent, 80 people) who are against the south of Jonesville location. I do not know just how little his "little men" are but I can tell him truthfully that for every eight "little men" he says is against his location I will produce 100 big men of Jonesville that are for the south of Jonesville location. I just wonder how little some men can get and still stand on two feet.

Mr. Culpepper mentions three organizations that favor his position in the matter. We have resolutions from 27 civic organizations, police juries, town councils endorsing the south of Jonesville location. Does Mr. Culpepper oppose home rule? Is he so opposed to letting the people that are effected make their own decisions that he has to resort to mild and irresponsible statements or would the hired hands do as they please with our natural God - given resources?

The final statement about the lake being virtually dry except for a few months in the year. Transpose this statement as you should all the other made in his statement and you find that Catahoula lake is flooded much more of the time than its dry. If he had lived in Louisiana and especially in central Louisiana long enough he would not have made this statement.

This letter is written to attempt to correct again some of the many false statements that seem to have a way of getting in the daily Press.

COPE Defended

To the Editor:

In your editorial of Thursday, October 26, 1961, "Texas Watched Again," you refer to over 5,000 good and responsible citizens of our area as "shock troops." In order to correct this false impression, I wish to furnish for you, and your readers, the following factual information concerning the Ouachita Parish Committee on Political Education AFL-CIO.

The Committee on Political Education is exactly what the name implies. This can best be described by quoting from the objectives as expressed in our by-laws. (1) Inform AFL-CIO members, their families, neighbors and friends on political issues and activities which vitally effect the welfare of the people of our community, parish, state and nation. (2) Encourage and assist all AFL-CIO members, their families neighbors and friends to become qualified voters and to exercise their full right and responsibilities as citizens. To you, those may be the objectives of "shock troops," to us, they are the objectives of a group of citizens united in an effort to promote good citizenship and active political participation on all levels.

It occurs to me, (because of your name for us) that you may have objections to the methods we use in our efforts to obtain our desires. Ask any person who has been a candidate for political office in our area in the last three years, what he thinks of his association with COPE. I believe that all of them, whether supported by this committee or not, will tell you of the respect and fairness afforded them by our organization. One final thought concerning "shock troops." I do not recall any reference of this nature, in 1960, when your newspaper and this committee, were both supporters of Jimmy Davis in his bid for the governorship of Louisiana. Are we "shock troops" only when our political opinions differ?

Membership in this organization is completely voluntary and is financed through voluntary contributions by members and their friends. I do not know your source of information concerning the finances of COPE, however, any member of COPE can, as can I, assure you that we are far from "well heeled."

This information is furnished in a sincere desire to correct your opinion and the false impression you gave of this committee and its members.

UNICEF Is Defended

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Mr. R. B. Martin's charges against UNICEF in last Sunday's paper have brought confusion and worry to a number of people who might have joined in the "Trick or Treat" collection of coins for UNICEF's work with children around the world. This is unfortunate.

Information which I have concerning UNICEF from the United States Committee for UNICEF and other sources indicate that Mr. Martin has a number of misconceptions about its work.

1. He charges that UNICEF is Communist dominated. Actually UNICEF is governed by a board on which thirty governments have representations. These members are chosen at regular intervals by the General Assembly with due regard to geographical distribution. Each member nation has one vote. There have never been more than four countries with communist or modified communist forms of government on the board. I presume that representatives of these governments would be communists, but it would be unlikely for four representatives to dominate the board.

In addition, out of 513 currently employed by UNICEF two are citizens of communist countries. All countries in the U.N. have a right to have some of their nationals employed in the U. N. Secretariat. All of the United States citizens employed by UNICEF have been favorably approved by the International Organizations Employees Loyalty Board and are subject to investigation by the United States Government under the provisions of Executive Order 10422.

2. Another charge is that UNICEF aid goes to countries with communist governments. UNICEF was established in 1946, and during the first three years of its existence brought emergency aid to children in fourteen war-devastated countries of Europe and China. For example, $1,909,500 went to mainland China during the time when General Chiang Kai-Shek was in control. During that time aid did go to Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Yugoslavia. It should be noted that all of these countries were not then communist. Beginning in 1950 UNICEF directed its work toward meeting long - term health and nutrition needs of children in economically underdeveloped countries.

In the period from 1951 to 1960 only two countries with Communist forms of government received aid from UNICEF. These were Poland and Yugoslavia, both of whom are receiving direct aid from the United States. Of total funds allocated by the Executive Board since 1950, the allocations to Poland and Yugoslavia in this period represent a little over three per cent.

In addition the Board allocated $700,000 in December, 1956 to meet emergency needs of mothers and children in Hungary and of Hungarian refugee children in Austria. This money did not pass through the hands of the Hungarian government.

3. A final charge is that UNICEF aid does not actually reach children. I think Mr. Martin is inferring that UNICEF is not a direct service agency but assists programs administered by the recipient countries.

Every government for whose programs UNICEF provides supplies, must agree to accept certain responsibilities of its own The beneficiary country, on the average, matches every dollar in UNICEF allocation by $2.50 in local personnel and resources.

In addition, the United State like other governments, sends observers from both the Executiv and Legislative branches to verify UNICEF work. Diplomatic an consular staffs report on th work continuously. Favorable testimony of U. S. Government observers on UNICEF accomplishments has been expressed befor Congressional Committees.

The truth is that UNICEF ha touched the lives of millions c children. To mention only a fe figures, up to this year, mor than 100 million persons hav been vaccinated against tuberc losis with BCG vaccine provide by UNICEF; nearly 30 millio persons in 35 countries have bee cured of yaws with UNICEF-su plied penicillin; nearly four mi lion children have been treated i eleven countries for trachoma a related eye diseases with med cines provided by UNICEF; UN CEF has furnished technic equipment for maternal and chil health work in five thousand ru al health centers together wit their related sub-centers. In 195 UNICEF gave assistance to chi feeding programs reaching ov six million children in 72 cou tries.

UNICEF has the full support the major religious organizatio in America. Recently, Pope Joh XXIII made the seventh contri ution to the work of the Ch dren's Fund by the Holy See. Th United Church Women suppor its humanitarian work. The Co sultative Council of Jewish O ganizations has noted "with de satisfaction the progress made UNICEF in its world - wide fort to improve the health a welfare of children everywhere President Eisenhower has writt his endorsement and appreciati for the program of UNICE President Kennedy has said "T work of UNICEF must be pu sued untiringly and with undim ished support. The problems hunger, education and child w fare are as widespread today in the past. The best attack these problems lies precisely the kind of co-operative eff which characterizes UNICEF am confident that UNICEF w remain a foremost concern to Americans because it engag both the idealistic zeal and pr tical imagination of a free pe ple."

All of which causes me to Mr. Martin, "What are you fo In the turmoil of our times it not enough just to be agai something. UNICEF is only program. He is certainly entit to his opinion of it, even tho I do not believe it will stand to careful analysis. But what p gram of human understandi concern for the hungry people the world, sympathy and supp for children with yaws, tracho leprosy, is he for?

In this time when man is m ing fantastic preparations to I am happy to share in program which helps children live.

A Woman's Inclined To Do Good

The editorial printed below is from the Asheville, North Carolina Citizen. We didn't have the nerve to write it ourselves, so we're going to let someone else say for us what we'd like to say. So here it is:

It is a calamity when the wife of a husband, who's been interested in her husband, becomes interested, instead, in a woman's organization. Or not merely interested — involved. He sits at home in a futile attempt to reconcile his bank statement while she drives all over town collecting improbable sums for unlikely causes.

Does he hunger for steak-and-onions? He settles for chicken-noodle soup. He pleads for a little attention; she demands twelve dollars. "Don't you want to support," she says, "a worthy cause?" It's a good question. Essentially unanswerable.

But we've got news for the trusting sponsors: Choose carefully your emissaries and coach them well in their questions. One of these days, one of those neglected husbands is going to turn up with an answer. And will you be surprised.

What's Wrong With Profit

While we are printing editorials from other newspapers around the nation, here is another that struck our fancy. It is from the Dallas, Texas Times Herald and deals with the much-criticized profit motives which made America great. The editorial follows:

What's wrong with making a profit, anyway? There's been a lot of criticism of profits and the profit motive in recent years. We keep hearing that we're too prosperous, that Americans have become an affluent people.

We're even told that we can't win the war against communism because we've become too prosperous. And at the same time we're urged to give away more billions to other countries because they're too poor to stand alone against communism. It doesn't make sense.

All this criticism — by the lazy, the indigent, the intellectual snobs and the enemies of the free enterprise system — have made profit sound almost like a dirty word. Well, just what's wrong with earning a profit? Whether they admit it or not, a profit—earned or otherwise — is the goal most of the critics are scrambling for. America was built on the private initiative or free enterprise system. And the profit motive is the heart of it.

There's hardly a thing in this country that we treasure today that has not been served by the profit motive. The better life our ancestors dreamed of was made possible by it. So were the great scientific and medical advances. So, even, are the churches and spiritual organizations able to reach more people because of it. And our economic and military strength, that have brought us through two world wars and many smaller ones, have stemmed directly from the profit system.

Let's stop kidding ourselves—or allowing our enemies to kid us. Profits have a place—an honored place—in American life and American society. Without profit there would be no America as we know it. Junk the profit motive and we would have as dull, as drab and as unpleasant a place as the Communist countries which would like to have us abolish profits in favor of socialism.

Gimme The Cash

Our friend H. M. James brought in the following item, which we think is good enough to pass on. If people would stop and realize what they are getting in the way of benefits, we suspect most would be surprised. Here is the item in full:

Once there was a fellow named John Bright. John worked for a very progressive outfit. One day John got a pamphlet about fringe benefits. According to the pamphlet, the company thought so much of John that it was giving him fringe benefits costing 62 cents an hour.

As John was suffering from a financial virus known as the "shorts," this news gave him a brilliant idea. He rushed down to the personnel office.

"Look," he said to the personnel director, "we're one big happy family, right?"

"Right," the personnel director beamed.

"You like to see me happy, huh?"

"The happier you are, John, the happier we are."

"Well, would you like to see me really happy?"

"You name it!" the director said.

"Okay," John said, "you see this pamphlet? Well, according to it, the company is giving me fringe benefits that cost 62 cents an hour. If you want to make me really happy, let's convert that to cash. You give me the 62 cents an hour and you keep the benefits."

The director almost wept. "But, John," he pleaded, "you won't be happy without those benefits."

"For 62 cents an hour extra, I can enjoy being miserable. That'll come to $107.26 extra a month!"

"But, John, fringe benefits are worth a lot more than the money involved. They make this a nicer place to work. They give you peace of mind!"

"With $107.26 extra," John leered, "I'll have peace of mind. So will my creditors."

"John, do you really want it this way?"

"Look," John said, "when you talk benefits, I don't get the message. When you talk money, though — I read you loud and clear."

"Heed not the rumble of a distant drum. Gimme that cash and let the benefits go."

So John went home that evening a very happy man.

"Give that chuck roast to the dog," he told his wife. "We're eating steak. I got over a hundred dollar a month raise today."

His wife was real impressed—until she heard how he had done it.

"You think that was smart?" she said.

"Certainly it was smart! What benefits can they give me that will be worth $107.26 a month? You sound like a personnel director."

So the next morning, with a light heart and a head to match, John got in his car and started for work.

When he arrived, there was a note for him to call his wife.

"John," his wife said, when he telephoned her, "Junior stuck a pea up his nose and it has worked its way into his head. He's in the hospital."

"In the hospital!" John gasped.

"Well, he's just like you," his wife said. "He's got a brain the size of a pea and the doctor says they've got to be real careful that they don't make a mistake and remove the brain instead of the pea. It's going to cost us $21 a day."

"Twenty-one dollars a day!" John gasped again.

"Yes, he's got to have a semi-private room. That pea rattling around his head disturbs everybody. He sounds like the gourd section of Xavier Cugat's band."

"Well, thank the Lord I've got hospitalization!" John wheezed.

"But have you?"

With that John raced down to the personnel director's office.

"My boy's in the hospital with a pea in his head. You haven't cut off my hospitalization, have you?"

"I had to, John," the personnel director sighed. "It's a benefit. The company spent $320,000 on it last year. You put up about half, and the company puts up about half. Here's your half refund."

John stared down at the refund. "But I couldn't keep a dog at the vet's for this. How much will it cost me to get as much hospitalization as I had?"

"About four times as much as you were contributing," the director said. "You see, the company gets it wholesale. You have to buy it retail."

"I ought to be shot!" John said.

"You can't afford it!" the director replied. "We've cut off your life insurance. That's another benefit. It cost the company $237,000 last year. Here's the refund for what you put into it."

John looked at the refund and sighed. "How much will it cost me to get as much insurance as I had?"

"About quadruple what you have been paying. The company gets that wholesale too."

John looked like he was going to cry. "I need a good long rest!" he said.

"You can't afford that either!" the director said. "Vacations with pay are another benefit. They cost the company $715,000 last year. You'll be losing $22 a day on vacation."

"I think I'll just retire!" John whimpered.

"You can't afford that, either. Your pension has been cut off. That's another benefit. The company spent $675,000 on pensions last year. To get an annuity that would match your pension, it would cost you 10 per cent of your salary per month."

"Well, I know what I can do!" John said grimly. "I can punch you right in the mouth. You let me think that those benefits amounted to just $107.26 a month. You didn't tell me it would cost so much to duplicate them."

With that John hauled off and took a swing at the director. The director ducked and John's fist went through a window.

The director sighed. "That's a benefit too, John. The company's medical costs were over $100,000 last year."

"Well, at least you can sympathize with me," John whined.

"That's a benefit too, John. The company spent $27,800 on morale and recreation expense last year."

"Well, can I make a suggestion?"

"Sure, as long as you don't expect a suggestion award. What is it?"

"All I want to suggest," John said, "is this: take back your lousy money and give me back my benefits."

Progress Of Mental Ills Is Traced

HIGH ON A HILL. By Lucy Daniels. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

The tensions of contemporary life have given all of us an interest in the accidents and compulsions which send some individuals among us to the well of psychiatric treatment.

Therefore this novel, whose locale is a private mental hospital carries a certain fascination related to the problems of adjustment which few of us manage to escape.

In this narrative the principal figure is Dr. David Holliday, director of a hospital known as Holly Springs, and in these pages we see how he struggles to create within a special world a system of mental clarity which his patients desperately need.

There is a subsidiary theme about the love affair of a resident member of the staff, Dr. Phil Pierson, and a young nurse, Eileen O'Hara, who became a patient because she had suffered two broken love affairs and was terrified at the thought of any more.

The key to this entire narrative is the fact that most of the patients make progress from the violent wards to the open wards, and then into the world again. There are failures, of course, and most of them are tied to some one flaw that is fatal. But there is a solid hope for most of the victims who are depicted in this sensitive story.

Rescue Of A Woman Theme Of This Book

A PASSION IN ROME. By Morley Callaghan. Coward McCann. $4.95.

In this novel the central theme is the rehabilitation of a young American singer, Anna Connel, who has risen to prominence too fast from a shabby background.

After a theatrical flop she had fled to Rome with an aging movie director and had taken an alcoholic refuge in the psychotic notion that she was an entirely different person, a woman of ancient Rome. In short, she had become a tramp, a badly mixed up tramp.

Her rescuer is Sam Raymond, who at 39 had given up trying to be a serious painter and had pursued his bread and butter occupation of news photographer to the point where he was one of the best. Coming to Rome to cover the death of Pius XII and the selection of John XXIII, he chances to meet Anna on the street and is drawn into a love affair with her.

In the beginning Anna is in the depths of degradation and Sam feels a compulsion to bring her out of it. At the end, she has fought her way through to sanity and confidence with his help, but he realizes that if they were to stay together his personality would be lost in hers.

Callaghan makes the Roman scene come alive. He is adept at atmospheric description and skillful in the art of tracing the emotional naunces experienced by two highly charged characters. It must be reported that there are some passages in this book that do not ring quite true, and while Anna Connel is a remarkably exotic personality she is a little overdrawn at times.

NEW COMPACT PROJECTOR — A sealed cartridge, containing 50 feet of 8mm movie film, is slipped into rear slot, eliminating need of threading or rewinding film. The 'instant movie projector' starts and stops immediately by turning one knob.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeaures

A radically new 8mm movie projector is at hand, so small that it looks like a table radio and so easy to run that a child can operate it.

The ease of handling is due to the fact that there are no starting and take-up reels and consequently no theading or rewinding of film. The new projector uses instead a slip-in, slip-out plastic cartridge. Sealed inside the cartridge is a 50-foot reel of 8mm movie film with the beginning and end joined together to form an endless loop. Since the film is entirely enclosed except for one small section where it emerges for projecting, it is protected from normal handling, fingerprint smudges and ever - present dust.

This unique innovation in home movies is called the Technicolor Instant Movie Projector. It weighs almost seven pounds, has a retractable electric cord and a f-1.5 zoom lens with a 15mm to 25mm range. Its 150-watt lamp has a built-in reflector which gives it a lighting efficiency said to be equal to that of a normal 500-watt lamp.

After inserting a film cartridge into a slot in the rear of the projector, turning one knob is all that is required to start the movie showing immediately. It also turns out whatever room lamp is plugged into the projector and turns it back on when the movies are stopped.

The cartridge can be removed at any point in its run and replaced with another cartridge. When it slips into its groove, it comes into contact with the mechanism which propels the film around and around, automatically repeating if so wanted.

Film must be processed by Technicolor to be put into these special plastic cartridges. This presents one disadvantage: the film is sealed in without being edited, except for blank footage which is automatically removed.

At present, only 50-foot cartridges are available for the projector but the company plans to make them with a 200-foot capacity next. Any peviously processed film can be sealed into a 50-foot cartridge at a cost of about a dollar.

The inability to edit film properly wihout destroying the cartridge presents a problem. There are occasions when over or under - exposure should be eliminated and when a film story can be improved by re-arranging sequences or adding titles. For good home movies then, a fan would be obliged to own a normal projector as well as the special cartridge projector. It's not an economical proposition.

It's more likely that owners of the new projector must be prepared to take pot luck with their films or make a special effort to get good movies on the first try.

The cartridge projector makes another prospect likely: that of a film library with other than home movies. The company is planning a catalog of 500 educational, instructional, sport, travel and cartoon films in 50-foot cartridges. It could also become a tool in visual aid teaching in schools and industry and an economical form of store window or advertising display.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Concert Groups Slate Lectures

By JOHN CALE

Borrowing a page from the old lyceum series, the concert groups in Monroe and Ruston scheduled lectures for opening numbers on their respective programs this season.

Following Willy Ley's well - attended talk on rockets and missiles here two weeks ago, the Louisiana Tech series will feature a lecture by Nila Magidoff to open its series Thursday. Miss Magidoff, a refugee from Soviet Russia who has held United States citizenship for a number of years, will speak at 8 p.m. at Tech's Howard Auditorium.

HORNBLOWER

Since taking his French Horn into the military service with him, Sgt. Kenneth Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stone, 2308 Bienville, Monroe, has chalked up some interesting accomplishments.

The climax came last Tuesday when Sgt. Stone performed with the National Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall in New York. The program featured Irene Jordan, soprano, in a new opera by Vittoria Giannini.

Stone entered the U. S. Army after playing in Monroe's Neville High School band and taking some music study at Northeast State College. He was promptly dispatched to the Navy School of Music, which shows there is still such a thing as inter - service co-operation — at least in one field.

Then he joined an Army unit and found it had been selected to serve as marching band for the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. So while pulling duty at "the Point," Sgt. Stone and others from his unit were auditioned for last Tuesday's Carnegie Hall appearance.

IRON MAN

In celebrating what he calls his 25th New York anniversary, pianist Artur Rubinstein has slated 10 solo recitals at Carnegie Hall to be played between now and December 10.

The Polish - born master of the keyboard actually played his first American concert in 1907. But he did not make headlines as a performer here until 30 years after that. His reasoning in the matter, as reported by New York Times writer Harold Schonberg, is something for young scale - runners and keyboard climbers to ponder.

"When I was young," Rubinstein said, "I was lazy."

"I had talent, but there were many things in life more important than practicing. When I played in the Latin countries —Spain, France and Italy — they loved me because of my temperament. But when I played in England and America, they felt that because they paid their money they were entitled to hear all the notes. I dropped too many notes in those days and they felt they were cheated."

So in the early 1930's, Rubinstein went through sort of a soul-searching period where he made a conscious effort to play more correct notes and at the same time retain his temperament.

This is difficult to do because it is hard to strain at a gnat without suffering from signs of strain. Usually a particular musician — particular about playing all the notes — has all the carefree fire and dash of an allergy lab technician counting the grains of pollen in a cubic yard of air.

Your Middle Years

A booklet called Your Middle Years by Howard Whitman and distributed by the Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa, is one of the best on this subject that we've seen.

Whitman deals with the last half of life from around 40 on all. One chapter in the booklet deals with age. It says:

"If you are middle - aged, don't fall into the trap of thinking you are all grown-up. If you're really alive, you'll still be growing up at 90. Growth is the elemental quality of life. And it is continual burgeoning growth within us, the changing from day to day that makes life exciting — and rewarding. People who keep on growing never really feel old. They simply feel alive."

The New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Problems for the Aging has listed three major reasons why people get old before their time. They are:

1. Failure to have outside interest after 40.
2. A tendency to live in and for the past, rather than for the future.
3. Failure to learn something new.

According to Whitman here is simple growth test that may be of help: check the questions that you can answer yes:

1. Do you keep up with the news of world affairs and community affairs daily?
2. Have you taken on a new hobby within the past year — or learned a new sport?
3. Are you able to listen to opposing opinions without becoming irritable?
4. Do you read book, music, art and drama reviews — do you keep up with new trends in the arts?
5. Do you find yourself thinking more about other people and less about yourself?
6. Have you hanged your ideas on at least one major subject lately?
7. Do you feel quite able to cope with future changes in your activities or way of living?
8. Have you learned a new skill within the past year?
9. Have you opened up any new field of knowledge lately — have you started to pursue a new interest
10. Are you vitally interested in young people — are you keeping up with what's new in their world?
11. Do you find that you are becoming more kind to the people close to you?

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

At the Ouachita Parish Public Library we order most of our books before publication date. It is always satisfying when a patron comes in and asks for a book, which has just been reviewed in one of the national media and we have it ready and waiting. Books added during the past week will appeal to a variety of readers. There are two new crime club mysteries: "Rogues Ransom" by Gordon Ashe and "Deaf, Dumb and Blonde" by Anthony Morton. Both of these stories are exciting and full of action. Those who like westerns will want to read "The Shaming of Broken Horn" by Grover C. Gulick. In the more serious fiction field there are two new novels. "The New Ambassadors" is the title of the new book by Edwin Gilbert. This major novel presents a refreshingly new portrait of contemporary Americans in Paris. This is a study of two cultures in change and conflict and is alive with the follies and virtues of both. Bet of all it is a vital love story with great emotional impact, suspense and compelling vigor. The other book is the last one written by Neville Shute. The title is "Stephen Morris." This is really two novels in one book and they both deal with the early days of commercial aviation. Mr. Shute's many admirers will be happy that the book is in the library collection.

Books of non-fiction continue to offer material on a variety of subjects. "A Guide to Rational Living" by Albert Ellis is a self-help book with many good ideas. "You Can Trust the Communists To Do Exactly As They Say" is the title of the book by Fredrick Schwarz. This is a fine book in the fight against communism and we are very happy to have four copies for the library, which were sent to us by the publishers Prentice-Hall, as a gift

Another book which every American should read is "The Price of Liberty" by Alan Berth. This book should make many people wake up before it is too late. In 1959 Oscar Lewis made a study of five Mexican families and published it under the title "Five Families." Last week the supplement to this book, "The Children of Sanchez" was published by Random House. I happened to hear Mr. Cerf, the president of Random House say that he considered this book the outstanding fall publication from his presses. We had just catalogued the book the day before he made this announcement.

A practical book and one which should be much used in this community is "How to Assemble Boats from Kits" by Robert Scharff. A perfectly fascinating new book is "The Treasury of the Automobile" by Ralph Stein. This book takes the automobile from its beginning to the present time and covers the situation thoroughly. It is a most interesting book to read or even to examine. Another book which will appeal to men is "Guns of the Old West" by Charles E. Chapel. This book is profusely illustrated and contains much valuable information.

A very lovely history of art is "Art and Illusion" by E. H. Gombrich. This is one of the outstanding books of 190 and is a most valuable addition to the library collection. Another beautiful book is "Indians of North America" by Harold Edson Driver. This is a comprehensive and accurate portrayal of the Indian tribes who inhabited this country in the early days.

Three new books written especially for young people are "Stranger No More" by Iris Noble, which is a good teen-age love story and two books about the Civil War "Abe Lincoln's Secret Weapons" by Wise and "The Gray Sea Raiders" by Gordon D. Shirreffs.

Patrick Dennis, the author of "Auntie Mame" has written a new book called "Little Me," which purports to be the autobiography of a burlesque star, Belle Poitrine, but which is probably all fiction. A new play taken from the book will soon appear on Broadway.

Recall Civil War Incident

EDITOR'S NOTE — A hundred years ago this week an incident at sea very nearly supplied the spark which could have transformed the Civil War from a family fight into an international conflict. The rhubarb is known as the "Trent Affair" and was a critical turning point in Southern efforts to enlist foreign support for the Confederacy.

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Writer

"He will give us trouble," said an observer when Capt. Charles Wilkes, U. S. Navy, was commissioned to run down Confederate privateers. "He has a superabundance of self-esteem and a deficiency of judgment."

The predicted trouble came on the gray noon of Nov. 8, 1861, off the coast of Cuba when the U. S. Navy sloop San Jacinto, Capt. Wilkes commanding, ran down, not a Confederate privateer, but the British Royal Mail packet Trent.

The incident came within a few cool heads of touching off a war between Great Britain and the already war-torn United States. It was one of the few surface manifestations of a silent, secret war fought by diplomats in cutaway coats.

Along with its mailbags, the Trent carried two important passengers, James M. Mason of Virginia and John Slidell of Louisiana, en route as commissioners of the Confederate government to seek British and French aid for the Southern cause.

The interception of the Trent was premeditated. The Mason-Slidell mission was common knowledge in North and South. Orders were out to stop them. But it was unfortunate that Capt. Wilkes happened to be the man to carry them out.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Capt. Wilkes was a naval officer of considerable renown. He was an authirity on meteorology and the author of 11 books and atlases. He was America's first artarctic explorer and left his name on the white continent in "Wilkes Land."

But he was also reputed a tough, independent sea captain in a day when no sea captain was sweetly reasonable. He started his greatest voyage of exploration with 585 men: 23 died and 127 deserted. He was court-martialled for oppressing his men: convicted and reprimanded.

This was the man entrusted with the delicate task of boarding a vessel of a powerful, neutral nation to take into custody two enemy diplomats, an act that smacked strongly of impressment for which the United States fought Britain in 1812.

Capt. Wilkes took the direct approach. He stopped the Trent, removed Mason and Slidell by force and waved the Britisher on its way.

He returned with his prisoners to a tumultous welcome. New York gave him keys to the city and marched him down Broadway to a city hall reception. The House of Representatives voted him a gold medal.

English reaction was predictably different.

Her majesty's government dispatched 8,000 troops to Canada. A squadron of steam warships was readied for sea. Export of war materials was banned. A false step could have meant a war for which the Confederacy fervently hoped.

American Secretary of State William Seward reportedly told an English correspondent: "We will wrap the whole world in flames. No power is so remote that she will not feel the fire of our battle and be burned in our conflagration."

The British prime minister, Lord Palmerston, drafted a stiff note to the American government, which fortunately, had to pass through Queen Victoria and her influential consort, Prince Albert, who softened the terms considerably.

When finally in January 1862 Mason and Slidell were released to continue their missions, people were not long in wondering just what all the shouting was about. Both failed miserably in their efforts to secure recognition for the Confederacy.

Mason, 63, a former senator, outraged the British by rising in the visitors' gallery of the House of Commons to cheer pro-Southern speeches and by his habit of spitting tobacco juice on expensive carpets.

Slidell, 68, a New Yorker turned Louisianian, made no headway at the French court of Emperor Napoleon III, who was making a strong pitch for Yankee friendship in his efforts to conquer Mexico for his Austrian puppet, Maximilian

Other Confederate diplomats fared little better.

At the start of the war, the South was certain it held a trump card in foreign affairs. It supplied more than three-quarters of the raw cotton for the mills of England and France. "King cotton diplomacy," Southerners called it.

Unfortunately for the Confederacy, the English mills had piled up large surpluses of finished textiles and raw cotton in 1861. At the same time English wheat crops failed, leaving a gap that only the northwestern United States could fill.

Men Of Industry Slated In Study

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., says the talents of men from industry will underwrite the accuracy of the Senate's national fuels policy study.

The oil, gas, and coal industries have loaned to the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee four experts as assistants and consultants to a study group which is to do the spade work on the controversial study.

"Their talents will be our best guarantee a careful and accurate job will be done," Anderson said.

Anderson said his committee has instructed the study group to make some sort of a skeleton report by late January or early February.

Dr. Charles J. Potter, president of the Rochester & Pittsburg Coal Co.

Herbert J. Bickel, a gas economist with Texas Eastern Transmission Corp.

Anderson told the Independent Petroleum Association of America convention the past week the men were not selected to represent their respective industries.

"They were not selected as spokesmen," he said. "They were selected because they are eminently knowledgeable about their respective industries or know where to turn for information they themselves do not have."

Senators from oil, coal, and consumer states were named ex officio members of the study group—Clair Engle, D-Calif., Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., and Norris Cotton, R-N.H.

Anderson outlined this objective: "A fuels and energy policy that will make as certain as is humanly possible that if anything is going to hold up the growth to hamper its security, it is not going to be a lack of energy."

Oil and coal interests exchanged bitter words last year over proposed fuels policy studies. Oil spokesmen charged coal with trying to gain an advantage over its competitors by seeking end-use controls to prevent oil and gas from serving customers in coal areas. Coal spokesmen denied the charges.

Oil spokesmen objected particularly to early congressional resolutions which they said implied the nation was in danger of running out of oil and gas.

Last year's presidential campaign gave indication a study would get under way this year regardless who won in the race between John F. Kennedy and Richard Nixon.

The Democratic platform called for establishment of a national fuels policy. The Republican platform called for long range minerals and fuels planning and programming.

In January, Frank Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said the oil industry long has taken the position the nation's policy of free consumer choice among competing fuels is in itself a successful fuels policy.

Porter charged the coal industry with being the leading supporter of the fuels policy study proposals but, in a letter to Kennedy, then president-elect, pledged support for an impartial and objective study.

Most oil trade groups neither endorsed nor opposed the Senate resolution that instructed Anderson's committee to get the study under way. They merely pledged cooperation.

The resolution calls for a study of the nation's ability to meet current and future demand for energy, a review of existing laws and policies, and, finally, consideration of policy modification.

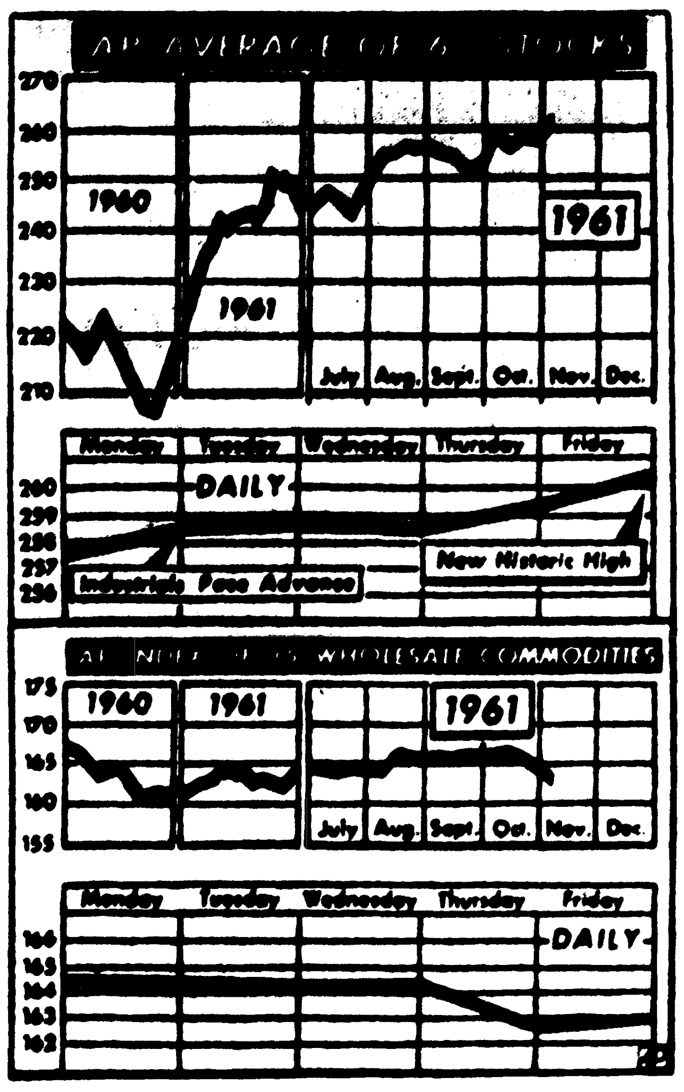
Anderson said the study group will carry out the first two steps.

"They have been instructed to scrub the facts clean for us," he said.

Gov. Barnett Says Local Rule Best

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Southern resistance to centralized government may hold the fate of the nation, Gov. Ross Barnett told the 11-state Confederate States Civil War Centennial Conference Friday.

"Our forefathers knew and southerners today know that no matter how wise and well-meaning the national government might be, it cannot administer local and state affairs as wisely and as well as the American on the scene, living with the problems," he said.



ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks advanced sharply this week. Closing today at 260.3—a new historic high—from 257.5 a week ago. Led by industrials the commodity index declined for the third straight week, closing today at 163.0 from 164.4 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Government, Business Eye Vital Problem

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The government and a big segment of business directed sharp attention to the vital problems of foreign trade during the week.

More than 2,000 businessmen engaged in international commerce gathered in New York City for the National Foreign Trade convention.

They heard the Kennedy Administration advocate a foreign economic policy of open competitive trading for the entire non-Communist world. And they voiced demands that this country act to eliminate foreign restrictions against its exporters.

On the domestic front, the United Auto Workers Union and Chrysler Corp. reached agreement on a new three-year contract just before the Thursday midnight strike deadline.

The contract, covering 60,000 workers, was to be submitted to local unions for approval. Terms were substantially the same as those in contracts signed by General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. after UAW strikes. The UAW estimated that the GM and Ford agreements meant 12 cents an hour take-home pay over each year of the contracts.

The administration's proposal for a new international trade policy was outlined by George W. Ball, undersecretary of state for economic affairs, in a speech to the trade convention.

He said the President should be given power to make "much broader and more ambitious bargain on behalf of United States industry." And, he added, there must be a basis for an open trading world extending beyond the European Common Market.

Earlier, Christian A. Herter, a secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration, and William L. Clayton, undersecretary of state for economic affairs in the Truman administration, had recommended a trade partnership with the European Common Market and a departure from restrictions on international trade.

Overtime operations by General Motors and Ford, catching up after the strike shutdowns, kept auto production at a high level during the week. Output was estimated at 152,000 passenger cars, second this year only to the previous week's 159,136.

Production in October totaled 557,200 cars, a drop of 60,000 from October 1960, due to the two-week strike at Ford. The industry scheduled assembly of 680,000 cars for this month, highest in 21 months.

Steel output during the week posted an increase after three weekly declines. The total of 2,057,000 tons was 0.7 per cent above the previous week.

This brought the total for the year to 78,721,000 tons, down 8.5 per cent from the comparable 1960 period.

October production showed little improvement over September and not much of an increase was expected for November. Industry executives expressed disappointment that orders from the automakers are increasing at such a slow rate.

A flood of corporate earning reports gushed from directors meetings. Profits exceeded those of the 1960 third quarter showing recovery from the recession. But results were spotty.

Among companies reporting were two of the country's biggest, Ford and U.S. Steel. Ford announced earnings of $79.8 million, highest since the firm became publicly owned in 1956, and well above the $51.4 million a year ago. U.S. Steel's profit inched downward to $51.7 million from $52.4 million in the 1960 third quarter.

Castro Renews Invasion Charge

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro again accused the United States Saturday of organizing "a new armed aggression" against Cuba.

He said "the Yankee imperialists' warlike policies" pose a grave threat to world peace. Cuban "war criminals, old-time big exploiters, Falangist priests and mercenaries of all kinds" are conspiring with the U.S. government to invade Cuba, he said.

Castro reiterated his often-made charges in a message to the International Students Union, which is observing its 15th anniversary.

Chemist Set As Speaker For Meeting

The November meeting of the South Arkansas Section of the American Chemical Society will be held at the Louisiana Tech student center in Ruston on November 7 at 7 p.m., with Dr. Raymond C. Sangster, nationally known chemist, as featured speaker.

The dinner meeting tickets cost $1.75, and reservations may be made by contacting H. E. Moseley, department of chemistry, Louisiana Tech, Ruston, telephone AL. 5-2750, extension 357, Dr. August G. Danti, associate professor of pharmacy at Northeast Louisiana State College and chairman of the ACS membership and publicity committee, has announced.

Dr. Sangster joined Texas Instruments in 1954 as head of the silicon production project. After carrying this project from research phases through to a production plant, he became director of the Material Research Department in 1957. In the fall of '58 he became a research associate for the Central Research Laboratories.

From 1952-54 he did semiconductor research for Hughes Aircraft Co. During 1951-52 he was a research associate in chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, engaged in post-doctoral research on organic phosphors for scintillation counters. From 1948-49 he was a research assistant in chemistry at MIT. Previously he was an Atomic Energy Commission predoctoral fellow.

In May, 1948, he was awarded the American Institute of Chemists Student Medal. He has published articles in the fields of organic scintillation, crystal growth, and physical properties of germanium.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Physical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Phi Beta Kappa, and Sigma Xi.

Officers Break Up LSU Rally

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Officers using tear gas, fire hoses and police dogs broke up an unruly crowd of 300 Louisiana State University students early Saturday after a campus pep rally on the eve of the Mississippi-LSU football clash.

INSTEAD OF CONGRESS

Court May Decide Gas Price Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court instead of Congress may be first to resolve one of the toughest natural gas pricing problems facing the Federal Power Commission.

The issue is whether an interstate pipeline company can legally file for new rate increases before the commission has had time to dispose of its previous rate increase applications.

Willmut Gas and Oil Co., Hattiesburg, Miss., has asked the court to decide the question — commonly known as price-pyramiding—which also is pending before Senate Commerce Committee probers.

By refusing to review Willmut's appeal, the court would leave any solution up to Congress. But by consenting to review it could sweep aside a pricing jungle that long has plagued the pipelines, the FPC, home and commercial gas consumers, and state regulatory bodies.

COMMITTEE GETS NOWHERE

The Senate committee looked into pyramiding last summer but got nowhere on corrective legislation. It will take it up again in January. The FPC itself is seeking a way out but is bound by terms of the 1938 Natural Gas Act until such time as the court or Congress chops out the path.

As of now the commission says it has no power to reject pyramids which, more than anything else, has slowed its price-regulation functions to a crawl.

Willmut does not agree. It asserts the commission has "abdicated its jurisdiction." That is the substance of its challenge in the Supreme Court.

Willmut buys its gas — both commercial and industrial—from United Gas Pipe Line Co., of Shreveport, La. United asked the FPC to approve several rate increases. While these were pending it filed for superseding increases.

Willmut asked the commission to turn down the superseding hikes or, in lieu of this, accept them for consideration, throw out all the previous increases, and order United to make applications. Willmut contested this in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals which last July 20 upheld the commission.

The court said in brief that a pipeline company could change its rates "at will" unless they were written into a contract. It said furthermore that the commission "was without discretion" to reject such rate schedules; that the only way it could change them was to hold hearings and find them unreasonable.

In its Supreme Court appeal Willmut asserted that if the commission permits rates to be filed and made effective, and then accepts superseding rates, it "deprives itself of jurisdiction" to either investigate the previous rates or to determine whether they are valid.

It said the case "presents important questions of federal law which have not been decided by this court." And until it does decide them, it added, "the scope of the authority of the commission will remain confused and obscure."

AREA OIL AND GAS

Jackson's First Gas Rig Finaled In Light Activity

Moderately falling activity last week throughout the 14-parish Monroe Oil and Gas District nevertheless witnessed completion of Jackson Parish's first gas rig, brought in Thursday by Bill Feazel about 1¾ mlies east of Hodge. The well still has not been gauged and few other details were available yesterday.

Elsewhere around the area, a total of seven rigs were finalled during the week, three of them in Catahoula Parish, which held the lead in completions for the second successive seven-day period. An important new gas distillate well, however, was brought in by Gulf Oil Company in Lincoln Parish. The Calhoun Unit 27-16 No. 1, in section 27-18-1W on the district map, she was completed September 28 and gauged October 26.

Application was filed Tuesday with District Manager Duncan S. Cook, seeking authority for daily production levels of 500 barrels. Estimated daily production at gauging was listed by Gulf as 2,160 MCF, or approximately 568 barrels of distillate. Production is from Cadeville Sand at depths varying from 9438 to 9459 feet. Total present depth is 9361 feet, according to drillers.

Cook reported a total of 19 new locations staked over the week, with five of them being in Catahoula Parish, which maintained the lead in new activity as well. Thirty-one units throughout the 14 parish area were listed as actively drilling or testing and 11 abandonments were shown, bringing the total on inactive sites to 117.

There were no re-completions.

Great Tiger Effort Tops Ole Miss Rebels, 10-7

Delta State Ruins Indians Homecoming, 9-0

Stovall Sets Up Winning TD With Run

Midway of the first period, Harris booted a 37-yard field goal to put the Tigers ahead.

But the Rebels were not to be outdone. In the second period, the Rebels took the ball on their own 36 and headed goalward, with first quarterback Glynn Griffing and quarterback Doug Elmore sparking the drive. In 14 plays, the Rebels scored with the final two yards being a two-yard toss from Griffing to end West Sullivan who was alone in the end zone. Sullivan then converted to send the Rebels into the intermission with a 7-3 lead. But that wasn't enough and LSU, the Old Miss nemisis in the football wars, came back to ice the game.

Ironically, the touchdown was the first Ole Miss had scored on LSU in regular play in four years and that one came on the Chinese bandits.

Ole Miss, with a win in the Tiger lair Saturday night had a chance to take over the number one spot in the nation with Michigan State's defeat earlier in the day. And throughout the first part of the game, Rebel supporters were chanting, "We are number one." They also had a big flag painted, saying the same thing. But it was not be.

There have been many thrilling games in the LSU-Mississippi series, but none to equal this one. From the opening gun, it appeared it would be a hum-dinger. And it was.

Ole Miss won the toss and moved to their own 48 before they had to punt. LSU, taking the ball on its own 20 moved to the Rebel 22, and another 19-yard jaunt by Stovall aided this drive. However, the Rebels defense stiffened and it was at this point on fourth down that Harris booted the field goal.

Mississippi came roaring back and moved to the LSU 48, aided by a 15 yard pass from Elmore to Holloway. The threat ended on the next play when halfback Chuck Morris fumbled and Tommy Neck recovered for the Tigers.

Neither team made a threat until late in the second period when Mississippi started its touchdown drive.

Griffing sparked it with a 14 yard dash that moved the ball to the LSU 46. Then fullback Billy Ray Adams, Buck Randall alternated and moved the ball to the LSU two yard line despite brutal defensive play by the Tigers.

From there, Griffing faked into the line, then tossed to Sullivan who came from his left into the center of the end zone and caught it for the score. There were only 20 seconds left in the first half when the Rebels scored.

After the intermission, Mississippi drove goalward again and appeared headed for another score. A key play was a 11 yard pass from Elmore to end Ralph Smith, who was everything the advance publicity said he was. However, the Tigers stalled the drive on their own 15, and at that point, Sullivan tried a field goal that went wide.

Taking over on their own 20, the Tigers then showed their best offensive spurt of the night.

On the opening play from the 20, Stovall, who no doubt was LSU's outstanding performer this drizzly Saturday night, took the ball, shook free of three tacklers at the line of scrimmage, moved into the secondary and broke free. However, despite all the speed he could muster, he could not outrun Holloway who knocked him to the turn at the 23. But LSU appeared determined to score and score they did seven plays later when Harris swung around left end and went in with the aid of the block thrown by Guillot.

After that touchdown, the tension in the stadium was so thick you could have cut it with a knife. Most of the 67,500 partisan fans figured Old Miss would throw the works, and it did, in brilliant fashion.

Taking the ball on their own one yard line, the Rebels started a march that seemed unstoppable. From the 15, Elmore hit Smith with an 18 yard pass, moving to the 34. Then he hit Smith again with a nine-yarder, then Adams, a ramming fullback, moved it to the Rebel 48. Then another 12-yard pass from Elmore to Smith moved the ball to the LSU 40. There, Elmore went wide for a 15-yard jaunt, moving the ball to the 25.

A quick line plunge and an incompleted pass didn't get them anywhere. Then Elmore faded back for a pass. LSU's Steve Ward, who has been a thorn in the side of passers all season, reached up and grabbed the pass from the hands of Smith to end the threat.

Stovall went 11 yards, then 16 to move the ball to the LSU 48 and out of danger. There the Go Team went in and on the first play, Bo Campbell LSU then yards It appeared LSU then might go all the way, but at the 30, Rebel center Richard Ross grabbed it to end the threat.

Again the Rebels headed goalward in a rock-and-sock fourth period. Twice Griffing gambled on fourth down plays on passes and won, moving the ball to the LSU 35. On the next play, Griffing, back to pass fumbled, and LSU's Gene Sykes recovered to end the threat. That was the ball game, although there were four minutes still left in the game.

It was a rock-and-sock football game from start to finish with brilliant defensive play on both sides.

For LSU Ward was credited with the most tackles at 10, followed by Sykes with five as did Bob Richards. For Mississippi, Adams and Jones were credited with five and Elmore three.

Mississippi won the battle of statistics going away. The Rebels picked up 21 first downs to 10 for LSU. Over all, they picked up a total of 322 yards to 21[illegible] for LSU, 146 of them by passing. LSU picked up 207 on the ground and six on passes.

LSU won the punting duel. Stovall punted twice for [illegible] yards and a [illegible] average. After the first two, Danny Neumann of Tallulah took over the punting duties and kicked four times for [illegible] yards, a 45.2 average.

It was the tremendous punting of Stovall and Neumann [illegible] LSU victory.

One of Stovall's punts, a 47-yarder, rolled dead on the Rebel six in the first period. Twice Neumann boomed the ball from the Tiger end of the field to push Mississippi back deep in its own territory.

In all, Elmore attempted 15 passes, completed [illegible] for 121 yards, while Griffing completed four of 10 for 25 yards.

Elmore also was the leading Rebel rusher with [illegible] yards in [illegible] carries, while Adams who was held in check most of the night picked up 32 on seven carries. Griffing got 26 and Randall 27.

Smith was the Rebels' best pass receiver picking up 60 yards on six catches.

It was Stovall again who walked off with rushing honors in the game, picking up 94 yards in six carries. Big Earl Gros got 35, Field 26, Campbell 20.

Until the LSU game, Mississippi had gone 21 games without defeat. The only blemish on the Rebels' record was a 6-6 tie with LSU last year at Oxford when All-American Jake Gibbs sparked a Mississippi drive that allowed it to boot a field goal and gain the tie.

Coach Paul Dietzel, who was so excited he could barely talk after the game, called this the greatest victory I have ever experienced.

"With apologies to the 1958 and 1959 teams, this is the greatest victory I have ever experienced," he said. "I have never been associated with any team anywhere that showed more courage than our team did Saturday night. We beat a truly great Ole Miss football team. I can't single out any one player because it wouldn't be fair to a wonderful team effort."

Coach Johnny Vaught, who is as good a loser as he is a winner, said he had no excuses to offer.

"The breaks made the big difference," he said. "LSU got the breaks and capitalized on them. I thought the turning point of the game was Stovall's 57 yard run. It was a great football game between two fine teams. The fans were fine and it was a well officiated, spirited game."

One thing appeared sure, the fans lucky enough to see the game believe they saw two of the finest in the South.

BUT NOT NOW

Rebels Were No. 1 For A Little While

By JACK OWENS
and TOM PENDERGAST

BATON ROUGE (AP) — "Well, at least Ole Miss was No. 1 for a few hours today."

That was the comment from Mississippi coach Johnny Vaught Saturday night after his second-ranked Rebels were tripped 10-7 by Louisiana State.

Top-ranked Michigan State lost to Minnesota 13-0 in an afternoon game.

Vaught shrugged and said "It just wasn't our night. LSU got the breaks. We never got one."

In a dressing room at the other end of the 68,000-seat Tiger stadium LSU coach Paul Dietzel jumped up and down and embraced Athletic Director Jim Corbett.

"Boy, did we chill somebody tonight [illegible] this is the greatest victory I have ever taken part in."

Then Dietzel hesitated and said "I hope all the boys on the 1958 championship team will forgive [illegible] night [illegible] is the greatest victory [illegible]."

"I think the kids did the finest job of control [illegible] I have ever seen."

In the Ole Miss dressing room the scene was in sharp contrast to the jubilant LSU football players.

The Rebel players slowly [illegible] clothes.

[illegible] Vaught [illegible] were [illegible] the defeat better than the past two times LSU beat them in Tiger Stadium.

It was the third straight year that the Bayou Bengals had kayoed Mississippi dreams of a perfect season—something Vaught hasn't been able to accomplish although he owns the best record for an active coach in the country—next to Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson.

"They're just as good a team as I've every played against and certainly as good as they were in 1958," said Vaught.

"I was sure we had them nailed and we were really going to take them this time until Jerry Stovall broke loose with that 57-yard run which set up the winning LSU touchdown. Then I knew we were in trouble."

The Ole Miss mentor said LSU kicking gave his Rebels a "rough time [illegible] they kick so good that every time we got the ball we were [illegible] our territory we'd have to start a 90 yard drive back down the field."

Dietzel declined to single out any single Tiger player for praise. "It wouldn't be fair to the wonderful team effort."

Asked if he might play Ole Miss in another bowl game Dietzel shook his head.

"I learned that lesson the hard way [illegible] that is not a good thing to do, not as long as I'm coaching at LSU."

LSU's 1959 team defeated Ole Miss 7-0 in regular season play on an [illegible]-yard run by All America Bill Cannon, but the two teams were rematched for the 1960 Sugar Bowl and the Rebs came out on top 21-0.

Bowman Gets Only TD Of Grid Contest

The shutout victory brought Delta State's record to 6-3 and pushed the Indians two games below the 500 percent mark to 3-5.

Coach Jack Rowan's Indians, who have been sporting one of the top offensive records in the GSC, found real estate hard to come by last night as they managed only 62 yards rushing and 18 passing for a total of 80-yards.

Meanwhile the Statesmen were romping for 214 yards on the ground and 67 by air for a total of 281.

The game's lone touchdown came in the third quarter when Delta State halfback Billy Bowman rammed over from nine yards out with 10:50 left in the third quarter. The play capped a short 31-yard drive which consumed eight plays.

Halfback Bryce McCollough punted from the Indians 49-yard line down to the Tribe 10 where safety Morris Douglas fumbled the ball into the end zone.

Before Douglas could make it back out of the end zone, Wayne Leonard, who played a tremendous defensive game for Delta State all night, made a bone brushing tackle to give the Tribesmen their safety.

FIRST HALF

Delta State won the toss and elected to receive. After taking the kick on the 12, Les Henning returned it to the 36. The Statesmen set up operation there but three tries carried only to the 40. On fourth down and needing six for a first, Henning punted to the Tribe 25.

Willie Ragan picked up three on first down, but two more tries netted a minus one and the Indians had to punt. Gordon Salsman's kick went to the Delta 27.

Larry Wood went for five yards, and Bowman picked eight and a first down, on the first two tries.

Then the tide turned as the Tribe defense came to life. In four plays, including a five yard penalty, Delta lost from the 38 back to the 26. On fourth, Henning punted to the Northeast 40 where Don Blackwelder made a fine return back to the Delta 41, but it was rubbed out by a clipping penalty which moved the ball back to the Indian 36.

The Tribe could not muster a first down. Salsman booted to the Delta 23 where Bowman fielded it and brought it back to the 35.

Fullback Ira Coates picked up four on first down up to the 39. Then quarterback Chester Norris and halfback Gale Davis took charge and alternated carries for most of the yardage. Davis carried first and picked up three, then Norris got four for a first on the 46.

On the next play Northeast helped the Statesmen's cause when they got a personal foul called against them which carried the ball to the Indian 42.

Delta had a mix up in the backfield on first down, but Norris covered up beautifully and somehow managed to fight his way for nine yards to the 33. Davis then went for seven more to give the Statesmen a first down on the 26.

After three more plays Delta had a first and goal situation on the nine, but on the first play from there, were penalized 15 yards for holding. The penalty moved the ball out to the 24.

Then on third down, Norris hit McCollough with a screen pass that carried all the way to the two. On fourth down Norris tried a bootleg to the right side but end Wendel Drost nailed him on the one to give Northeast the ball. The first quarter ended with that play.

The second quarter was mostly a kicking duel between Salsman and McCollough as neither team came close to paydirt.

Northeast did put togethe their punch into Delta territory once though, when they managed a short eight-play drive which carried from their own 23 to the Delta 45 before two successive seven-yard losses put the ball back on the Indians 40.

This drive was started when defensive halfback R.F. Wilson picked off a Statesman pass at the eight and returned it to the 23.

SECOND HALF

Roy Terry kicked off for Delta State to start the second half, and halfback Dean Mann returned it from the 16 to the 33. On first down, Ken Newton rammed for four yards to the 37.

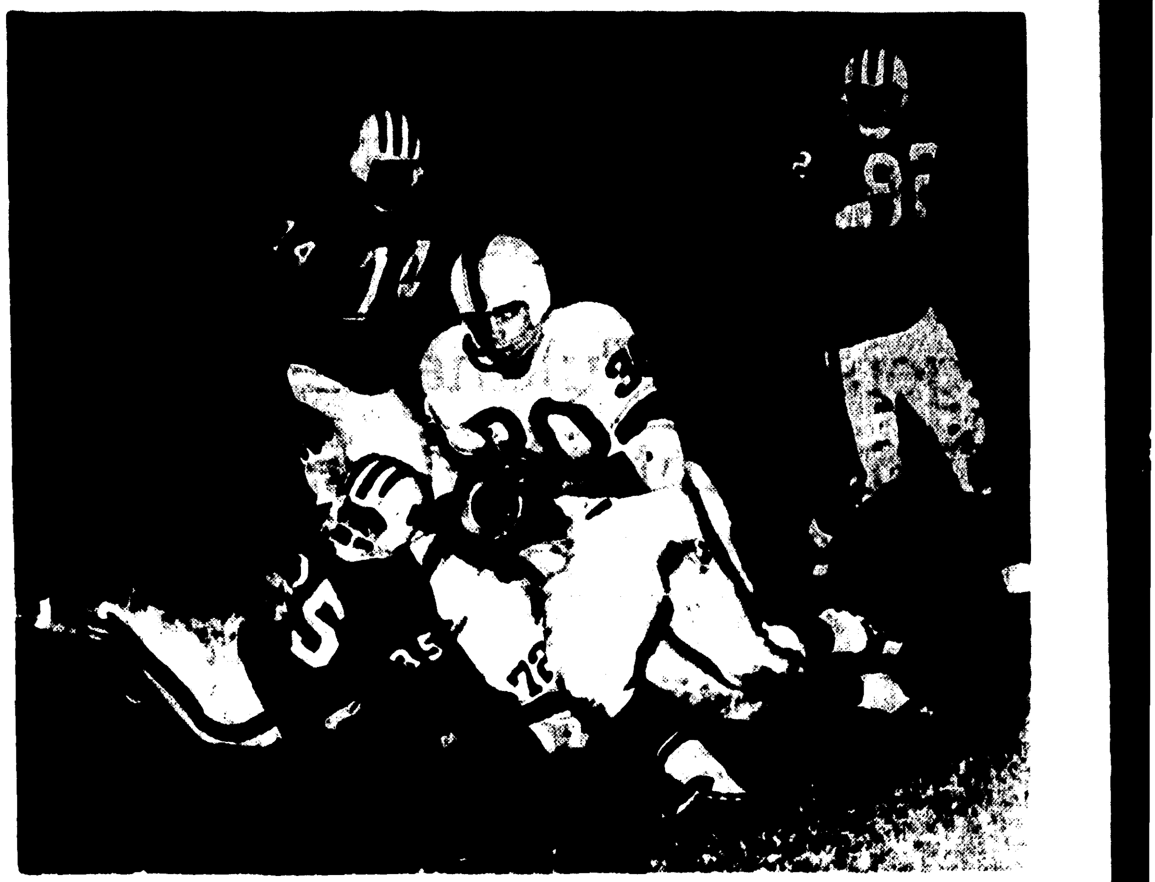
Then on second down, the Indians had a mix up in the backfield and quarterback Don Watigny fumbled. Terry pounced on the ball and Delta State had possession on the 31. Coates, Henning and Davenport all took turns lugging the ball to the nine from where Bowman raced over for the score.

The Indians took the kickoff, and with Ronnie Myrick at the helm, put together their best drive of the night. On two carries, Myrick picked up 11 yards to the 42. Devone Payne got four, Myrick four more, and Newton one on the first three tries. Then on fourth down and needing one at the Delta State 49, Myrick sent halfback Ken Thornhill through right tackle on a dive play, and Thornhill responded well, bulling his way for seven yards to the 42. The Indians got as far as the 35 in the next three plays, but on fourth down, Myrick fumbled and the Statesmen recovered.

From here on neither team could manage to start a sustained drive until late in the fourth quarter when Delta State marched down to the Tribe five before losing the ball on downs.

Northeast couldn't pick up a first and Salsman kicked to the 46. Delta clipped on the play and the ball was placed on their own 38.

Northeast held and McCollough kicked to the 10. The punt was fumbled into the end zone, and before it could be brought out the ball carrier was tackled and Delta had its final margin of victory — 9-0.



NORTHEAST FULLBACK Devone Payne picks his way for six yards and a first down in last night's Homecoming game against Delta State. The action came in the second quarter of play with about four minutes remaining in the period. Delta players pictured are Joe Sabatini (85, on ground), Wilburn Murphie (74) and Pat Hennington (82). Delta went on to win 9-0 with a touchdown and safety in the second half.

Southeastern Routs Tech 34-14 To Stay Unbeaten

HAMMOND (Special) — Southeastern Louisiana College went on a first half scoring spurt that boosted the undefeated Lions to a 34-14 Gulf States Conference victory over the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs here at Strawberry Stadium.

Senior halfback Billy Ladner, a 155-pounder, thrilled an 8,500 Homecoming Day crowd as he led the assault on the Bulldogs by racing for touchdowns on runs of 95 and four yards and scoring on a 38-yard pass from quarterback Elbert Harris.

Kenneth Dyer added the extra point for the Lions with 3:45 left in the first period.

Tech bounced back and scored minutes later when guard Richard Ennis grabbed a Lion fumble in the air and raced 29-yards for the score.

Ladner came right back to put Southeastern ahead to stay with a 95-yard touchdown run on the ensuing kickoff with just [illegible] remaining in the initial period.

Dyer's kick gave the Lions a 14-7 lead.

Southeastern [illegible] quickly for three more touchdowns late in the second period with Harris tossing for two scores, and halfback Joe [illegible] on a run for the other.

Harris hit halfback Wilbur Derrick on a 25-yard scoring play with 6:50 to go in the first half.

Dyer's kick was wide but SLC still led 20-7.

Smith climaxed a 34-yard Southeastern drive by going three yards for the fourth touchdown with 32 seconds before the half.

On first down Harris rifled a touchdown strike to Ladner who eluded Tech's safety man for the score with 18 seconds left in the half.

The two teams played on even terms throughout the remainder of the contest although Southeastern penetrated twice, moving to the Tech 10 and the five before being stopped.

Derrick led a quintet of hard charging backs for the Lions garnering 55 yards on 12 carries, followed by Ladner with 44 in 13 and Dyer with 36 for nine.

Jack Lestage was Tech's top man with 16 yards in five attempts. He was followed by Parker with 14 in five, Andy Farless with 13 in two and Jack Odum with 12 for two.

On the airways Harris beat Tech's Mickey Slaughter at his own game completing three of eight tosses for 83 yards.

Slaughter completed seven of 17 for 54 yards and quarterback Johnny Hudson hit on four of seven for 47 yards.

It was the worst defeat Tech has absorbed since 1954 when Southwestern dubbed them 25-0.

Tech lost to Northwestern State 19-7 in an earlier conference game.

Southeastern on the other hand is undefeated in eight games and by virtue of McNeese's upset win over Northwestern Saturday afternoon, rules alone atop the league standings.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The Rice Owls coupled bruising line play with the slashing runs of backs Butch Blume and Roland Jackson to outclass Texas Tech's Red Raiders 42-7 Saturday.

Blume scored a total of 30 points on four touchdowns and six conversions as Rice posted its 11th victory in 12 meetings with Tech. This moved him into second place in Southwest Conference season scoring, behind James Saxton of Texas.

THE BUBBLE BURST

Gophers Top Spartans Behind Stephens, 13-0

By JERRY LISKA

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — [illegible] spared Minnesota, with slick quarterback Sandy Stephens directing a surprise unbalanced line attack and hurling a 23-yard touchdown pass, upset nationally top-ranked Michigan State 13-0 in a crucial Big Ten football game Saturday.

Halfback Bill Munsey, benched by injury the past three games, scored both Gopher touchdowns, one on a lateral from Stephens and the other on the 23-yard [illegible] off toss by Stephens.

The Gophers, stealing a page of the erstwhile unbeaten Spartans, unveiled an unbalanced line for the first time this season and impressively punched over in the first and last quarters.

Michigan State, a seven-point favorite and suffering its first defeat after five victories, could do no better than pierce to the Minnesota 5 in the first quarter. It was Michigan State's first shutout defeat in 26 games.

Minnesota scored the first time it had the ball on a 71-yard march in 11 plays, Munsey racing 8 yards around Michigan State's right end on a smooth lateral from Stephens.

Michigan State, which previously had yielded only one touchdown and a total of 10 points in romping over Wisconsin, Stanford, Michigan, Notre Dame and Indiana, never seemed able to cope with the ferocity of Minnesota's defensive play and sharp offense when the chips were down.

The victory clearly stamped Minnesota, last year's national and Big Ten champion, regarded in pre-season reckoning as a conference also-ran, as a championship contender.

The Gophers, now victorious in five successive games since an opening 6-0 loss to Missouri in miserable weather, still have Iowa, Purdue and Wisconsin to face.

In the regionally-televised game Michigan State actually was dead at halftime following two long but unsuccessful first half drives reaching Minnesota's 5 and 1[illegible] yard lines.

In the third period the Spartans had the ball only for [illegible] scrimmage plays and in the fourth period they made a desperation drive to Minnesota's 23 with one and one half minutes left. But here the brilliant Stephens intercepted a Spartan pass in the end zone for an automatic touchback.

Minnesota's fourth Big Ten victory without defeat put the Gophers in a tie for first place in the Big Ten race with Ohio State which scored a 29-13 victory over Iowa.

Mather Kicks Navy To 13-10 Win By Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Greg Mather, 220-pound Navy center with a knack for kicking, booted his seventh and eighth field goals of the season Saturday and the Middies defeated Notre Dame 13-10.

The square-jawed senior from Los Angeles also booted his 20th straight conversion of the season after a one-yard touchdown sneak in the second quarter by quarterback Bob Hecht.

Notre Dame started the place kicking business with a 41-yard fielder by Joe Perkowski in the first quarter. The 3-0 lead held until Hecht's touchdown at the end of a 75-yard drive featuring a 52-yard pass from Hecht to Jim Stewart.

Mather kicked the ball over the goal posts twice in the second quarter to get one fielder. He did it from 37 yards but the Middies took too much time and he had to do it again from the 42.

Notre Dame caught up in the third period on fullback Dick Naab's one-foot plunge and Perkowski's conversion. Quarterback Daryle Lamonica passed 12 yards to end Dennis Murphy and halfback George Sefcik got off an 11-yard run in the drive set off by a pass interception.

A Notre Dame fumble put the Navy in position for Mather's 22-yard winning field goal, five minutes deep in the last quarter.

King Stars In Easy Dartmouth Win Over Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Bill King, Dartmouth's [illegible] general, celebrated his 21st birthday Saturday by scoring twice as the Indians clobbered Yale 24-8 in a make-or-break Ivy League football game.

The 1[illegible]-pound King from Richmond, Va., passed and ran to spark Dartmouth to a surprisingly easy triumph that kept the Indians in the race for the ancient eight crown for the title. The setback, Yale's second in the Ivy, just about eliminated last year's champs.

King, whose parents were in the 41,9[illegible] crowd, figured prominently in all of his aroused team's scores. The contest was televised regionally.

The Big Green team from Hanover, N.H., 3-1 in league and 4-2 overall, could do little wrong this mild, cloudy day as it maintained a steady pressure on the sad Eli.

This battle for league survival hardly had begun when Dartmouth capitalized on what turned out to be the key to victory. It set up King's first touchdown in 2 [illegible]

Kentucky Beats Florida State But Loses Woolum

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Sophomore backs Darrel Cox and Howard Dunneback led Kentucky to a 20-0 victory over Florida State Saturday but it cost the Wildcats the services of their ace passer Jerry Woolum probably for the rest of the season.

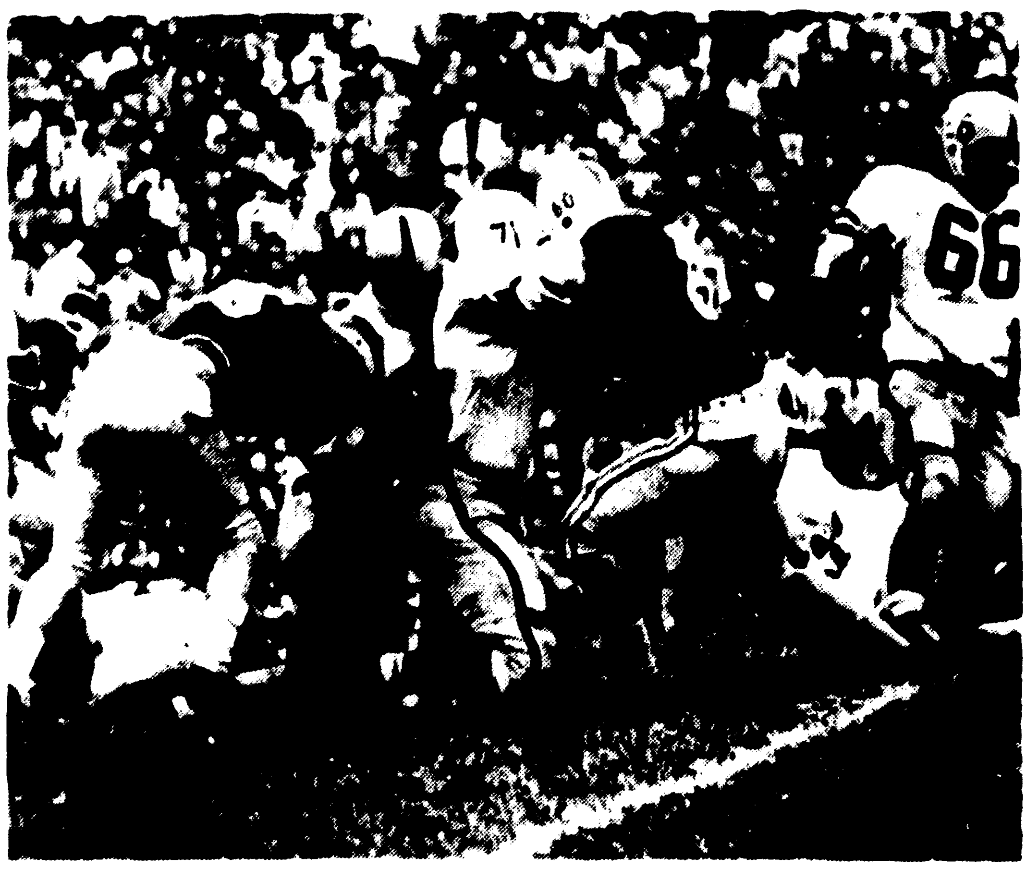
Woolum, the nation's third-leading passer, had set up Kentucky's first touchdown early in the game with a 31-yard completion, and had Kentucky moving again when he was tackled from behind on a quarterback keeper-play.

He was injured on the play and preliminary examination indicated a broken left leg. Woolum sat on the bench for the second half with his leg in a cast.

Cox, a Floridian, playing for Kentucky, returned a third period punt 84 yards down the right sideline for the third Wildcat touchdown. It was his 39-yard runback of Florida State's first punt that opened the door to the first Kentucky score.

Cox's runback put Kentucky in business on its own 45 the first time it had the ball, and after six plays halfback Gary Steward got behind the Florida State defenses to take Woolum's 31-yard looper on the two. Steward had no trouble bucking over from three on the next play, and Clarkie Mayfield kicked the extra point.

Johnnie Rampulla took over for Woolum, but it wasn't until the third period that he could get Kentucky's attack re-organized.



IOWA HALFBACK Paul Krause can't get his 6-foot-3 frame through a narrow hole as Ohio State defenders close in. Krause returned the Buckeye kickoff from the 16 to the Iowa 26. Ohio State's Dave Tingley closes the hole with his head and the Buck's Wesley Mirick locks arms with Iowa's Alfred Hinton (71). (AP Wirephoto)

BIG TEN VICTORY

Buckeyes Rip Iowa 29-13 To Stay Among Unbeaten

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State converted two pass interceptions and a fumble into touchdowns Saturday and stayed on the Big Ten victory trail with a 29-13 victory over Iowa. A crowd of 83,795 saw the game, biggest ever to see the Bucks in action here.

Seeking their fourth straight Western Conference conquest, the Buckeyes tore it open with a 17-point fourth period after leading only 12-7 going into the final stanza. The victory was more decisive than the score indicates, the Hawkeyes getting their second touchdown with only 12 seconds to go as they absorbed their second straight loss and fell out of the title fight.

Ohio got all the breaks and all the points in the first half to take a 12-0 edge. With the game only a couple of minutes old, Tom Perdue picked up a fumble by Iowa's Sammy Harris and rambled 55 yards for a touchdown. At the start of the second period, Dave Tingley intercepted a pass by Iowa's sensational Matt Szykowny and Joe Sparma hit end Chuck Bryant with an 18-yard scoring pass. That wound up a drive which carried 31 yards in six plays.

The Hawkeyes came roaring back in the third period, going 73 yards in 10 plays with Syzkow plunging a foot for the score.

It turned into a rout in the fourth period, however. Sparma tossed over the line to Bryant and the big end after being hit by at least six tacklers rolled 63 yards for his second score. The Bucks came right back and Dick Van Raaphorst booted a 24-yard field goal.

VIATOR LEADS UPSET

Demons Defeated By Cowboys, 28-14

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — Quarterback Nolan Viator led McNeese to a 28-14 upset over Northwestern Saturday in a Gulf States Conference game before 7,000 disappointed NSC homecoming fans.

Viator threw two touchdown passes and scooted 53 yards for another tally.

The defeat gave Southeastern Louisiana, which defeated Louisiana Tech 34-14, undisputed title to first place in the GSC race.

McNeese held the usually potent NSC ground game to 50 yards, while the Cowboys rolled up 211 yards rushing and another 142 in the air.

The Cowboys started their scoring barrage on Viator's 40-yard pass to Charlie Stephenson and followed it up with a 17-yard Viator to Tom Sestak aerial.

Billy Dore kicked a 23-yard field goal and Viator spurted 53 yards for another touchdown to give McNeese a 22-0 lead midway in the third quarter.

McNeese added another touchdown in the final period on Don Breaux' 8-yard pass to Jay Hebert.

N.C. Upsets Tennessee On 22-21 Victory

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Quarterback Ray Farris passed 28 yards for a touchdown and 2 yards for a two-point conversion in the last 15 seconds to give North Carolina an upset 22-21 triumph over Tennessee here Saturday.

Farris, with the poise of a pro, passed the Tar Heels from their 20 to the Tennessee 28. The drive was aided by a 15-yard roughing penalty.

Farris pitched from the 28 to Ward Marslender, who clutched the ball in the corner of the end zone.

The Tar Heels declined to try for the one-point conversion, which would have meant a tie, and went instead for two points and victory.

Farris, senior from Charlotte, faded back behind excelent protection and found Gib Carson in the right flat. Carson took the ball and shot into the end zone as the crowd of 35,000 went beserk.

It was Farris and Carson who kept the Tar Heels in contention throughout the game. Carson jogged 40 yards to set up North Carolina's first score on the opening drive of the game.

Tennessee took a 21-14 lead early in the final period and it appeared the Volunteers were headed for victory in a surprisingly tough contest. Tailback Mallon Faircloth passed 13 yards to end Mike Stratton in the end zone.

Earlier, the Vols tied the score at 14-14 when center Mike Lucci intercepted a Farris pass on the Tar Heels 29 and sprinted into the end zone.

Both teams, Tennessee from the rugged Southeastern Conference and the Tar Heels of the Atlantic Coast Conference, came into the game with 3-2 records.

ORANGE BOWL BOUND

Colorado Eases By Missouri, 7-6

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado became a virtual shoo-in for Orange Bowl gold and glory Saturday when a daring Missouri passing attempt for a two-point conversion went awry and the Buffalos wound up with a 7-6 victory. Both the Big Eight teams went into the game unbeaten.

Colorado had scored first and when Missouri tallied halfback Mike Hunter, who had trown the 10-yard touchdown pass, tried to toss for the vital two points. But his effort was incomplete.

Colorado's triumph in clear, crisp weather before 43,200 fans and a Western television audience sent the Buffaloes into undisputed first place and into top consideration for a trip to the Orange Bowl in Miami. Colorado entered the game ranked eight in the AP poll and Missouri was 10th.

Missouri made one last desperate try to triumph with a 44-yard field goal try by halfback Bill Tobin but it wobbled short and wide.

Halfback Teddy Woods scampered 12 yards and quarterback Gale Weidner hit end Jerry Hillebrand with a 14-yard pass to the Tigers' 21. After one incomplete pass, Weidner connected with halfback Bill Harris for the touchdown. Harris tucked in the ball on the 10 and eluded one tackler before scooting into the end zone.

Neither team was effective on offense in the third quarter. Early in the fourth period Missouri took a punt on its 37 and marched 63 yards in 13 plays for the equalizing touchdown.

Quarterback Ron Taylor started the scoring play with a pitchout to Hunter, who then rifled the ball to end Don Weinwright on the goal line.

Weidner's passing moved Colorado down to the Missouri 9 in the first quarter but the Tigers stiffened and Hillebrand's attempted field goal from the 17 was wide to the right. On that drive, Weidner hit Hillebrand on two passes covering 22 yards and halfback Ted Somerville ran 10.

Michigan In Crushing Win Over Duke 11

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Speedy Bennie McRae, enjoying the greatest day of his career, teamed with Dave Raimey Saturday to spark a devastating Michigan ground attack which crushed the Duke Blue Devils 28-14.

A crowd of 56,488 watched McRae, a 168-pound Big Ten hurdles champion, score the Wolverines' first three touchdowns as Michigan rolled to a 21-0 halftime lead.

The slendor senior scored on a five-yard run in the first period and tallied twice more in the second on a 15-yard pass from quarterback Dave Glinka and a 34-yard runback with an intercepted pass.

Raimey, a stocky junior from Dayton, Ohio, did not score but gained 111 yards in 15 carries to provide the Wolverines' with a strong 1-2 punch on the ground.

Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference leader, was no match for the Wolverines' rugged Big Ten power. The Blue Devils did not penetrate Michigan territory during the first half and were held to only 45 yards total offense in the first two periods while Michigan was driving for 114 yards rushing with Raimey and McRae accounting for 88 yards of that total.

After Michigan's opening drive from scrimmage ended with a fumble on the Duke three, the Wolverines regained the ball and went 37 yards for a touchdown on their next drive.

In the second period the two fleet halfbacks led a 53-yard Michigan scoring drive that ended with McRae taking a 15-yard pass from Glinka. Raimey had runs of 12 and nine yards during the drive.

Maryland In 21-17 Victory Behind Shiner

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Maryland parlayed three touchdown passes by sophomore quarterback Dick Shiner and a last-ditch stand inside its own five-yard line Saturday into a 21-17 victory over favored Penn State.

The sharpshooting Shiner, nicknamed "The Rifle," lived up to his title with a brilliant first-half performance that kept Maryland's bowl hopes alive and virtually demolished the Nittany Lions' post-season dreams.

He fired scoring passes of 7, 9 and 17 yards to Dick Barlund, Tom Brown and Gary Collins, completed 11 out of 16 attempts and gave the underdog Terrapins the bulge they managed to protect against Penn State's second-half pressure. The Lions, trailing 21-6 at halftime, completely outplayed Maryland the rest of the way and came within four yards and less than two minutes of victory.

Princeton Hands Brown Worst Loss In History

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sophomore Hugh MacMillan stepped in for injured Greg Riley and held the throttle for Princeton's mighty single wing power Saturday as the Tigers handed Brown its worst football defeat in history, 52-0.

The Tigers, unbeaten in four Ivy League games and now 4-2 overall, could do little wrong against the Bruins, scoring on crushing runs, circus passes and a blocked punt and setting up other touchdowns with fumbles recoveries and pass interceptions.

24-0 VICTORY

Fourth Ranked Alabama Blast Way By Maroons

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Fullback Mike Fracchia bulled through the Mississippi State line Saturday as methodically as the steady drizzle which fell all afternoon and powered unbeaten fourthranked Alabama to a 24-0 victory.

In running up its seventh straight win, the Crimson Tide turned a Maroon fumble on the opening kickoff into a score in just four plays to set the pattern of the contest.

Billy Richardson bucked over from four yards out for one touchdown. Quarterback Pat Trammell carried over from the one for another and Tim Davis added a field goal to give the Crimson Tide a 17-0 lead before four minutes of the second period had passed. Larry Wall smashed one for a third score and Davis added the extra point.

Game but outgunned Mississippi State three times launched long drives but twice was stopped by the sturdy Alabama defense, best in the nation. The third time State tried a field goal which was blocked and run back 58 yards by Alabama end Tommy Brooker to set up Davis' three-pointer.

Fracchia, a 185-pound junior, reeled off 116 yards in great chunks through the Maroon forward wall, including a 25-yard burst in the second touchdown drive. He also intercepted a Billy Hill pass on his own two and returned it 17 yards to head off a Maroon touchdown bid.

Trammell, Alabama's steady field general, also played a major role by hitting Richardson with a short six-yard pass up the middle to set up the first score after Larry McGill had covered Sonny Fisher's fumble at the State 15 on the kickoff.

Trammell passed 11 yards to Brooker and 11 to his other end, Bill Battle, in Alabama's 59-yard drive to its second touchdown. His 20-yard toss to Battle set up Davis' three-pointer.

Razorback Rally Clips Aggies, 15-8

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Quarterback George McKinney engineered a 91-yard march and flipped a six-yard touchdown pass to end Jim John with 58 seconds left Saturday to give the Arkansas Razorbacks a come-from-behind 15-8 victory over Texas A&M.

The victory before 31,500 fans in Razorback Staduim gave Arkansas possession of second place in the Southwest Conference over the Aggies.

A&M's alert Cadets, who were six-point underdogs, played Razorback miscues to the hilt and held an 8-7 lead as the game neared the end.

The first half was all Arkansas and the Aggies did not get a first down until late in the second period.

The Aggies took advantage of an Arkansas fumble on the 11 to mount their only scoring drive in the third period. Fullback Leroy Caffey took the ball over from the one.

A&M then elected to gamble and quarterback John Erickson threw to end Bobby Huntington for the two-pointer.

Tech Cagers Will Have Speed, Depth

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's basketball squad, minus the top two scorers of last year and with a shortage of height, will use its speed and a platoon system to try to cope with Bulldog opponents this season.

Coach Cecil Crowley has only three seniors and one junior on the squad. All others are either sophomores or freshmen. Only six lettermen return from the club that won seven and lost 16 last season.

At present, Crowley feels he can field three teams of about equal ability, which has resulted in his thinking of the platoon system of play.

The seniors include guard Jackie Fair of Ashland, Joe Moreland of Minden, and Jim Graves of Ferriday. None of them have starting berths sewed up. The lone junior on the squad is Max Lewis, the Simsboro guard.

Sophomores include forward Joe Abendroth, 6-3, of Shreveport, Dave Hruska, 6-1 Minden guard, Ron McNabb, 6-0 Shreveport guard; Butch Miller, 6-1 Jackson, Miss., guard, Jesse Bridges, 6-4 Pleasant Hill center, Tommy Gist, 6-5 Natchez, Miss., forward, and A. J. Burlew, 6-4 Fort Necessity forward.

Tech has a talented freshman group that includes Ray Penny, 6-3 Coushatta forward, Max Howard, 6-4 Pineville forward; Jerry Wood, 6-4 Ruston center, Robert Bretz, 6-3 Ruston forward, Jim Cranford, 6-1 Simsboro guard, Gordon Gibson, 6-0 Shreveport guard, and Arnold Ramsey, 6-2 Quitman guard.

Tech starts the season with tough competition, meeting Mississippi State in Starkville Wednesday, Dec. 6, and Ole Miss in Oxford the following night. The Bulldogs play Southeast Oklahoma in the home opener Dec. 15 and have a return engagement with Ole Miss in Ruston Dec. 18.

Davis Breaks Brown's Mark In 28-9 Win

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Ernie Davis smashed Jimmy Brown's career record for scoring and rushing yardage Saturday, gaining 119 yards and scoring two touchdowns in Syracuse's 28-9 come-from-behind victory over Pittsburgh.

A rain-spattered crowd of 40,000 saw Pitt run up a 9-0 lead in the second period before Davis and his Syracuse mates got started. At the end Syracuse was crashing through the Pitt line for chunks of yardage. Three lost fumbles by Pitt in the third period turned the tide in Syracuse's favor.

Getting adequate revenge for last year's defeat by Pitt which snapped a 16-game Syracuse winning streak, the Orange scored twice on the ground and twice through the air.

Davis tallied from 8 yards out in the second period, climaxing a 66-yard march on which he earned most of the ground. In the fourth period it was Dave Sarette's 5-yard shovel pass to an astonished Davis that put the game beyond reach.

Auburn Wins Over Deacons Behind Hunt

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Auburn quarterback Bobby Hunt sparked the beefy Tigers with his running and passing here Saturday to lead them to a come-from-behind 21-7 victory over the Wake Forest Deacons.

The 185-pound senior from Lanett, Ala., rushed for 81 yards and passed for 102 more, enabling the Tigers to match the victory margin they ran up over the Deacons in their only other meeting three years ago.

Auburn didn't force into the lead until late in the fourth period when sophomore fullback Larry Rawson powered over from two yards out after Hunt's running and passing had moved the Tigers into scoring position.

The Deacons had leaped into a 7-0 lead in the closing seconds of the first half after the two teams had waged a scoreless duel for nearly 30 minutes. Quarterback Chuck Reiley connected with end Henry Newton on a 42-yard scoring pass play and Mickey Walker tacked on the extra point.

Auburn finally tied things up late in the third period when Hunt scored his first of two touchdowns for the afternoon. The rangy Tiger quarterback completed passes of 32 and 17 yards to move his club to the Deacon one-yard line and then sneaked across with the Tigers' first tally of the game.

Cavaliers Snap Losing Streak With 28-20 Upset

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Virginia's Cavaliers overcame their less-than-adequate pass defense and ended their 18-game Atlantic Coast Conference football losing streak by using every break that came their way for a 28-20 upset over South Carolina's Gamecocks.

With sophomore fullback Doug Thomson scoring twice, the Cavaliers—who last won an ACC game by beating Duke 15-12 in the second clash of the 1958 season—used one long scoring march, a Gamecock fumble, a 54-yard punt runback and a booming kick to set up their touchdowns.

Senior quarterback Jim Costen, hitting on 10 passes in 25 tries for 131 yards, passed for one South Carolina touchdown and set up the others with his aerials—but Virginia twice halted Gamecock drives on the Cavalier 1.

Furman Scores 7-6 Upset Win Over Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Halfback Tony Carmignani raced 60 yards with an intercepted pass and Furman's line dug in when it counted Saturday to give the Palladins a 7-6 upset victory over three-touchdown favorite Memphis State.

A shivering crowd of 6,036 saw the Tigers shove Furman all over the field, but penalties and interceptions repeatedly blunted the Memphis State drives and Furman's line was tough when it counted.

TEXAS WINS, 27-0

Run Breaks Ice As Steers Romp

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Skinny-legged Jim Saxton sped 79 yards for a touchdown to break Southern Methodist's stubborn resistance and Texas rolled to a 27-0 victory that kept it unbeaten and untied in seven straight games Saturday.

Texas, the nation's No. 3 team and leader of the Southwest Conference race, found SMU a tough nut to crack, being outplayed in the first half when the Methodists twice missed scoring by inches.

But as soon as Texas got the ball in the third period it sent the flying Saxton winging around right end with the touchdown that killed the SMU fight.

The [illegible] Saxton ran for a tremendous 173 yards on 16 carries in furthering his bid for All America. It was one of the top individual performances in Southwest Conference history.

A 41-yard punt return by David Russell set up another second period touchdown as the little halfback scatted to the Southern Methodist 17. Jerry Cook ran around right end for 4 yards to set the second Texas Touchdown.

Early in the fourth period Texas marched 56 yards for its third touchdown with Saxton again figuring big. His 12-yard run got the surge really moving and an [illegible]-yard pass from Jack Collins to Saxton put the ball on the SMU 20. Saxton was hurt and had to leave the game here but Collins, Tommy Ford and Cook took care of things. Cook got the touchdown—his second of the game—with a 7-yard run.

Texas reserves then took over and scored on a 73-yard drive in five plays with a 61-yard pass from Duke Carlisle to Sandy Sands setting it up on the SMU 11. Ford made 8, John Allen Cook one and Ford crashed over for the touchdown. Eldon Moritz kicked the extra point.

Strong Tribe Cage Squad Now At Work

Northeast State's basketball team, rated its strongest in several years, is currently at work preparing for a rugged 25-game schedule that begins Nov. 21.

Lenny Fant's Indians will meet Arkansas A&M on the road in their initial game of the season Nov. 21. First home game for the Tribe will be Dec. 4 against East Texas Baptist.

Four starters return from the 1960-61 club that won 12 games, lost 13, and finished fourth in the Gulf States Conference race with a 4-6 league mark. They are headed by all-GSC Lanny Johnson of Monroe, who averaged 20.3 points a game last season and was the GSC's leading scorer in conference competition.

Johnson, 6-0, is joined by Stuart Toms, 5-10 ball handling wizard from Quitman, 6-5 ace rebounder Robert Cook and 6-3 Milton Lanier from last year's starting five. Cook is from Jonesboro and Lanier from Fort Necessity.

The [illegible] career man for the [illegible] squad are [illegible] Dave Harkins, a starter who set a school record in field goal percentage last winter, and [illegible] forward and center G. B. Thompson.

James Walker, a 6-3 sophomore from Jonesboro, has been one of the standouts in this fall's drills and may start Nov. 21. Other returnees from last year's squad who are ticketed for action are Malcolm George, 6-3, of Quitman; Jerry Snellings, 6-0, of Converse; Irby Gamble, 5-7, of Marthaville; Harry Crowe, 6-1, of Monroe, and Raymond Hawkins, 6-2, of Miami, Okla.

Georgia Tech Smothers Florida 20-0 In SEC Tilt

By ROSS M. HAGEN

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia Tech's defensive forces smothered the Florida attack and the Yellow Jackets capitalized on Gator mistakes for a 20-0 victory Saturday in a Southeastern Conference football clash.

It was Tech's sixth victory against a single loss and added considerably to the seventh ranked Jackets' credentials for a bowl trip.

The victory avenged an 18-17 upset loss of last year and gave Coach Bobby Dodd revenge over his son, Bobby Dodd Jr., a Gator quarterback, and his former top assistant, Ray Graves, who now is head man at Florida.

The spirited Tech line punished Florida's 138-pound quarterback, Larry Libertore, unmercifully, forcing him to fumble repeatedly. And when the Gators did get an offense mounted, with junior signal caller Tom Batton at the helm, the Georgia Tech secondary came through with the stoppers.

Tech tackle Ed Griffin set up the first Tech touchdown when he recovered a Liberatore fumble on the Florida 44 on the last play of the first quarter. Fullback Mike McNames and halfback Billy Williamson, carried to the two where quarterback Billy Lothridge punched it over.

In the third, a fumble by Florida halfback Lindy Infante was snatched up by Tech's Jimmy Nail. Again it was Williamson and McNames who scratched out the yardage with Williamson rambling the last 3 after taking a pitchout from Stan Gann.

The Yellow Jackets staged a 76-yard scoring drive about midway in the final quarter. Halfback Chick Graning broke loose for the final 28 yards.

Baylor Turns Offense Loose Against Frogs

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Baylor's Bears, rebounding from three consecutive Southwest Conference defeats Saturday humbled the Texas Christian Horned Frogs with a 28-14 victory.

Baylor turned the trick with the explosive offense they were supposed to have had all season. Quarterbacks Ronnie Stanley and Bobby Ply pushed over a pair of one-yard keeper touchdowns, ripped eight yards for a score and halfback Ronnie Bull battered three yards for a touchdown.

Sonny Gibbs, TCU's towering quarterback, passed and ran for the Horned Frog touchdown. He hit Donny Smith with a 17-yard touchdown throw in the second to climax a 67-yard drive, then crawled over from one yard out in the fourth period, ending a 78-yard drive.

Uclans Near Bowl; Blast Bears, 35-15

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tailback Bobby Smith led a relentless UCLA ground attack that wrecked the outweighed California Bears and the Uclans moved a step closer to the Rose Bowl Saturday with a 35-15 football victory.

A crowd of 33,792 watched the winners post a mark of two victories against no losses in the Big Five Conference Run for the Roses at Pasadena New Year's day. Cal is 1-2.

A free for all fight broke out in the last 15 seconds as both teams mixed it up for more than a minute in mid-field.

Southern Defeats Tennessee State By 7-0 Margin

Verdis Theus, Southern University halfback scurried 88 yards on a punt return 4:35 minutes deep in the first quarter, as the Jaguars out-mudded Tennessee State University 7-0 in University Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Theus' touchdown return came as sort of a vindication as he had taken an earlier punt on his own eight yard line, returned it all the way to the 37 yard line only to fumble with Tiger halfback George McNeal making the recovery.

It was by the same route of the initial punt return and fumble which Theus chose to make his jaunt to register the game's only touchdown.

Greiner Leads Purdue Victory

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — End John Greiner's pass-catching and pile-driving tackling were good for two touchdowns Saturday and paced Purdue to a 23-0 shutout over hapless Illinois.

Greiner opened the scoring in the second period when, as an intended pass receiver, he turned vicious tackler to tear the ball loose from an interceptor near the goal line and then pounced on the ball to score.

Haggerty Stars In 35-7 Columbia Win

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Halfback Tom Haggerty danced through mud on touchdown jaunts of 84, 64 and 47 yards Saturday and led Columbia to a 35-7 football victory over stubborn Cornell.

Beavers Shade Cougars, 14-6

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State's Beavers withstood a brilliant second half passing performance by Dave Mathieson to edge Washington State 14-6 Saturday.

The Beavers scored two touchdowns in the first half on the strength of some crisp offensive blocking and fine pass catching by Don Kasso.

FOR COMMUNICATIONS

Soviets Planning Space Stations

WASHINGTON (AP)—A reported Russian scheme to assemble in space an orbiting communications satellite system has caught the attention of senators investigating U.S. communications satellite plans.

Whether the Soviet plan would involve sending men into orbit to do the assembling, or an effort to use electronic and mechanical gadgets to do the job, is unclear.

The Senate inquiry by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., is scheduled to resume Wednesday. Aides said Long plans to ask U.S. space officials what they know about the report.

Aides told a reporter Long learned of the plan from the translation of an article published in the Moscow newspaper Pravda last Aug. 13. A brief abstract of Schternfeld, described as Soviet winner of the international prize in astronautics, as proposing a plan similar in theory to one advanced in the United States.

This calls for sending aloft three communications satellites to a height of 22,300 miles, where they presumably would be in synchronous orbit with the earth.

This means that from earth they would appear to be stationary—as constant as the North Star. The scientists figure with three satellites at that height, radio and television signals could be relayed to virtually any inhabited point on earth.

The synchronous orbit plan is only one of several now under study by the United States. As now described publicly, the U.S. satellites would be small, winged capsules filled with electronic equipment. They would be shot into place and kept there by remote control.

The abstract of the Pravda article said Schternfeld was proposing the Russian satellites would be "assembled in orbit" and weigh "more than several tons." It didn't say how they would be assembled.

Although Long plans to inquire into this matter, the forthcoming hearings are designed primarily to give critical scrutiny to plans for launching an entire communications satellite system available to the world and thus demonstrate this country's interest in peaceful uses of space.

Witnesses will include Lee Loevinger, head of the Justice Department's antitrust division; Dr. E. C. Welsh, executive secretary of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, and the entire membership of the Federal Communications Commission.

Controversy has marked the communications satellite system planning. While some specialists have advocated the synchronous orbit system, others have advocated at least an interim lower level satellite system which would require the use of many satellites.

3 Additional Freedom Riders Are Convicted

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Three more Negro Freedom Riders have been convicted on breach of peace charges stemming from their attack upon Mississippi's terminal segregation law.

City Judge James Spencer, who convicted most of the riders since May 24, decreed the three part of the movement and sentenced them Friday to $500 fines and 4 months in jail.

The three were Lever Taylor, 20, and Glenda Jackson of Shreveport, La., and the Rev. Charles A. Jones, dean of Campbell Negro College in Jackson.

New Coiffures Get Hair Jewels

"Dashing simplicity" ... "unfussed" ... "the carefully careless look" ... all contribute to the season's cliches on the current hair styles. As carefree and casual as these coiffures may be for daytime wear, they can pose a problem for after-dark dates that call for real glamour, points out the Fashion Coordination Institute.

The most imaginative spirits have devised simple ways of fastening a beautiful big pin in a deep curl. This new trend toward jewels in the hair has been spurred on by the new sleek hairdos. Jeweled crowns are worn for more formal occasions and many long locks are held back from the face with a gay, whimsical coral pin.

Green Dominant

With green as one of fall's dominant new fashion apparel colors, know which make-up shades will complement this popular color in all of its new tones to give you the most glamorous over-all look. Instead of adhering to the paler foundation make-up shades, wear a color that is absolutely natural to your own skin tones. For a warm, breathtaking complexion always wear rouge with green costumes. Wear green eyeshadow even though your eyes are blue, brown or any other color, for it will make them look green. For fun and variation, wear pale green shadow with the darker greens and the more vivid shades with lighter green fashions.

Rev. H. M. Roach performed the 7:30 p.m. vows before an arch of greenery flanked by baskets of white chrysanthemums against a background of branched candelabra and greenery. The altar was also banked with greenery accented by candles.

Mrs. Ronnie Stevens, pianist, played appropriate nuptial selections and accompanied Raymond Mears, as he sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Because," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Jerry Speir and Kenneth Renwick.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie. The fitted bodice with appliqued medallions featured tiny covered buttons down the back and long sleeves which formed points over the hands. Folded sashes accented the back waistline of the full skirt which extended into a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, gift of the Swartz WMU, surmounted with a bouquet of tuberoses centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. John Lacey, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a dress of magenta silk shantung, styled with high neckline, cap sleeves and full pleated skirt, with matching shoes and short white gloves. Her headdress was a velvet bandeau adorned with matching veil and feathers, and her bouquet was a nosegay of chrysanthemums, tinted to match her gown. Bridesmaids, dressed identical to the honor attendant, were Mrs. J. Norman Coon Jr., Mrs. Dale Harris, Mrs. John Landrum and Mrs. Morgan Crawford Jr.

Flower girls were Deborah Lacey, niece of the bride; and Deborah Glenn, niece of the bridegroom, who wore miniature models of the other attendants costumes, with headbands covered with magenta and white net ruffles. They carried baskets of petals.

A reception followed in the social room of the church. Mrs. E. D. Morrison presided at the guest book table, which was covered with a white cloth and centered with a memory candle encircled by greenery. White chrysanthemums with candles and greenery centered the white covered serving table. Alternating at the punch bowl and serving the wedding cake were Mrs. J. W. Glenn, Mrs. Marion Causey Jr., Mrs. Ray Cole and Mrs. Fontane Renwick, all sisters of the bridegroom. Mrs. Richard Chatham and Mrs. Steven LaFrance served as tea girls and rice bags were distributed by Donna Renwick, Alice Renwick, Kathy Cole and Kay Cole, nieces of the bridegroom.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the bride wore a magenta suit with white hat and gloves, black patent accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They will reside upon their return in Swartz. Both are graduates of Ouachita Parish high school and Mr. Speir also attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

Catholic Church Scene Of Williams-Danna Vows

Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church was scene of a double ring ceremony solemnized at 10 a.m. Saturday, November 4 which united in marriage Miss Mary Louise Danna, Monroe and Wade Marshall Williams, Memphis Tennessee. Father Richard Fale of St. Matthew's Catholic Church performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Richard Danna, 118 Glenmar, Monroe, and Mr Williams is the son of Mrs. Albert Casey, New Orleans, and grandson of Mr and Mrs Leon C. Brossett of West Monroe.

Two massive arrangements of large white chrysanthemums and gladioli in gold vases adorned the main altar with two miniature arrangements of white gladioli placed in front of statues of the Blessed Virgin Mary and St. Joseph on each side altar. White satin ribbons and chrysanthemums marked family pews.

Miss Elaine Heskett, organist, played traditional nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Evelyn O'Connor, as she sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," and "On This Day," as the bride placed her bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk peau de soie, highlighted with appliques of imported Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads. The lace motifs accented the bodice styled with scalloped Sabrina neckline and long sleeves which formed lily points over the hands, and were repeated on the voluminous skirt which was caught up in back by a bow to form a small bustle. Front overlapping panels were outlined with the lace motifs and the skirt extended in back to a chapel train. A double tiara encrusted with seed pearl and crystals held her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of lily of the valley and stephanotis centered with a large white orchid. The bouquet also held a miniature bouquet fashioned on the same lines which was placed at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The bodices featured a tucked V inset and elbow length sleeves. Their headdresses were matching pill box hats overlaid with illusion and they wore matching American Beauty shoes and short white gloves. Their bouquets were cascades of white miniature chrysanthemums and each wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bride.

Fur Reigns

The most outstanding show of fur is as a collar trim on coats. Favored coats are simple, fitted styles that are dressy, but not fussy. And dressy is synonymous with fur.

Mouton processed lamb collars and the pile linings are most used, along with furry look alpaca.

MISS PEGGY SUE ROBINSON

Bain-Robinson Nuptials Planned For November 18

Gold Rush

It looks like there's another gold rush on its way for the season ahead: there's the glitter of gold on handbags, jewelry, shoes and gloves, of course, lavishly embroidered, as bead and braided trims continue to highlight the gala dress in luxurious gold accents.

COLORFUL CLOSETS

The American homemaker wants everything in her house attractive. Even a small detail like the rod in a clothes closet does not go unnoticed by the home decorator. Using the adhesive plastic paper offered on the market by several companies, she covers the rod in a color or design to complement her color scheme. When the shoe boxes and hatboxes are covered with the same durable paper, she can be justly proud of her co-ordinated closet.

Gloves Meet Bare Arm Challenge Of Fall Fashion

Long leather gloves are fall's fashion favorites. They carry graceful finger lines up to mid-length sleeves on new suits and flaring coats, reports Leather Industries of America.

Soft, smooth kid, calf and pigskin gloves will be worn with daytime suits and coats in city or suburb. For sports or casual clothes, the shortie glove is found in handsome taupes, tans and bronzes — neutral colors for fall's browns. In town gloves, the length moves upwards and is often color-cued to shoes.

In the evening, ladylike leather gloves really come into their own. In whites, deepened colors and blacks — frequently set off by seed pearls or rhinestones in decorative bursts and designs — the evening glove is worn in eight to 18-button lengths.

Smooth kid or softly napped suede, the leather glove is smart. And, just as important, it lends importance to any social occasion.

Sidney Mary Goodwin Engaged To Dr. Brown

Vice Admiral and Mrs. Hugh H. Goodwin announce the engagement of their daughter, Sidney Mary to Dr. George Marshall Brown, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Atlanta, Georgia. The bride-elect is the niece of Miss Philomene Goodwin, 2015 Frances Place, and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Goodwin of Monroe.

Miss Goodwin received a B.S. degree at the University of California, where she was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi societies. She received her M.A. degree and doctorate in organic chemistry at Radcliffe College. For the past two years she has been a member of the faculty of the University of California at Santa Barbara while also engaged in basic research under a grant from the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Maryland.

Dr. Brown is a brother of Loam D. Brown and Mrs. William H. Lowery of Atlanta, Georgia. He received B.A. and M.S. degrees at Emory University of Atlanta and a doctorate in physical chemistry at Princeton University. He also is a Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.

After serving on the faculty at the University of Maryland, the prospective bridegroom is now engaged in research at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, where the couple will reside following their marriage in California early in February.

Admiral Goodwin called Monroe his official and permanent home throughout his career of more than 40 years in the Navy. Since his retirement in 1957, he and his wife have made their home in Pebble Beach, California.

Girl Scout News

October's bright blue weather made possible many outdoor events for troops, overnights, play-days, cookouts. West Monroe troops had a neighborhood day at Pine Wood last week, concluding with a court-of-awards for Intermediate troops. In charge of the opening and closing flag ceremonies were the girls of Troop 9, Mrs. Courtlandt McCoy, leader.

Highlight of the day, according to the girls, was the long hike on which Mrs. N. L. Huckabee led the more adventuresome girls. There were other hikes to the river, games, nature scavenger hunts, singing, and time just to enjoy being out of doors.

At the close of the day's activities, Intermediate troops gathered in a horseshoe around the flag pole. Sitting on the pine needle carpet, they sang favorite songs, after which leaders of the following troops presented badges earned during the summer: Mrs. Lyda Tolbird, Troop 85, Mr. Thad Wilcockson, Troop 36, Mrs. J. H. Butler, Troop 18, Mrs. B. B. McWhorter, Troop 23, and Mrs. Courtlandt McCoy, Troop 9.

Troop 46, Lee Junior High School, spent Friday night at camp with Mrs. Huckabee and Senior Scout Mickie Varnado in charge. They enjoyed campfire, a long hike, outdoor cooking and the fun of sleeping on the porch. They also took part in the play-day activities.

Troop 13 spent the day at Pine Wood, joining in with other troops for singing, games and the court-of-awards. During the day they planted bulbs to bloom in the golden anniversary year of Girl Scouting.

After other troops left Troop 13 remained for a Hallowe'en birthday party for Clare Wells, whose mother is leader of the troop. The girls played games with balloons, built a fire, cooked hot dogs and enjoyed them along with the Hallowe'en decorated cup cakes and drinks furnished by the hostess.

Intermediate leader training is scheduled for Wednesday and Friday of this week at the new office address, 2002 Stubbs. Ranks and badges, patrol system, and other subjects of interest to leaders will feature the two sessions, to be held at 9:30 each day.

Thursday is the day of the "Swing" in Jackson, Miss. A good representation from the council will attend.

Single Charm Bracelet New Style Trend

The collector's wrist with a grand total of too many bangles and charmless dangles has been replaced in fashion circles by a totally fresh new version of the traditional charm bracelet, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute.

The reason is clearly due to the mass movement toward shorter sleeves on coats, suits and dresses which has put bracelets in the limelight. Suddenly bare arms have become the focal point and women are now conscious of the conspicuous lengths of chains and discs that were not only awkward but awfully noisy.

As the new trend in all jewelry fashion goes, the single dramatic jewelry accent is the key to good fashion this season, according to the Institute. And these new charms are found in an endless assortment of gold discs, beautiful stone-studded drops and a gay group of miniatures.

And for the gal who goes in for volume purely for the sake of variety, many of these charms are detachable and interchangeable.

Methodist Home Chapel Scene Of Wedding

Solemnized in the Chapel of the Methodist Children's Home in Ruston, was the October marriage of Miss Brenda Faye Howard of the home to Edward Allen Jones, son of Mrs. Thelma Baughman Jones of Farmerville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry E. Ezell, superintendent, following a program of nuptial music by Mrs. L. K. Wells, pianist, and Miss Sandra Montgomery, who sang "Because," and "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer," at conclusion of the ceremony as the couple knelt on the prie dieu.

The altar was decorated with a mass arrangement of white gladioli and pom pon chrysanthemums flanked by tall white tapers. The chancel rail, banked with English ivy held myriads of white cathedral tapers and family pews were marked with white satin bows. Candles were lighted by Miss Gloria Jean Batson.

Escorted to the altar by Billy Lewis, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over taffeta, designed with sculptured bodice forming a deep point at the waist. The scalloped Sabrina neckline was reembroidered with seed pearls and aurora borealis crystals and long sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt which formed three tiers in back, was enhanced in front by three hand-made lace roses. Her fingertip veil of illusion cascaded from a princess tiara of seed pearls and crystals and her only jewelry was a strand of cultured pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids encircled with white carnations.

Miss Faye Bruner of Ruston attended the bride as maid of honor, and Miss Thelma Bennett, Ruston and Lousiana Tech, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of pink cotton satin, styled with fitted bodices, cap sleeves and full street-length skirts. Their headdresses were bandeaux of matching material and they carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations, cascaded with satin streamers.

James Adcock of Bastrop, served as best man. Ushers were Tommy Pixton and Larry Ezell, both of Ruston.

A reception was held following the ceremony in Webb Hall where guests were registered by Miss Barbara Solomon and Miss Betty Herrick.

The bride's table was covered with white damask and centrally adorned with the bridesmaids' bouquets. The tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was placed at one end of the table with the crystal punch bowl opposite. Miss Thelma Bennett, Miss Paula Seguin, Miss Louise Lowery and Miss Betty Herrick alternated in serving.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a suit of blue wool with stand-up collar and bracelet length sleeves. A small matching blue hat and beige gloves completed her ensemble.

Theta Officer To Be Feted On Visit Here

A visit to Monroe by Mrs. David Bland of Houston, Tex., district chairman of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, on Tuesday, November 7 will be noted with two social occasions that day.

The Monroe Theta Alumnae Club will honor Mrs. Bland with luncheon at 1 p.m. at Bayou DeSiard Country club, to which all Thetas in surrounding area are invited. Reservations may be made with Mrs. A. S. Oliver, president of the Monroe club, at FA 5-5770.

A coffee is planned at 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Fred Amman, in further courtesy to Mrs. Bland, who is making a circuit tour in the southern states.

Hair Coloring Business Booms

Ever since Eve, women have managed to improve on the looks Mother Nature gave them. Now that home hair coloring is so sure and easy to use, women who want to cover gray or who dislike their original color, are changing from blonde to warm brunette or sultry redhead as quickly as they change the color of their nail polish.

The hair coloring business has boomed due to two factors. Every year there is more emphasis placed on youthful looks in the business and social worlds. The other, and even more important factor, is that home hair coloring has come a long way from the early days of the henna rinse. Today's hair colorings provide a natural look and are easy to apply.

Curtain Call

Off to Chicago last week went Lamar Mullican, our inimitable Sakini, to attend the American Speech and hearing convention. The way our friends are still talking about "Tea House' almost makes us wish we were a repertory theater so that we could repeat that witty comedy every six weeks or so.

Probably we'll feel the same way about our new play by the time it opens. Just now it is in its earliest stages, tryouts having been held Monday and Tuesday nights. Reading for parts were V. P. Dalrymple, Judy Evans, Frank Breese, Jan Evans, John Callarman, Garland Moore, Juanita Gentry, Gail Sawyer, Sandra Peters, and Bob Evans

SPECTATORS

Among the spectators we noted Frances Yeldell, Beryl and Nancy Franklin, Donnavae Hughes and her mother, Earle and June Sherman, George Patterson, Lyn Lueg, and Horace and Donna Gentry.

Names of the successful candidates have not yet been disclosed to Curtain Call, but you will be told as soon as we find out. Can you wait until next Sunday?

Patron members Ida Sophia and Jimmy Laudenheimer have just come back from New York where they enjoyed seeing "Sail Away," and "Milk and Honey," but according to our patron Irving Leibowitz, and our board member, Fred Huenefeld, who were in New York on business last week, there is still nothing on Broadway more beautiful than Camelot."

BEARING GIFTS

One nice thing about our lovely new theater is the fact that our friends have come bearing gifts as one might delight in adding adornment to any beautiful home. Louis Kusin sent rolls of carpet and a crew to install it down the aisles. So luxurious! So quiet!

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Slakter gave us a desk and chairs, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Angelini presented the lobby furniture.

The Book Club, dean of all Monroe clubs by date of founding, sent us a gift of cash to be used where we need it most.

Purpose Of 'Dolce Vita' Pointed Out

Federico Fellini, the director and co-author of the controversial film spectacle, "La Dolce Vita", which will be seen in Monroe at the Paramount Theatre, explains that his purpose in making the picture was to neither criticize nor denounce, but to "put a thermometer to a sick world that evidently has a fever."

The film, however, although it deals with a sick society, opens and closes on a note of symbolic hope.

Many people have failed to understand or appreciate either the significance or message of "La Dolce Vita." Roberto Rosellini, maestro and founder of Italian neo-realistic films, and Fellini's acknowledged teacher, sadly commented: "The night I saw La Dolce Vita was for me one of the most sorrowful in my life — a night when I saw my dearest pupil take a completely mistaken road."

DIFFERENT VIEW

Tennessee Williams, on the other hand, has called the picture a masterpiece, and Martin Ritt, the American movie director, agrees with him.

Churchmen, all over the world, also are divided in their opinion of "La Dolce Vita." While the Vatican has placed it on the "excluded list," other high ranking prelates disagree with the ruling. Padre Angelo Arpa, Jesuit Professor of Theology at the University of Genoa, expresses the opinion that Fellini has not only reached the pninacle of his career, but has created a cinematographic fresco like that of a Dante or Michelangelo.

COMPASSION

Fellini, himself, while not a Catholic, has a deeply religious spirit and a fervent compassion for all human suffering. Because of this and his sometimes mystical fusion of reality and fantasy, he sees and portrays life not as a drama, but as a drama-buffo, that makes you laugh and cry at the same time. "Il sole vuole la sua ombre", runs an old Italian proverb, "The sun demands its shadow. 'This, then," says Fellini, "is the essence of my film making, what you call only giving you shadow with neo-realism. Actually, I am your sun."

Ferociously attacked in earlier years by the Communist press for his sentimental realism and failure to blame society for the plight of his pitiful characters, he replied that his purpose was "to reflect mankind, not sociology or politics." Today, he is wryly amused by the fact that "La Strada" has been showing in five different movie threatres in Moscow for the past two years and has been hailed as one of the "most progressive films ever made." The current praise heaped upon him by the Communist press for "La Dolce Vita" leaves him indifferent.

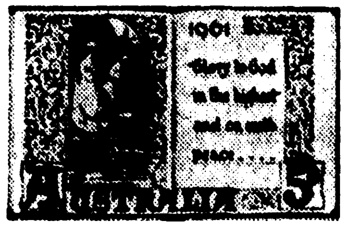
Stamp News

It may be a little early for Christmas, but Australia has just announced it will issue its annual Christmas stamp on Nov. 8 depicting a religious theme. The 5 pence brown stamp will show an open prayer book with the Nativity Scene at the left and the wording "Glory To God in the highest and on earth peace . . ." The year 1961 appears atop the phrase. The Norfolk Island Post Office will issue the same design on Nov. 20 in grey-blue color but with the same 5 pence denomination.

This new Australian stamp will also help celebrate the end of 350th anniversary of the first publication of a new English translation of the King James Bible which first appeared in 1611.

The United States Post Office Department has announced it will issue a new 8 cent regular postage stamp portraying General of the Armies John J. Pershing (1860-1948). It will be released on Nov. 17 in New York City to coincide with the opening of the 13th annual ASDA show. The new stamp will ultimately replace the 8 cent Statue of Liberty design which now appears also on the 3 cent and 11 cent regular denominations.



The new Pershing stamp will be a departure from the normal presentation of portrait stamps in the regular postage series of 1954-61. Pershing's portrait will be towards the right, facing left, and will show the general in full uniform. Only four stars will be on his shoulder. Although permitted to wear five, he never wore more than four.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 8 cent Pershing stamp may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, New York 1, N. Y. Each envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers 8 c Pershing Stamp."

Sweden has issued four new stamps in its regular postage line. The 10 kronor depicts an old rune-stone of Oland as taken from an 11th Century drawing. The 25, 35 and 40 ore stamps are a continuation in the series featuring a portrait of the King. This series started in March of this year.

AT 52

Actress' Home Is Near Stage

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—For Ethel Merman, there's no business like show business — and she's proving it by starting to live out of a trunk all over again at the age of 52.

She is making her first national tour—a nine-month swing—in her Broadway hit, "Gypsy," and she literally has no home except the theaters she plays.

She could be living in easy-going luxury—anywhere she wants—but she has chosen the grind of strange hotel rooms, packing and unpacking, and separation from friends and family.

It's just the start too. After the tour ends in December, she goes to London for another nine months in "Gypsy."

EXPAINS TOUR

Why the tour after all her years in show business? Miss Merman, who is as retiring and ladylike offstage as she is brassy on, sat in her hotel room in aquamarine lounging pajamas and said:

"I no longer have any ties. My children are grown up. I'm not married any more. I'm free as the wind. And this is my greatest part. It's not just a musical, but a drama too—the only vehicle that lets me show what talents I have—to make people laugh and cry.

"My son's 16 now and in school in New York. My daughter's 19, married—and lives in my apartment in Colorado Springs, which I don't use any more. Home has become where the stage is.

"But even though I've had great shows in the past, I've never wanted to go on tour with them. This is different. This is it!"

It has proved to be "it" in Hollywood and Los Angeles, where show business celebrities nightly jam the Biltmore Theatre to roar approval of Miss Merman, making her first stage appearance here.

BIG RECEPTION

The opening night audience included such celebrities as Lucille Ball and Oscar Levant, and shouts of "bravo" welcomed Miss Merman when she made her initial entrance. At a post-midnight party at Romanoff's, the biggest names in town stood and applauded her when she walked in. Almost immediately, the show's run was extended two weeks here.

"Even my mother and father flew to L.A. for the opening," said the singer. "I just love this part so much I wanted to show it to the whole country. We've been in Rochester, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Toronto, Chicago, San Francisco and L.A. and next is St. Louis."

Was she nervous making her first appearance before a Hollywood crowd? Miss Merman, who has starred in such shows as "Call me Madam," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Girl Crazy" and "Anything Goes," said

"Not a bit. I never have butterflies—not even before an opening. It's my reputation. How come? Well, I know what I'm doing. I'm sure of myself. It's why I'm on the road.

"But I'll never tour again. I've done it, and that's that. After London, I may confine myself to TV even though it's tough work."

EVERYBODY'S IN THE ACT

"You'll get good writing when and if you turn the writer loose and let him alone," he said.

'Second Time Around,' Now At Paramount

The rip-roaring West of 1911 is a milieu new to the talents of Debbie Reynolds, but she comes off with umbrella-swinging honors in "Second Time Around," a 20th Century-Fox outdoor comedy that takes Debbie, as a young widow, from the formal world of New York to the gambling-and-gunsmoke territory of early Arizona and puts her through a rancher-to-sheriff career with all the trimmings. The CinemaScope-Deluxe Color comedy-romance co-starring Andy Griffith, Juliet Prowse, Thelma Ritter and Ken Scott, opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

TYPICAL TOWN

BEFRIENDING

Befriending Debbie in a series of adventures through which she learns to slug her way with the best of them, is neighboring rancher Pat Collins (Andy Griffith) who does his blundering bit to win the energetic widow's affections, but loses to a better man.

The action is smouldering, comedy-loaded and full of old-time blood-and-thunder, with Debbie ending up as lady sheriff of a reformed community and a winner-take-all in local popularity.

'Spartacus' Now Showing At Jim

"Sparticus," the epic film which captured four Academy Awards, is now showing at the Jim Theatre.

The production depicts the momentous episode in history when a rebel army of slaves led by the heroic gladiator Spartacus fought for freedom from imperial Rome and nearly destroyed that tyrannical power.

WORLD PREMIERE

"Spartacus" had its world premiere on Broadway last fall and is still running there. Headed by a notable cast of seven major boxoffice names — Kirk Douglas, Laurence Olivier, Jean Simmons, Tony Curtis, Charles Laughton, Peter Ustinov and John Gavin—the motion picture, made by Byrna Productions for Universal-International release, is one of the costliest ever put on the screen.

It was directed by Stanley Kubrick, generally recognized as the most important directorial talent to appear in Hollywood in recent years, and was scored by Alex North, six-time Academy Award nominee for motion picture music.

SUPPORTING CAST

A key supporting cast of such players as Woody Strode, Nina Foch, Joanna Barnes, John Dall, Charles McGraw and John Ireland, also appears in the film along with many thousands of extras who perform in the massive and exciting scenes of rebellion against the power of pagan Rome.

Based on a novel which sold 3,000,000 copies in 45 languages, "Spartacus" has been widely acclaimed by critics.

Should Children Learn About God—In School?

Some people will emphatically say "no." They will contend that the purpose of education is to train the mind . . . to make good citizens . . . to equip children to use their talents for useful living.

And some of them will argue that it is un-American, undemocratic, and unnecessary for Catholics to maintain their own schools. The public schools, they say, are all we need.

But are they right? It's a good question for parents — both Catholic and non-Catholic — to think about.

Religion, as Catholics see it, is not a subject to be set apart from other fields of learning. On the contrary, it is the very core and center and hub of all human knowledge. It is the governing factor in our understanding and appreciation of all other learning. It relates all of the knowledge we acquire to the divine purposes for which we were created.

Children cannot, of course, get this kind of education in public schools. There is a law against it, and a ruling of the Supreme Court has been interpreted by many states as prohibiting public schools from even excusing children for outside classes in religious instruction.

It is for these reasons that your Catholic friends and neighbors willingly pay their share of the cost of maintaining the public schools . . . and yet build Catholic schools for their own children. It is not due to clannishness on the part of Catholics, to any dissatisfaction with the academic efficiency of the publ schools, nor to any doubt abo the high standards of morali among the great majority of pu lic school educators.

It takes years of school life f a child to learn the principles democracy and social responsit ity. Can we expect children gain a real knowledge of religi in a once-a-week Sunday schoo Or in a week-day school whe instruction in religion is prohil ed?

A highly interesting pamph explaining in detail what goes in a Catholic school, how Cath schools benefit the nation, w Catholics have their own scho . . . why parents, Catholic a non-Catholic, must conce themselves seriously about education of their children success in life, and for the sal tion of their immortal souls, v be sent you free, on your quest. It will come in a pl wrapper — and nobody will on you. For your free copy, w today. Ask for Pamphlet No. 31.

Crape Myrtle Tips Provided

By MILDRED SWIFT

Here's a communication from Miss Beatrice Carroll, 707 Stella Street, Winnsboro, in regard to crape myrtle seed.

"I just read your column in Monroe Morning World. I, too, am interested in planting crape myrtle seed. Here are the instructions that were sent to me. Wait until frost falls, pulverize the ground, make a very shallow trench, cover seed lightly. Put a plank over them until February. Remove plank and watch for plants. Sow seed thick as only about one out of twelve come up."

"My sister has a blooming plant she grew from seed."

Send me your experiences in gardening. I've always learned more from people than from books.

GARDENING

If you'll watch your flowering quince, you can see when the buds begin to form. If left on the shrub, in the open, these will not open until January or later. But, if you'll cut branches that have small buds, you can put these in water and force them. The warmth of the house helps them to open. I do think quince is lovely cut. It's so stiff and straight and has a grace all its own.

Soon bulb foliage will be coming up. This is the time to fertilize with a complete food such as 8-8-8.

In some gardens sweet alyssum is a carpet of color. You can plant these seed now, or any month of the year.

A gardener once told me she was quite successful drying blooms of the paper plant by hanging them upside down. If you're one of the lucky ones who grew paper plants, and they bloomed, you can try this. The blossoms look like crochet after they dry.

If you have a wisteria vine that doesn't bloom, don't discard it until you've tried root pruning. Sharpen the spade and cut down into the soil, four feet out from the trunk of the vine. Make a complete circle around the trunk, cutting as deep as the spade will plunge. If this doesn't produce blooming, then next summer just dig it up and discard. After all a new plant costs so little and grows so fast.

First, lets review. These are jobs that could have been done in October, but can still be done this month: Cut back perennials which have finished blooming and divide and reset. Plant seed of spring blooming annuals, list follows later.

Make a compost heap. Prune clematis now that it has stopped blooming. Cut out weak and diseased wood from shrubs and trees. Root prune privet hedge or other large shrubs that need it.

Plant winter rye grass, being careful not to get the seed in flower beds. Also, don't plant seed until two weeks after putting out fertilizer on the lawn.

SEED TO PLANT

These seed may be planted now, after soil is well worked and pulverized: sweet alyssum, arctoctis, calendula, coreopsis, calliopsis, cornflower, lobelia, Chinese forget-me-not, African golden daisy, four o'clock, verbena, larkspur, petunia, phlox, pinks, poppy, salvia (blue) gaillardia, gypsophila, scabiosa, early sweet peas and Queen Anne's lace.

OTHERS

Bedding plants and bulbs you can buy and plant in permanent beds are: calla, calendula, forget-me-not, hollyhock, pansy, phlox drummond, phlox perennial, pinks, salvia (blue), snapdragon, stock, Dutch Iris, daffodils, jonquils, narcissus, madonna lily, regal lily, amaryllis, hyacinth, calla, speciosum lily, montbretia, [illegible] watsonia, snowflake.

AMARYLLIS

Amaryllis may be planted now and on into spring. This bulb likes neutral soil. A raised bed gives good drainage and some sand worked in the soil will aid in drainage. As you know, this bulb rots easily, so every precaution must be taken to see that water does not stand in the bed. Work bone meal in the bed and plant amaryllis bulb with its nose out of the ground. If you plant deep you encourage bulb rot.

Amaryllis will thrive in some shade or full sun. The blossoms fade less if there is some shade. When planting amaryllis in pots, soak the empty pots from 12 to 24 hours in water to thoroughly saturate them. Regular feeding every two weeks, with a balanced fertilizer dissolved in water, helps the potted bulbs. If you plant now, begin this feeding in January. Amaryllis multiply, so a handful of bulbs can afford a lot of garden pleasure.

GLYCERINIZING

So many have said treating plant material with glycerine is so expensive. I've just found from several arrangers, a new method. Use prestone anti-freeze like you put in your car in the winter. [illegible] full strength and put the stems of the magnolia (or whatever you want to preserve) down in the prestone. Slit stem first or hammer it for about two inches.

Remember! This is not the time of year to preserve material by this method. The sap is beginning to do down, now. Wait until next spring and summer when the sap is rising.

Serena Lewis says you can take the leaves off the stems and immerse them in the prestone and get some lovely colors, too.

PATCHING CEMENT

Many of you have sidewalks that you want to patch and have been calling in for instructions. This is what the specialists say: A sand mix is sufficient for patching a sidewalk crack.

You can make your own mix with one part of Portland cement to two and one-half parts of fine, clean sand. Add only enough water to make a workable mixture. Or you can buy a ready-made sand mix which requires only the addition of water. It costs a little more, but saves time and labor and prevents the possibility of not getting the right proportions of cement and sand. The sidewalk crack should be undercut - made wider at the bottom than at the top. Clean out the opening. Soak the area thoroughly with clean water. Fill with the sand mix, tamping it tightly and making certain that the opening is completely filled. When the mixture begins to set, smooth it down with a wooden float or a metal trowel, a wooden float if a rough finish is desired, a metal trowel to obtain a smooth finish.

Wet down the patch at least on a day for several days. If the patch will be exposed to the sun a considerable part of the day, wait until it is fairly well set, then sprinkle sand over it. Under such conditions, the wetting down of the patch should be three or four times a day instead of once. Unless special attention is given to this part of the project, known as curing, the repair will dry out too quickly and begin to deteriorate after a few weeks.

PLAY IT SAFE

I feel sure that when you get behind the steering wheel, one thing that's on your mind is to drive carefully and observe the safety laws. Yet, accidents do happen, careful as you may be and often through no fault of her own. For her own protection, every woman who drives should have a clear idea of what to do in case of an accident, whether it's merely a slightly dented fender or something more serious. So today, I'd like to pass on some advice from Jean Kinkead, women's consultant to insurance companies, who has listed for us some helpful tips about what to do for your own protection.

First, of course, get medical help quickly if anyone is hurt, and get the name of the doctor attending, as well as the name of the hospital any injured party is taken to.

And while we're talking about important information to write down, here are other "musts" to remember: the name, address and license number of the owner of the other car. If the driver of the car is not the owner, get the same information from him. Also names and addresses of witnesses, the name, badge number and precinct location of the police officer when he arrives, and note the make model and year of the other car involved.

Write down as fully as you can the damage to both cars, the location of the accident which side of the street you were driving on, the direction you were going, the weather and road conditions, the day, date and hour the accident happened. If your lights were on and you blew your horn, make a note of that.

You should know, too, what to say, and what not to say. Never make such comments as "it's my [illegible] you may think so at the time, it may not have been your fault at all. The travelers people are sure of it, for they say that, unfortunately, in thousands of cases every year people lose important insurance benefits because they neglect to report the vital information to their agent at the time of the accident.

Plan, Plant For Spring

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

The season for fall planting of hardy annuals ends about the middle of this month so if you do not get them planted next week, I suggest you wait now until February.

If you are planning for roses in your landscape, it would be well to order them from your nurseryman now so that he will be sure to have them ready for planting in February. Prepare your rose beds now. Good drainage is a must. The bed must have good surface and internal drainage. Select a site that is exposed to full sun. Be sure to select varieties that grow well under Louisiana conditions. If you want a rose bulletin, call our office, FA 3-2251, and ask for a bulletin, "Roses for the Yard," to be mailed to you.

If you want to add camellia sasanquas to your landscape this is an excellent time to make your selection while the plants are in bloom. I feel sure you will find just the right one here in one of our nurseries. Some of the varieties grow tall, some are slender in growth, others shorter and some low and spreading.

LOOK AHEAD

Fall is the season to plan and plant bulbs for spring color. Spring flowering bulbs bring color to your garden when few other plants are in bloom. Bulbs grow best when they get long hours of direct sunshine, so remember this when you select that spot for the bulbs. Remember, too, they like well drained sandy soil and plenty of moisture. Good drainage is essential since the fleshy bulbs rot very readily in water logged soils.

Depth of planting varies with the type of bulb selected and the soil texture. In medium loamy soil, plant crocuses, snowdrop, scilla, grape-hyacinths with the tips of the bulbs two to three inches below the surface. Set iris three inches, hyacinths four inches, tulips six to seven inches and daffodils three to six inches. Bulbs may be planted deeper on extra sandy soils than on heavier soils.

For a more dramatic effect in the landscape, group colors together. A mixing of colors gives a feeling of a lack of unity and organization. The large beds or natural grouping of spring flowering bulbs can do much to the overall beauty of a well planned landscape.

FLOORS

Slate, flagstone and brick which have been popular for a long time for patios, and terraces are now appearing in floors of entryways, halls and even some living and dining areas in homes. To make these surfaces easy to keep clean and to bring out their natural beauty, give them a finish of penetrating sealer which contains tung oil.

Slate may be found in gray, black, green or blue tones but any shade of slate may be dulled by wear or weather. To brighten it and also to help resist moisture finish it with a thin type of penetrating floor sealer with a tung oil base.

The finish is moisture resistant, forms a tough coating and helps prevent the mortar between the slate pieces from sanding off. The same finish can be used successfully for indoor flagstone or brick floors.

For a screened-in porch or outdoor patio with slate or flagstone floors use a penetrating floor sealer designed for exterior use. Scrub the sealer into the slate or flagstone with a flat scrubbing brush. Wipe in and off any surplus finish with cloths that leave no lint. This easy finish quickly changes the surface of the stone or brick from dullness to a luster. Such surfaces don't have to be waxed and you can wash them with soap or detergent and water.

COTTON POPULARITY

In an overall comparison, 2,310 American women rated cotton "tops" over four other materials in a recent USDA survey. Comparisons were made in appearance, comfort, chiefly coolness and absorbency, durability, inexpensiveness, ease of sewing or mending, versability or adaptibility. One of the reasons cotton rated so high with the homemakers is because it's so easy to launder and easy to iron.

A THOUGHT

I grumbled because I had to get up early in the morning until one morning when I couldn't get up.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Impressive Flower Show Is Presented

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Dr. John Wright, professor of horticulture at Louisiana Tech, Ruston, was back again with us last week to give another wonderful TV and Garden Center show.

Two weeks ago, you remember, he used chrysanthemums entirely for his flower arranging demonstration. He also brought some early varieties to show you that were grown in a Ruston garden. Last week Dr. Wright again brought some very beautiful mum specimens (eight varieties) that were grown in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Ranne.

Had you not been told this fact you would surely think these lovely mums came from the florist, or from some hot house.

ATTENTION

To focus all attention to these lovely mum specimens in his arrangements, Dr. Wright used one basic type container for all four designs. It was the Japanese usubata made of porcelain, in colors black, leaf green, and avacoda green. The designs were all vertical line and massed line. All eight varieties of mums were used to create these four arrangements.

In the leaf green container Dr. Wright used the deep purple pompon mum which is large in size. These were placed in a zig zag pattern to create interest. The foliage, which is very lovely, was used as a filler. Seven mums were used in this arrangement.

Dr. Wright placed three exqui[illegible] Detroit News) gold and bronze mums in a vertical design in the avacoda colored usubata. These are large mums and make quite a picture when used alone, one or more in a design. The foliage was used as a filler.

THREE VARIETIES

Dr. Wright used three varieties of mums forming a massed line [illegible] in one of the black usubatas. These mums were the white pompon used for the tallest placement in the design; the pale yellow "Ambassador," followed by one large deep yellow mum, a standard variety, "Mrs. Kidder," used low in the design for focal interest. The mum leaves were also used in this design as filler.

The last design created by Dr. Wright contained three varieties, all a similar shade of lavender. These were placed in a black usubata in a vertical massed line. The tallest placement was made by using a grouping of a medium sized pom pon. These were accented on the left by groupings of the smaller mum, "the Jewel," and a larger type of decorative mum, "the Elizabeth Hood," was grouped on the left of the design. The foliage was used here, also, throughout the design.

Thanks again, Dr. Wright for these lovely demonstrations on how to use our mums in arrangements, and, for giving us the names of these early varieties. Remember Dr. Wright and write to him for any information concerning these early mum. He'll gladly send it to you just for the asking.

Restoration Of Holy Land Shrines Goal

The Patriarch of Jerusalem, Benedict the First of the Greek Orthodox Church, is on a two-month tour of the United States seeking funds for the restoration of shrines in the Holy Land.

In a recent visit to New Orleans he was greeted by officials, church leaders, and followers of many faiths.

The Rev. Fr. Spyridon Economos of the Greek Orthodox Church here, said that Greek Consul Hellis had contributed $100,000 toward the restoration work.

Father Economos also provided information from the newspaper, The Greek Star, giving background on the patriarch.

PURPOSE

"Many of these shrines are in a sad state of disrepair, especially the Church of the Holy Sepulchure which is built over Calvary and the Tomb of our Lord, and the Church of the Navitity in Bethlehem which is built over the traditional site of our Lord's birth. Hence the visit to the United States."

On the patriarch's background, it said:

"Patriarch Benedict, whose full title is 'Patriarch of the Holy City of Jerusalem and of all Palestine, Syria, Arabia, beyond the Jordan, Cana of Galilee, and of Holy Zion,' was born Basil Papadopoulos, of Greek parents at Bursa, Turkdy in 1892.

"He concluded theological studies at the Patriarchal School of Jerusalem graduating in 1914 and taking a position as secretary at the patriarchate. He became a monk and later ordained a deacon on Mt. Calvary.

DEACON

"During the troubled times of World War One when the British were driving the Turks out of Palestine he went with the then Patriarch Damianus (1897-1931), and the Holy Synod to Damascus, following their exile and served as a deacon.

He returned with them to the Holy Land after the war in 1918, resuming his position as secretary. In 1921 he went to the University of Athens to study law at the request of the Holy Synod and completed studies in law and political science in 1925.

"He was appointed exarch of the Patriarchate of Jerusalem while in Athens and was ordained a priest and later made an archimandrite. In 1943 he was appointed a member of the Holy Synod [illegible] the archbishop of Tiberas and in 1947 became director of the church lands commission."

He was elected to the patriarchal throne in 1957 succeeding the late Patriarch Timothey (1935-1955).

Consultants Will Appear At Services

Two Christian education consultants [illegible] to Latin America will be featured in special services at the First Assembly of God Church on Cypress and Crosley streets in West Monroe.

The pastor, the Rev. Fred D. W[illegible] said George and Bellie Davis will be heard at services at [illegible] and 7 p.m. today.

MANY COUNTRIES

[illegible] Mr. Davis spent the past four years visiting several countries including Guatemala, El Salvador, Columbia, Honduras, Panama, Nicaragua, Mexico and Ecuador.

Their special work is to conduct training courses for Sunday school teachers and officers and [illegible] Sunday school convention. To reach the places where [illegible] schools and conventions are held they have used many modes of transportation including horse, [illegible], airplane, and hiking. While [illegible] America, the couple flew over the Andes into Zuito, [illegible] single engine [illegible]plane.

HOME BASE

Costa Rica served as home [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Davis. While there, they adopted a seven-year-old daughter, Gloria. Mr. Davis and Gloria will be appearing in special costume from Latin America at the evening service today.

Mrs. Davis was author of an article appearing in a national magazine entitled "I Was A Hobo Kid." She also is a lecturer. Her husband served for seven years as national Sunday school representative for the Assemblies of God and three years as a pastor before coming to Latin America.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Fall Treasure In The Yard

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

As the leaves begin to fall, some of the most charming and delicate flowers begin to bloom in southern gardens. Tiny cyclamens from Europe, bright blue and white crocuses from eastern Europe and Asia Minor, sternbergias from the same areas, pink nerines from South Africa, gladiolus-like acidantheras from Abyssinia and miniature amaryllises from Chile and Argentina, these and still others will delight you every autumn.

The little hardy, out-door cyclamens started to flower a bit late this year, not until mid-July instead of on their usual 4th of July date.

GREET THE COLD

As the end of their blooming season approaches, the ivy-like leaves are beginning to come up to greet the cold weather which they seem to like.

Like the foliage of so many small evergreen plants, they stand erect until the bitter cold weather and then lie flat on the earth until warmer weather. This summer-and-fall cyclamen is C. neopolitanum. Some of the California nurseries sell the plants in pots.

The biggest of fall crocuses is C. speciosus and comes in several named varieties mostly discovered long years ago by the Dutch bulb firm and taken into cultivation. The blossoms are much larger than those of spring crocuses — more showy and more [illegible] open in the sun. The ones sitting on my desk are an inch and a half across, with bright orange stigmas. In the saffron crocus which will not bloom for a week or so yet the stigmas [illegible]

LATE BLOOMS

The yellow crocus-like [illegible] always seem to manage to save up a few late blooms in October after their long season beginning in mid September. [illegible]

[illegible] foliage [illegible] coarse grass all winter as contrast to the big leaves of the [illegible] which are, of course, the size and shape of a spider-lily leaves. The foliage of these two plants makes a fine ground cover from fall until spring when both begin to vanish.

Even one [illegible] of bright pink [illegible] bowdeni attract the eye [illegible]. It looks like a spider-lily turned pink. As we have mentioned in the column before, these flowers last a month — much longer than the acidanthe[illegible] which fill the garden at night [illegible] strange odor. Acidantheras look much like gladiola [illegible] for their long-tubed flowers. They are white with chocolate markings which may help night flying insects to locate their nectar.

Somehow, miniature amaryllises, whose season is really in late August and early September, always send up a few of their red or pink flowers in October, too. The pink ones are expensive, but, if you buy them by the hundred, you may get some pink ones in the lot. After you have a few, you can grow more from seeds planted in a pot in the house in winter. Sow them as soon as they are ripe because they are extremely perishable.

Garment Industry Ignores Fall; Displays Resort, Spring Apparel

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's fall in the rest of the nation, but on Seventh Avenue, heart of New York's garment district, it has been apple blossom time for three weeks.

Manufacturers in the billion dollar women's apparel industry have been displaying resort and spring collections and here is how we women will look head to toe for the Easter Parade.

Head: Hats range from big brimmed jobs with the brim swept back from the face, Breton fashion, to turbans to tiny jobs not much larger than a teacup. These small ones sit far back on the head like the pillbox of last spring.

Hair styles as worn by models remain short, usually cut in layers all over the head. Most coiffures feature wisps bangs across the forehead with the hair teased into a stack through the crown and the back capped flat to the head.

Scarves Replace Collars

Necklines: Suits, coats and dresses more often are collarless than collared. Shoulders remain rounded. Scarves in place of collars are a new love of the leading designers. These are long thin rectangles looped once around the throat, or triangles tied at the front like a cowboy's bandana.

Sleeves: Missing altogether in numerous dresses and tiny, back-boxed jackets which cover them. In coats and suits sleeves usually reach no further than two inches below the elbow.

Bustline: Often accented because of the way designers have raised the waistline with seaming, tucks, insets of fabric or high-riding narrow belts.

—Waistline: Wandering all over the place, but showing a definite trend in many collections to going up underneath the bosom. Other designers accent the normal waistline with wide belts. And the long waisted overblouse made famous by Mrs. John F. Kennedy still is around.

Skirts Hang Slim

Skirts: Mostly hanging slim even when there are soft gathers or flat-pressed pleats from the waistband. Flared effects in some collections. Subdued flounces showing up for daytime in some collections; flamenco dancer flounces abound in cocktail and evening dresses. The slim, moulded formal gowns have replaced the big skirted ball gowns of other season. Often the slimness is softened with panels of fabric floating from the shoulder or waist.

The Twist dress: Almost every designer has named at least one of his cocktail dresses for the new dance rage in which the feet stay pretty much in one position and the body undulates. Typical is one from the Teal Traina firm — bugle-beaded from shoulder to hemline, and cut along the slim, no waist lines of dresses once worn for doing the shimmy or Charleston.

—Legs: What ever happened to stockings colored to match the costume? The trend is dead in garment industry showrooms.

—Feet: Low, bulky heels for day, with the toe section still long and slender, although not as needle pointed as in earlier seasons.

Moisturizers Help Stave Off Wrinkles

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — The new moisturizing creams may help stave off wrinkles, in the opinion of the American Medical Association's Dr. Veronica Lucey Conley.

Dr. Conley, longtime secretary of the AMA's committee on cosmetics, said the moisturizing creams were developed as a result of the findings of Dr. I. H. Blank, at the Harvard Medical School.

Blank, who immersed dried flecks of skin in oil and water, found that only water restored the dried skin's flexibility. He concluded that it is the moisture, not the oil, in the skin that keeps it from drying and probably wrinkling prematurely.

Dr. Conley said the exact relationship between skin dryness and wrinkles was still unproven, but said: "It is widely believed that dry skin either wrinkles earlier or shows wrinkles more."

Dr. Conley described moisturizing creams, now made by several cosmetic firms, as protective agents, formulated to hold in the skin's natural moisture. She said there was little evidence that a cream could do any more.

"Certainly, there is no medically - accepted evidence that hormone creams and other expensive preparations of this kind enable the skin to hold extra moisture and appear younger," she said.

But while most creams do no more than temporarily lubricate the skin, smooth it and prevent chapping, they should be used regularly for these very ends, Dr. Conley advised.

She urged the use of a light cream, even under makeup, to counteract the drying effects of the sun and suggested that many women could retain a more youthful skin by keeping out of the sun altogether.

Dr. Conley said soap could also be drying to the skin and cautioned that women with dry skin should not wash their faces with soap more than once a day, and that preferably just before retiring.

—Pat rather than rub the skin dry.

Candle Trick

Instead of putting birthday candles into the icing of the cake, place small marshmallows on the top and around the outside of the cake on the plate and use them for candleholders. If the wax drips, that candy can be discarded.

What is an

ELLIPSOID?

An ellipsoid is a solid of which every plane section is an ellipse or a circle.

The application of solid geometry to mechanical engineering is a part of a mechanical engineer's training. Unfortunately many potential engineers may never be able to go to college despite our country's need for highly trained men. Already many of our colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

BEHIND BARS AGAIN

Freedom Is Brief For Sioux Artist

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — Another cell-wall portrait of Christ brought brief freedom to Indian artist Jack Rencountre, but he was behind bars again Saturday working with his crude enamels and cardboard palette.

Rencountre, a lean, 26-year-old Sioux, was arrested Friday for disturbing the peace. The judge offered him his freedom for a second mural of "Christ in the Garden" or 10 days in the workhouse.

Seven years ago, Rencountre, who has had no formal art training, was given the same choice. He elected to do the painting, won freedom, wide attention, and an offer of an art scholarship from an affluent New York woman.

Rencountre's picture of Christ, highlighted in green and blue tints, is a four-foot square work of the night in Gethsemane before the crucifixion. He [illegible] hardware store enamel and a piece of cardboard for a palette.

After the first picture, Rencountre took to the road to seek work as a now-and-then ranch hand. Now, the old city jail, condemned, faces demolition and with it will go Rencountre's jail wall Christ.

Tuesday he completed his second Gethsemane scene, again perched on a ladder in the new city jail. It earned his freedom, but a public intoxication charge brought him back.

Now, there will be no deals. Rencountre is serving 10 days, and Police Chief Morris Michaelson has given him his choice of painting traffic markers or applying his skill to a wall in the women's cell.

"He likes to paint," says Michaelson with a hint of exasperation. "But he doesn't seem to want to do anything with his talent."

One of seven brothers, Rencountre was born on the Crow Creek Indian Reservation, about 60 miles south of Pierre.

Why doesn't he paint steadily, develop his talent and try to make a living at it? "I couldn't make money doing it," he says. "If people want pictures it's too easy for them to buy them at the dime store."

Texas Blue Law Starts In Few Days

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas discount houses have one more Sunday of grace before they [illegible] into a new blue law [illegible] by their bitter enemies, the department stores.

Effective next weekend, stores may not sell anything on a list of 42 items [illegible] of discount houses.

Some supporters of the bill in the last legislature said the law is aimed at discount houses which some contend are largely owned by out-of-state interests.

Said Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, "It isn't fair for those Northerners to come down here and take business away from old established businesses."

As a bow to religious groups which observe Saturday as the sabbath, the law permits stores to sell the items on either Saturday or Sunday but not both.

For drugstores, supermarkets and other stores which normally are open seven days a week, the law poses some problems.

They can sell film but not cameras. They can sell lipstick but not mirrors. A comic book sale is legal but not that of a toy. A person can sell his own car but a dealer cannot sell a vehicle.

Discount houses checked appear undecided on whether to close one day a week or remain open and sell those articles not under ban.

Some of the articles involved are clothing, home appliances, stoves, refrigerators, air conditioners, radios and TV sets, washing machines, jewelry, watches, cars, hardware, household linens, floor coverings, lawn mowers, furniture and luggage.

Penalty for first violation is $100 with penalties up to $500 and [illegible] months in jail for subsequent violations.

Philippines Campaign In Final Stages

MANILA (AP) — The main [illegible] for each of the two remaining candidates in the Philippines fifth general election is to convince voters that only he represents the tradition of Ramon Magsaysay, probably the most popular leader in the country's history.

It's a formidable challenge for this year's aspirants, now in the home stretch of a campaign that ends on election day Nov. 14.

Carlos P. Garcia, who became president when Magsaysay died in 1957 and was narrowly re-elected later that same year, has a personality completely different from the Filipino idol.

Garcia's opponent, Diosdado Macapagal, belongs to the party Magsaysay deserted and then drove out of office.

Until Saturday, there had been a third man in the race, independent Rogelio de la Rosa, who won fame not as public servant but as a movie star.

De la Rosa, whose name has been good box office here for years, turned to politics four years ago and was elected to the Senate.

But De la Rosa [illegible] pulled out of the race and threw his support to Macapagal. De la Rosa grew up in the same town as Macapagal, and the screen star's sister was Macapagal's first wife. He announced he is backing Macapagal to insure the defeat of "the corrupt and inept Garcia regime."

New Electric Service Feeder Slated

An additional electric service feeder, approximately a mile in length, is to be constructed soon by Louisiana Power and Light Company into the West Monroe business district.

F. C. McConnell, district manager for LP&L in West Monroe, explained that the new feeder will be the second 13,800-bolt electric power line into West Monroe's business district. Purpose of constructing the new facility, he said, is to provide for commercial extension along Cypress Street, and also to provide a second source of power for the business district.

When this new feeder is constructed, McConnell said, "our company will be able to provide [illegible] electric power for the [illegible] along Cypress Street [illegible] downtown business [illegible] through either of these lines."

McConnell said [illegible] will be [illegible] from the West Monroe electric distribution center on Seventh Street and [illegible] along Cypress Street to [illegible] business district.

McConnell said construction of [illegible] is expected to begin [illegible] November and be completed before the end of the year.

"Any doubt on the part of the Soviet [illegible] attempt to [illegible] an all-out offensive [illegible] tactical nuclear [illegible] calculation on their part."

The tone of British [illegible] three times in 24 hours drew a quick reply from Moscow. Yuri Zhukov, a commentator on Moscow radio, called the speeches provocative and irresponsible and said they "show conclusively that Britain's present foreign policy [illegible] one of preparation for another [illegible]."

The Soviet Union, he said, "is not afraid of threats, but [illegible] it would be better to abandon [illegible] policy of force and nuclear [illegible]."

Watkinson, addressing a Conservative party meeting, replied to opposition laborites who have charged that British forces in Germany are undermanned and poorly equipped.

"Let me dispel any [illegible] that the arms and equipment of our forces in Germany are in short supply or obsolescent," [illegible] declared.

Speaking in Leeds, Harold Wilson, chairman of the opposition Labor party, said defenses are in a worse shape than at any time since the days of Ethelred the Unready.

Ethelred was Saxon king of Britain from 866 to 871 when the Vikings were raiding Britain's [illegible].

Two Burglaries Being Probed By Monroe Officers

The Wash-O-Matic at 2-23 DeSiard St. was found burglarized at 3:15 a.m. as a Monroe police officer was making his rounds. His investigation revealed that a soft drink machine had been pried open and the money box taken.

Jack Fanes reported that the Monroe Brick and Building Company at 2000 Grammont St. was burglarized sometime during the night. Fanes said someone broke into the building through the back door and took a payroll check worth $53.62 from the office.

Police later discovered that a [illegible] Negro tried to cash the check at a local grocery store on DeSiard Street yesterday. They [illegible].

Chief, Officer Chase Negro As Burglary Suspect

After a half-mile foot race down a drainage canal, Monroe Police Chif James C. Kelly Jr., along with another officer outran and caught a Negro and later charged him with simple burglary.

Kelly said that he and another officer gave chase to Negro Willie Spears, 21 of 1106 Louise Ann St., Monroe, around 1:40 a.m. Saturday, caught him and booked him with simple burglary of a service station.

Reports indicated that the young Negro was seen by Kelly and his companion dashing from the door of the Save More Service Station at 2940 Renwick St., Monroe. The two officers chased him down a drainage canal in the vicinity of Rogers street for approximately one-half mile before catching him.

He was charged with simple burglary and placed in the Ouachita Parish jail. When caught, the Negro's pockets were full of articles apparently taken in the burglary of the station.

French Resuming Nuclear Testing

PARIS (UPI) — France was reported Saturday to be ready to resume nuclear testing with an underground blast in the Sahara Desert scheduled this weekend.

East German Says Troops Buildup Due

BERLIN (UPI) — Adm. Waldemar Verner, deputy East German defense minister, said Saturday the East German army in coordination with the Soviets has begun a "new phase of development" to strengthen it and prepare for modern war.

East German Communist boss Walter Ulbricht returned Friday from the Moscow meeting with a demand for conclusion of a German peace treaty, the end of Western rights in Berlin and control of Western routes to the city.

Two more small U. S. Army jeep and truck convoys carrying replacements for the U. S. Army's Berlin garrison arrived in West Berlin Saturday after a drive without incident on the 110-mile highway from West Germany.

At the Friedrichstrasse crossing point on the East-West Berlin border, East German Communist guards passed without controls two British military sedans carrying men in uniform and a civilian in each.

YOU SURE LIKE YOUR GOLF, MR. PARDY, SIR.
THERE'S ONLY THREE OF YOU MEMBERS THAT PLAY IN THIS THIRTY-DEGREE WEATHER.
THIS IS THE BEST TIME OF THE YEAR, SON.
MR. PARDY, THE FROZEN GROUND MAKES THAT 6TH GREEN APPROACH PRETTY TRICKY. BETTER USE YOUR FIVE IRON INSTEAD OF THAT WOOD.
MY DEAR BOY, SHALL WE LEAVE THE GOLFING TO MR. PARDY AND THE CADDYING TO YOU—SWEET LITTLE YOU?

TO: General Amos T. Halftrack
Headquarters, Camp Swampy
SUBJECT: Application for typing job.
Dear Sir:
I understand you are looking for a quality typist to work in your tent during maneuvers.
I would like to apply for the job since I am a quality typist. I feel my talents are being wasted as a mere foot-slogging rifleman.
As you can see, my work is neat and free from errors and erasures. I pride myself on my unblemished precision.
